RUSSIANS STAGE FULL-POWERED COUNTER-ATTACKS

12,000 Nazis To Fight Yugoslav Revolt

DEFENSE COSTS MONTHLY TO BE $2,000,000,000

Total Of $18,000,000,000 In Present Fiscal Year Predicted

18 PER CENT OF NATIONAL INCOME WILL BE REQUIRED

Record-Breaking Mark Larger Than For Peak Year Of World War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Estimating that defense spending would reach a rate of $2,000,000,000 a month in the spring, Budget Director Harold D Smith predicted today that defense expenditures out of the treasury will total $18,000,000,000 this fiscal year or $135 for every person in the country.

"In the near future," he said, "defense costs will take 18 per cent of the national income."

This estimate was $2,500,000,000 higher than a similar calculation he made a few months ago. He said the increase was due to faster defense factory construction, higher prices on some items, and new appropriations.

The record-breaking figure—larger than defense costs in the peak year of the World war—did not include about $1,000,000,000 to be spent by the British and $1,500,000,000 to be disbursed by federal lending agencies for defense work and materials in the same year. The fiscal year will end June 30, 1942.

Taking all budgetary items, Smith estimated the treasury would spend $24,581,000,000, take in $11,583,000,000. These totals compare with last year's expenditures of $12,710,000,000, receipts of $7,607,000,000, and deficit of $5,102,000,000.

The budget director calculated that about $2,000,000,000 of the expected revenue would come from the new tax bill, and the remainder from old tax laws. The new tax measure was designed to raise $3,500,000,000 a year, but was expected to fall short of this mark in the first year because the usual lag in income tax collections.

Smith released a new compilation of the defense program to date, showing that appropriations, contract authorizations and programmed projects total $60,154,563,429. This includes the $6,255,000,000 spent last year and the $18,000,000,000 to be disbursed this year, and also $5,985,000,000 for the pending second lend-lease appropriation.

Noting that actual cash treasury expenditures for defense reached $1,319,954,559 last month, Smith said the pace should reach $1,500,000,000 a month by New Year's and $2,000,000,000 by next June, or perhaps earlier.

POLL TAKEN ON NEUTRALITY LAW

Indicates Modification Would Be Approved But Strongly Fought

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—A poll indicated today that the senate would approve some modification of the neutrality law but that any proposed change would meet substantial opposition.

At the same time a large group of senators was uncommitted, having adopted a wait-and-see attitude pending President Roosevelt's forthcoming recommendations to congress.

Mr. Roosevelt will confer with congressional leaders of both parties regarding neutrality amendments next Tuesday. There have been indications that he would suggest only that the present law be amended to permit the arming of American merchant ships. But some congressional leaders are urging him to recommend also elimination of the existing prohibition against sending American merchantmen into belligerent ports or presently-designated combat zones.

Here is how the senate lined up on the issue:

REPORT BOMBER FOUND UNVERIFIED

PEACH SPRINGS, Ariz., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Reports that a B-18 bomber, missing since Thursday night with six aboard, had been found in this locality could not be verified late today.

H. W. Hutchinson, Santa Fe agent at this community on the Grand Canyon's rim, said he had relayed to civil aeronautics authority a report from an Indian that a plane had been flying low over the area Thursday night.

"But I have no information that it has been found," he added.

Little Gunboat Is Lone Outpost Of British Navy

SHANGHAI, Oct. 4.—(The Special News Service)—The little old gunboat Sandpiper, stuck on a mudbank 500 miles up the Yangtze river for 18 months, is carrying on with a single Britisher aboard as a lone outpost of the British navy in the embattled Changsha area.

For a week the Japanese have claimed possession of that city of 600,000, over Chinese denials.

The Sandpiper's engines won't run, she has no radio, and how her commander and his three Chinese civilian helpers are managing to eat is a mystery to naval officers here, but—she's hanging on.

The Sandpiper, a 200-ton craft built in Scotland and shipped out to China in pieces, was part of the British mosquito fleet which patrolled the Yangtze until the war in Europe started two years ago.

Then the British withdrew all their vessels, but the Sandpiper couldn't get away in time and was left behind. Her miniscule armament, consisting mainly of one four-inch gun, was dismantled, and her crew went overland the 400 miles to Hongkong and left her.

Then a 60-year-old Scotsman, J. M. Taylor, a former Standard Oil employe who became a reserve sub-lieutenant after the war started, went overland and took charge of the little boat and her doughty crew of three.

Her only means of communication is overland, and the spasmodic batches of supplies sent to her have to go over the same precarious route.

Nevertheless, she remains an official part of the British navy as long as there is a representative of the service aboard.

BANDITS CAUGHT AFTER BOASTING

Two Long-Termers And Liberated Pa. Give Up Without Fight

ELLENTON, Ga., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Two boasting fugitives who threatened to blast off pursuers with dynamite yielded without lifting a resistance finger today to gun-bristling possemen who blocked their rolling arsenal.

Although the automobile in which long termers Forrest Turner and S. J. (Slim) Scarborough liberated a convict pal yesterday was packed with four machine guns, a sack of pistols and dynamite, the only shot fired was by a state trooper during a wild chase here from nearby Norman park.

Captured with the pair were a young brunette woman claiming to be Turner's wife and Fred Stewart, the convict Scarborough and Turner delivered in a roadside gun battle with guards at Hamilton state camp.

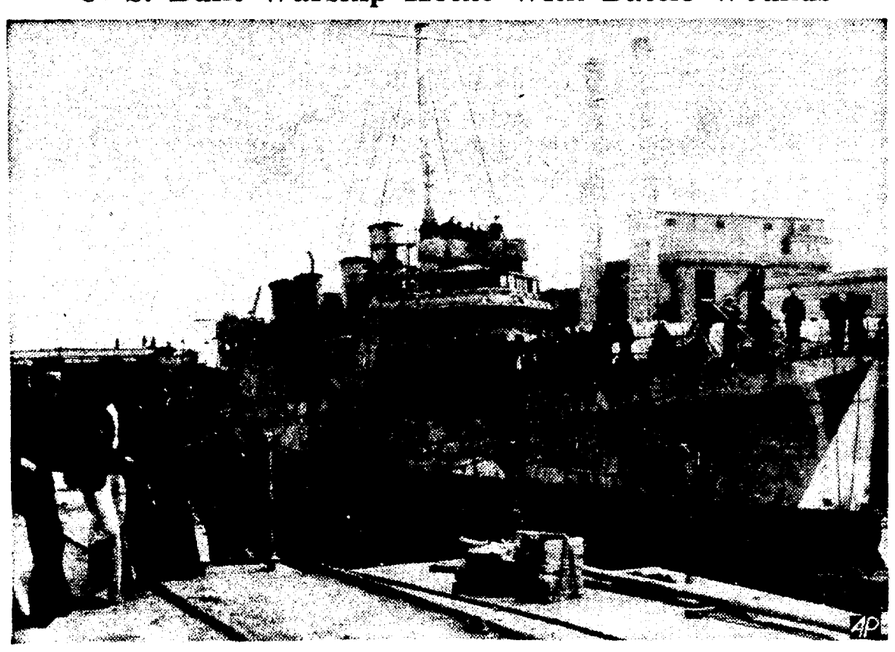

Guard Neil Hutchinson and State Highway Inspector Claude Allmon were kidnaped by the fugitives at the Hamilton battle but released unharmed last night, Turner told them "we don't intend to be captured" and showed them a case of dynamite he said they would use against pursuers.

Two cars of state and federal officers chasing the fugitives at a 75-mile-an-hour pace over crooked unpaved roads blockaded them here after Turner wheeled and sought to double back. Looking into pistol and shotgun muzzles, the convict trio and the woman meekly raised empty hands.

Besides the small arsenal, the stolen car contained six sets of out-of-state license plates and six valid drivers' licenses for Georgia and Florida. It also had been equipped with a short-wave radio on which the fugi-

UKRAINE GIVING GERMANY LITTLE

Scorched Earth Policy Likely To Make Nazi Victory Empty

By Harold Brayman

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(Special)—The German conquest of a large portion of the Ukraine is likely to prove an empty victory unless the Nazi armies are able to push on 900 and 1,000 miles further to the Baku oil fields on the Caspian sea.

The offhand assumption that after the conquest of the great granary of the Ukraine, thenceforth, ipso facto, everyone in Germany will eat well is a wholly illusory assumption.

Yet it is one which, according to reports received here, is as widely held in Germany as it is anywhere outside Russia. If those reports are accurate, and it is reasonable to assume that the German government has not discouraged anything which promotes the will of Germans to fight Russia, a profound disappointment may be in store among the Nazi followers.

The "scorched earth" policy of the Russian government has left little behind. Such crops as could not be harvested and carted away before the Nazi armies arrived were destroyed. There will be barely enough food left in the Ukraine this winter to maintain subsistence rations for the inhabitants who remain there.

But no "scorched earth" policy could prevent the growing of a big wheat crop next year to be used by the Germans during the winter of 1942-43. There are other things, however, which do.

Back in the days of the Russian five-year plans the government sought to mechanize agriculture. The Ukrainian peasants had used horses and oxen to draw their plows. The less fortunate among them, who lacked horses or oxen, had used their wives and children.

Stalin decided that the only way to increase greatly the agricultural production of the Ukraine was to mechanize its agriculture. In this effort he found much opposition, and lack of understanding by the peasants.

So, in order to convince them more quickly of the superiority of tractors, he gradually took their oxen and horses away from them for conversion into canned meat to feed a

BLIMP MAY RESCUE GEORGE HOPKINS

SUNDANCE, Wyo., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Expert mountain climbers will attempt tomorrow to bring George Hopkins off his lofty roost atop 1,280-foot Devil's Tower national monument, where he has been marooned four days. If that fails, he may be rescued by a blimp.

At Akron, O., the blimp "Reliance" was ordered to take off tomorrow for an attempt to rescue Hopkins. It was not expected to reach the rescue scene, however, until the middle of next week.

J. P. Joyner, superintendent of the monument, said he had been advised the blimp rescue attempt would not be made until Thursday.

The aviator appeared not to be worrying over the prospect of spending another night on the windy, rocky top of the fantastic rock formation.

NAZI 'PIRACY' IS RAPPED BY HULL

Secretary Calls Sinking Of U. S. Tanker 'Act Of Frightfulness'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Secretary Hull today described the sinking of the American-owned tanker, the I. C. White, as an act of "frightfulness," and called upon the United States to invoke the right of self-defense against Nazi "piracy."

The fact that the ship had been transferred to Panamanian registry, placed at the disposal of the British and was sailing under British orders was secondary, in his opinion. He made it clear that to his mind the real significance was that:

The I. C. White was torpedoed as part of the Nazi program of world conquest. That that movement necessitated the command of the seas, which America must resist in its own self defense.

Observers immediately tied his remarks in with the current agitation for revision of the neutrality law. The administration wants that act amended to remove restrictions which now forbid American ships to carry guns for their protection and keep them from sailing into belligerent ports with supplies.

FREE RELIGION, PRESS STRESSED

Three Prominent Clergymen Point Out Importance To Democracy

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Three leading clergymen—a Roman Catholic, a protestant and a Jew—stressed today the growing importance to democracy of a close relationship between America's free press and free religion, in statements issued by the Religious News service in connection with National Newspaper Week.

They were Dean Luther A. Weigle of the Yale divinity school, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America; Bishop John Mark Gannon of the Catholic Diocese of Erie, Pa., chairman of the National Catholic Welfare Conference press department; and Rabbi Edward L. Israel of Baltimore, executive director of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Rabbi Israel said the press had "come to recognize more keenly than ever that free religious institutions constitute democracy's strongest bulwark and thus the defender of that way of life in which alone it is possible for a truly free press to exist."

Dean Weigle expressed pleasure at the "increasing importance which newspaper editors in general are attaching to religious news."

"This warm reception to the news of religion," he added "is typical and is especially significant in view of the fact that freedom of worship and freedom of the press are tied together inseparably with the other freedoms in the bill of rights."

Bishop Gannon declared that the United States was drifting toward the "horrible state" of "atheistic democracy" and urged Americans to awaken to the importance of religion in a democracy, asserting that the American daily newspaper was a powerful force in turning the tide "back toward the simple ways of God our forefathers obviously ordained for us, as witnessed by the larger space being given over to religion."

TAYLOR TO REPORT QUICKLY TO F. D. R.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal emissary to the Vatican, arrived here today by Clipper and said he would promptly report to the president and Secretary of State Cordell Hull information of "utmost importance" which he obtained in conferences abroad with "many interesting people."

It was not immediately learned whether he would confer with the president in New York City where the chief executive visited today or at Hyde Park.

It was indicated by sources close to the president, however, that the meeting would probably take place at Hyde Park.

FORMER LOUISIANA WOMAN IS KILLED

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Charles Reisner, 45, of Port Arthur Tex., the former Miss Lena Lloyd of Baton Rouge, was killed last night in an automobile accident near Swords, Louisiana.

She was fatally injured and her husband and son, Lloyd, 12, hurt when the car in which they were riding left the highway and dived into a nearby canal.

Reisner and the boy were in an undetermined condition today at the St. Landry clinic in Opelousas.

Exiled King Of Norway Supports Conquered People Fighting Axis

SIGNS DECREE PROVIDING DEATH FOR STATE CRIMES

Rebellious Greeks Add To Troubles Of Occupying Authorities

(By Associated Press)

A German mechanized division of 12,000 men aided by the German air force was reliably reported moving toward Belgrade in former Yugoslavia today to combat guerilla bands taking part in a loosely-connected but widespread underground revolt against the axis rulers of the European continent raging from Norway to Greece.

Support for conquered peoples fighting axis authorities by terrorism, sabotage and guerilla warfare came from King Haakon VII, king of Norway in exile in London, who signed a decree providing the death penalty for crimes against the Norwegian state.

The Norwegian monarch's act was described as a warning to any "tools" of the Nazis who might exert themselves to help the German authorities that they will face capital punishment whenever the government which now is in exile is in position to enforce its decree. Hitherto life imprisonment has been the extreme penalty for such crimes.

The mechanized German force was reported on reliable authority in a dispatch sent through Berlin to be moving slowly through Southern Serbia toward Belgrade, capital of the dissolved state, to mop up guerilla bands which have been operating on a wide scale. The German air force already was said to have bombed Leskovac and Nishumika.

Rebellious Greeks added to the trouble of the occupying authorities. A

TWO SERIOUSLY HURT IN WRECK

Prominent Persons Of Bastrop Injured In Auto Collision Near Monroe

Two prominent persons of Bastrop were believed to be in a serious condition in a Bastrop hospital last night from injuries received in an automobile collision six miles north of Monroe on U. S. highway 165, state police reported yesterday.

The seriously injured are C. N. Dalton, insurance agent punctured lung and multiple lacerations; Mrs. A. Dumaree, wife of the superintendent of the paper mill at Bastrop, possible internal injuries, a fractured arm, and lacerations of the face. Slightly injured are Mrs. W. V. Garner, wife of a Bastrop physician, and her young daughter.

State police said Mr Dalton was driving north on the Bastrop road Friday afternoon and Mrs. Garner south on the same highway when the accident occurred. Mrs. Dumaree and Mrs. Garnier's daughter were passengers in the Garnier car, police said, adding that there were no eye-witnesses to the collision.

Both autos were considerably damaged, state police said.

CONDEMNED CZECH PREMIER BROTHER OF WOMAN IN U. S.

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Looking at a newspaper photograph from Nazi-held Czechoslovakia, Mrs. John Timer burst into tears.

"It's my brother," she sobbed. "I'm sure it's my brother."

The picture was that of General Alois Elias, premier of Bohemia-Moravia protectorate. Condemned to death for treason, he is reported to have obtained a reprieve pending appeal to Adolf Hitler.

"I did not even know he was premier," said Mrs. Timer, who before her marriage was Caroline Elias. "When I saw his name it came a general. But the premiership—that I had never dreamed of. And now this—not knowing whether he is alive or dead."

Mrs. Timer said her great-uncle, who bore the same name as the condemned brother, was executed during the revolution of 1848 in Austria for taking part in the uprising against the emperor.

was all I could do to keep from fainting. But I had to burst out crying."

The last news she heard from her native land—which was part of Austria-Hungary when she came to this country in 1913—was in a letter from a sister seven years ago. The letter did not mention her brother Alois.

"When I left home he was talking about joining the army, although only a youngster," recalled the 42-year-old Mrs. Timer. "He always wanted to be a soldier, and it doesn't surprise me to learn he be-

SCHOOL BELLS TO RING AGAIN

Fall Term To Open For City And Parish On Monday Morning

Having been delayed in opening for four weeks because of the military maneuvers in this area, the city and parish schools are to re-open for the fall term tomorrow. While the colored schools of the city system are to open Monday, the parish colored schools will not open until October 13.

While it is not known in advance how large the registrations will be, it is believed that the numbers will be similar to those of a year ago. The parish system, inclusive of both white and colored schools had a total parish-wide enrollment last year of approximately 6,000 students.

E. L. Neville, superintendent of city schools, stated Saturday that Monroe city schools will be districted as follows: Neville High school will be open to all high school students and seventh grade pupils throughout the city.

Georgia Tucker school will be open to pupils below the seventh grade residing north of Pine street. Pupils residing between Pine and Washington streets may attend either Georgia Tucker or Central Grammar school.

Central Grammar school will be open to all pupils residing between Washington street and Ouachita avenue. Pupils residing between Ouachita avenue and Morris avenue may attend either Central Grammar school or Barkdull Faulk school.

The Barkdull Faulk school will be open to pupils below the eighth grade who reside between Morris avenue and Dixie street.

Pupils below the eighth grade residing below Dixie street will attend Lida Benton school. Pupils below the seventh grade who live nearer to Sterrouse school than any other school will attend there.

NAZIS WORRIED ON BOTH FLANKS AND FROM REAR

Angry Tumult Of Conquered But Unreconciled Peoples Steadily Rises

SOVIET FORCE IS RESCUED FROM LAKE LADOGA SHORE

Britain's R. A. F. Strikes Heavy Blows From Denmark To France

(By Associated Press)

Full-powered Russian counter-attacks, for which considerable successes were claimed, kept the Germans occupied on both flanks of the long eastern battlefront yesterday while at their rear the angry tumult of conquered but unreconciled peoples rose in a threatening volume that demanded more and more of the Nazis' attention.

In the Atlantic the torpedoing of an American-owned tanker drew a vigorous denunciation from Secretary of State Hull, who called it another act of lawlessness and piracy transcending considerations that the ship flew the Panama flag and was in Britain's service.

He declared every nation has the inherent right of self-defense in meeting attacks which he described as part of an attempted conquest of the earth.

Rescue of 17 more of the American crew of the torpedoed ship I. C. White raised the number of survivors to 34 and reduced the missing to four. The freighters West Nilus and Delnorte, each with 17 of the I. C. White's company aboard, were expected to land them in Rio de Janeiro Tuesday.

The 7,052-ton ship went down in the South Atlantic off Brazil September 27, but circumstances of the torpedoing were not disclosed.

The German high command communique yesterday listed a large tanker as among "enemy" ships torpedoed in the Atlantic, but did not suggest whether this might have been the I. C. White.

Instead, German dispatches dealt almost exclusively with the war against Russia.

The Nazis acknowledged strong Russian counter-attacks both in the north and southern sectors, but said one in the Ukraine cost the Red army 300 tanks and those in the Baltic area were repulsed.

German scouts reported the Russians were massing every bit of their remaining strength for a counter-offensive in the Ukraine.

The Germans were silent on the large-scale operations which their high command said were in progress in Russia.

The Russians, however, said a large Soviet force had been rescued from the shores of Lake Ladoga and brought into Leningrad in a miniature "Dunkerque" after killing 18,000 Finns; that both Finns and Germans were smashed back in a counter-attack which recaptured a railway town on the Karelian isthmus; and that a heavy counter-blow in the south had regained 30 villages from the German and Rumanian invaders. This southern Soviet advance of 18 miles in four days cost the Nazis 17,000 casualties, the Tass news agency said.

Red Fleet, organ of the Soviet navy, said a violent battle was raging on the approaches to the Crimea, with the Soviet fleet and air force aiding the defenders.

On the central front, the Russians claimed a 12-mile advance in the past week had restored dozens of small communities to Russian hands.

An authoritative source in London also confirmed the reports of Soviet counter-attacks, and said the most important was in the Crimean area,

SCREEN SCENARIO WRITER SUCCUMBS

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Jack Cunningham, 59, veteran newspaperman and one of Hollywood's most successful screen scenario writers for the past 25 years, died today in a hospital.

His death followed long illness which started with a stroke as he worked on his last assignment, "Union Pacific," three years ago.

Cunningham wrote such movies as "The Black Pirate," "Don Q," "The Thundering Herd," "Wagon Wheels," "The Covered Wagon," "Ruggles of Red Gap" and "Mississippi."

Before coming here, he worked on newspapers in Manchester, Eng., New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Brandeis, whose liberal views won him wide renown during his 23 years on the supreme bench, suffered a serious heart attack at his home on Wednesday.

Interpreting The War News: British Army May Renew Offense Soon

By Kirke L. Simpson

(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

Implicit in utterly conflicting London and Rome accounts of recent sea-air battles in the Mediterranean is the obvious fact that heavy British reinforcements in men and fighting gear are being rushed eastward through those dangerous waters.

They may be destined to join battle with their Nazi foes, fighting beside Russian troops in defense of the Caucasus. Certainly they are designed to increase substantially the strength of British defense lines that now reach 2,000 miles or more, unbroken, from India to the Egyptian-Libyan frontier in the western desert.

Or they may be taking post for offensive action during the winter fighting season in the North African desert, providing events on the Russian-Nazi battle line warrant another British counter-stroke against Axis foes in Libya. Prime Minister Churchill's recent intimation that his government had weighed unfavorably counter-invasion proposals as a means of relieving pressure on Russia does not rule out that possibility.

Italian press comment indicates serious expectation of a new British attack in Libya. Hitler could not spare either the air power or the troops and tanks from his great adventure in Russia to prop his faltering Axis mate anew in Africa, even if means of getting German reinforcements to the scene were available.

They are not, Churchill told parliament that while British sea losses had been cut during the last three months, British destruction on Axis shipping had risen three-fold in the same period. And it was on Italian or Italian-used shipping in the Mediterranean that the Axis tonnage losses fell most heavily.

Some British authorities claim that British sea and air power in the Mediterranean has been taking a steady 30 per cent toll or better of Italian craft employed in attempts to reinforce the Axis army in Libya. The fact that the British are still using the narrow Sicilian straits to pass important convoys eastward clearly indicates British naval control of the Mediterranean. The Axis victory in Greece and taking of Crete has not worked out as Berlin and Rome hoped it would, apparently because of Hitler's plunge into the "crusade" against Russia.

At any rate, it seems clear that unless the Nazis carry the battle into the Caucasus soon and force the sending of powerful British Imperial armies there to aid the Russians, the British soon will have forces available along the India-Egypt lifeline for offensive action.

Southern Elevens Display All-Around Class In Tilts

By Herb Barker

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Alabama Georgetown and Wisconsin all suffered unexpected defeat today as the football machines of Duke, Texas, Navy, Tulane and Notre Dame gave new demonstrations of all-around class and Fordham's highly-touted Rams barely got past their first test.

Duke, clashing with Tennessee in the day's most important engagement, crushed the Volunteers, 19-0, with a great display of alert football and will be favored to whip through the rest of their schedule unbeaten. Handing Tennessee its first regular season defeat in 25 successive games, Duke took advantage of all its scoring opportunities in the first half and then settled back to hold the Vols safely in check.

Texas, looking more and more like one of the country's greatest arrays buried Louisiana State under a 34-0 count as Pete Layden and Jack Crain led the way. Navy, meeting what supposedly was to be a stern test in dark-horse West Virginia, turned on the heat in the second half, scored 32 points and crushed the Mountaineers 40-0. Following hard upon its rout of Boston college a week ago, Tulane's Green Wave, apparently certain to be a major factor in the Southeastern conference race, had no trouble with Auburn's Plainsmen and won, 32-0. Dippy Evans scored all three touchdowns for Notre Dame as the Irish stopped Bo McMillin's Indiana outfit, 19-6.

Alabama, picked by many to run 1-2-3 in the Southeastern conference, never could get going against Mississippi State's green eleven and fell, 14-0. Alabama's line was badly outplayed and that spelled the essential difference. Georgetown, which had whipped Mississippi in an upset a week ago, was in turn spilled in sensational fashion by Virginia Tech, 3-0. Roger McClure's field goal in the third quarter meant victory to Tech which had absorbed a terrific trouncing from Kentucky in its last start. Wisconsin,

DEFENSE COSTS MONTHLY TO BE $2,000,000,000

Total Of $18,000,000,000 In Present Fiscal Year Predicted

18 PER CENT OF NATIONAL INCOME WILL BE REQUIRED

Record-Breaking Mark Larger Than For Peak Year Of World War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Estimating that defense spending would reach a rate of $2,000,000,000 a month in the spring, Budget Director Harold D. Smith predicted today that defense expenditures out of the treasury will total $18,000,000,000 this fiscal year or $135 for every person in the country.

"In the near future," he said, "defense costs will take 18 per cent of the national income."

This estimate was $2,500,000,000 higher than a similar calculation he made a few months ago. He said the increase was due to faster defense factory construction, higher prices on some items, and new appropriations.

The record-breaking figure—larger than defense costs in the peak year of the World war—did not include about $1,000,000,000 to be spent by the British and $1,500,000,000 to be disbursed by federal lending agencies for defense work and materials in the same year. The fiscal year will end June 30, 1942.

Taking all budgetary items, Smith estimated the treasury would spend $24,581,000,000, take in $11,583,000,000. These totals compare with last year's expenditures of $12,710,000,000, receipts of $7,607,000,000, and deficit of $5,103,000,000.

The budget director calculated that about $2,000,000,000 of the expected revenue would come from the new tax bill, and the remainder from old tax laws. The new tax measure was designed to raise $3,500,000,000 a year, but was expected to fall short of this mark in the first year because the usual lag in income tax collections.

Smith released a new compilation of the defense program to date, showing that appropriations, contract authorizations and programmed projects total $60,154,563,429. This includes the $6,255,000,000 spent last year and the $18,000,000,000 to be disbursed this year, and also $5,985,000,000 for the pending second lend-lease appropriation.

Noting that actual cash treasury expenditures for defense reached $1,319,954,559 last month, Smith said the pace should reach $1,500,000,000 a month by New Year's and $2,000,000,000 by next June, or perhaps earlier.

Little Gunboat Is Lone Outpost Of British Navy

SHANGHAI, Oct. 4.—(The Special News Service)—The little old gunboat Sandpiper, stuck on a mudbank 500 miles up the Yangtze river for 18 months, is carrying on with a single Britisher aboard as a lone outpost of the British navy in the embattled Changsha area.

For a week the Japanese have claimed possession of that city of 600,000, over Chinese denials.

The Sandpiper's engines won't run, she has no radio, and how her commander and his three Chinese civilian helpers are managing to eat is a mystery to naval officers here, but—she's hanging on.

The Sandpiper, a 200-ton craft built in Scotland and shipped out to China in pieces, was part of the British mosquito fleet which patrolled the Yangtze until the war in Europe started two years ago.

Then the British withdrew all their vessels, but the Sandpiper couldn't get away in time and was left behind. Her miniscule armament, consisting mainly of one four-inch gun, was dismantled, and her crew went overland the 400 miles to Hongkong and left her.

Then a 60-year-old Scotsman, J. M. Taylor, a former Standard Oil employe who became a reserve sub-lieutenant after the war started, went overland and took charge of the little boat and her doughty crew of three.

Her only means of communication is overland, and the spasmodic batches of supplies sent to her have to go over the same precarious route.

Nevertheless, she remains an official part of the British navy as long as there is a representative of the service aboard.

BANDITS CAUGHT AFTER BOASTING

Two Long-Termers And Liberated Pa. Give Up Without Fight

ELLENTON, Ga., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Two boasting fugitives who threatened to blast off pursuers with dynamite yielded without lifting a resistance finger today to gun-bristling possemen who blocked their rolling arsenal.

Although the automobile in which long termers Forrest Turner and S. J. (Slim) Scarborough liberated a convict pal yesterday was packed with four machine guns, a sack of pistols and dynamite, the only shot fired was by a state trooper during a wild chase here from nearby Norman park.

Captured with the pair were a young brunette woman claiming to be Turner's wife and Fred Stewart, the convict Scarborough and Turner delivered in a roadside gun battle with guards at Hamilton state camp.

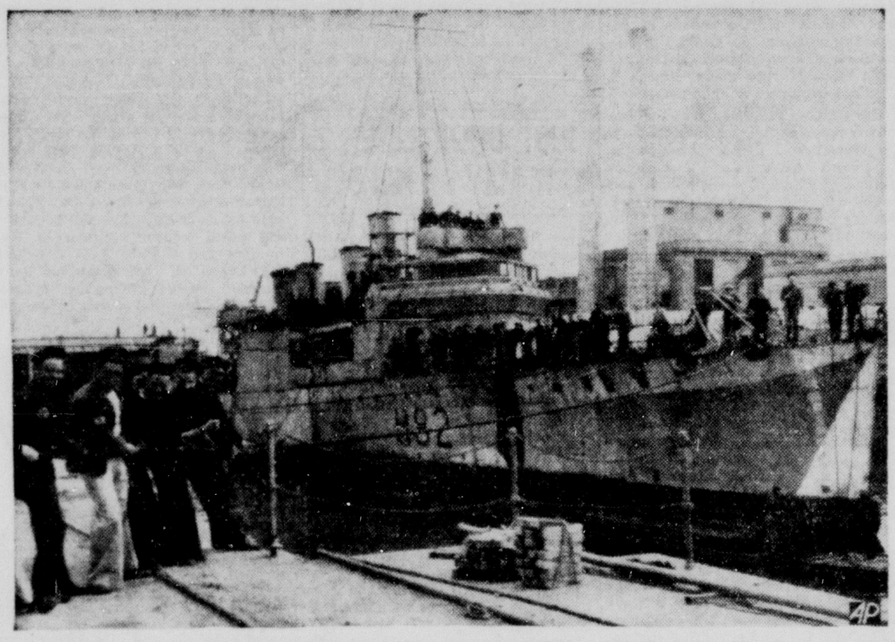

Guard Neil Hutchinson and State Highway Inspector Claude Allmon were kidnaped by the fugitives at the Hamilton battle but released unharmed last night. Turner told them "we don't intend to be captured" and showed them a case of dynamite he said they would use against pursuers.

Two cars of state and federal officers chasing the fugitives at a 75-mile-an-hour pace over crooked unpaved roads blockaded them here after Turner wheeled and sought to double back. Looking into pistol and shotgun muzzles, the convict trio and the woman meekly raised empty hands.

Besides the small arsenal, the stolen car contained six sets of out-of-state license plates and six valid drivers' licenses for Georgia and Florida. It also had been equipped with a short-wave radio on which the fugi-

UKRAINE GIVING GERMANY LITTLE

Scorched Earth Policy Likely To Make Nazi Victory Empty

By Harold Brayman

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(Special)—The German conquest of a large portion of the Ukraine is likely to prove an empty victory unless the Nazi armies are able to push on 900 and 1,000 miles further to the Baku oil fields on the Caspian sea.

The offhand assumption that after the conquest of the great granary of the Ukraine, thenceforth, ipso facto, everyone in Germany will eat well is a wholly illusory assumption.

Yet it is one which, according to reports received here, is as widely held in Germany as it is anywhere outside Russia. If those reports are accurate, and it is reasonable to assume that the German government has not discouraged anything which promotes the will of Germans to fight Russia, a profound disappointment may be in store among the Nazi followers.

The "scorched earth" policy of the Russian government has left little behind. Such crops as could not be harvested and carted away before the Nazi armies arrived were destroyed. There will be barely enough food left in the Ukraine this winter to maintain subsistence rations for the inhabitants who remain there.

But no "scorched earth" policy could prevent the growing of a big wheat crop next year to be used by the Germans during the winter of 1942-43. There are other things, however, which do.

Back in the days of the Russian five-year plans the government sought to mechanize agriculture. The Ukrainian peasants had used horses and oxen to draw their plows. The less fortunate among them, who lacked horses or oxen, had used their wives and children.

Stalin decided that the only way to increase greatly the agricultural production of the Ukraine was to mechanize its agriculture. In this effort he found much opposition, and lack of understanding by the peasants.

So, in order to convince them more quickly of the superiority of tractors, he gradually took their oxen and horses away from them for conversion into canned meat to feed a

BLIMP MAY RESCUE GEORGE HOPKINS

SUNDANCE, Wyo., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Expert mountain climbers will attempt tomorrow to bring George Hopkins off his lofty roost atop 1,280-foot Devil's tower national monument, where he has been marooned four days. If that fails, he may be rescued by a blimp.

At Akron, O., the blimp "Reliance" was ordered to take off tomorrow for an attempt to rescue Hopkins. It was not expected to reach the rescue scene, however, until the middle of next week.

J. P. Joyner, superintendent of the monument, said he had been advised the blimp rescue attempt would not be made until Thursday.

The aviator appeared not to be worrying over the prospect of spending another night on the windy, rocky top of the fantastic rock formation.

NAZI 'PIRACY' IS RAPPED BY HULL

Secretary Calls Sinking Of U. S. Tanker 'Act Of Frightfulness'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Secretary Hull today described the sinking of the American-owned tanker, the I. C. White, as an act of "frightfulness," and called upon the United States to invoke the right of self-defense against Nazi "piracy."

The fact that the ship had been transferred to Panamanian registry, placed at the disposal of the British and was sailing under British orders was secondary, in his opinion. He made it clear that to his mind the real significance was that:

The I. C. White was torpedoed as part of the Nazi program of world conquest. That that movement necessitated the command of the seas, which America must resist in its own self defense.

Observers immediately tied his remarks in with the current agitation for revision of the neutrality law. The administration wants that act amended to remove restrictions which now forbid American ships to carry guns for their protection and keep them from sailing into belligerent ports with supplies.

FREE RELIGION, PRESS STRESSED

Three Prominent Clergymen Point Out Importance To Democracy

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Three leading clergymen—a Roman Catholic, a protestant and a Jew—stressed today the growing importance to democracy of a close relationship between America's free press and free religion, in statements issued by the Religious News service in connection with National Newspaper Week.

They were Dean Luther A. Weigle of the Yale divinity school, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America; Bishop John Mark Gannon of the Catholic Diocese of Erie, Pa., chairman of the National Catholic Welfare Conference press department; and Rabbi Edward L. Israel of Baltimore, executive director of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

Rabbi Israel said the press had "come to recognize more keenly than ever that free religious institutions constitute democracy's strongest bulwark and thus the defender of that way of life in which alone it is possible for a truly free press to exist."

Dean Weigle expressed pleasure at the "increasing importance which newspaper editors in general are attaching to religious news."

"This warm reception to the news of religion," he added "is typical and is especially significant in view of the fact that freedom of worship and freedom of the press are tied together inseparably with the other freedoms in the bill of rights."

Bishop Gannon declared that the United States was drifting toward the "horrible state" of "atheistic democracy" and urged Americans to awaken to the importance of religion in a democracy, asserting that the American daily newspaper was a powerful force in turning the tide "back toward the simple ways of God our forefathers obviously ordained for us, as witnessed by the larger space being given over to religion."

TAYLOR TO REPORT QUICKLY TO F. D. R.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal emissary to the Vatican, arrived here today by Clipper and said he would promptly report to the president and Secretary of State Cordell Hull information of "utmost importance" which he obtained in conferences abroad with "many interesting people."

It was not immediately learned whether he would confer with the president in New York City where the chief executive visited today or at Hyde Park.

It was indicated by sources close to the president, however, that the meeting would probably take place at Hyde Park.

FORMER LOUISIANA WOMAN IS KILLED

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Charles Reisner, 45, of Port Arthur Tex., the former Miss Lena Lloyd of Baton Rouge, was killed last night in an automobile accident near Swords, Louisiana.

She was fatally injured and her husband and son, Lloyd, 12, hurt when the car in which they were riding left the highway and dived into a nearby canal.

Reisner and the boy were in an undetermined condition today at the St. Landry clinic in Opelousas.

Exiled King Of Norway Supports Conquered People Fighting Axis

SIGNS DECREE PROVIDING DEATH FOR STATE CRIMES

(By Associated Press)

A German mechanized division of 12,000 men aided by the German air force was reliably reported moving toward Belgrade in former Yugoslavia today to combat guerilla bands taking part in a loosely-connected but widespread underground revolt against the axis rulers of the European continent raging from Norway to Greece.

Support for conquered peoples fighting axis authorities by terrorism, sabotage and guerilla warfare came from King Haakon VII, king of Norway in exile in London, who signed a decree providing the death penalty for crimes against the Norwegian state.

The Norwegian monarch's act was described as a warning to any "tools" of the Nazis who might exert themselves to help the German authorities that they will face capital punishment whenever the government which now is in exile is in position to enforce its decree. Hitherto life imprisonment has been the extreme penalty for such crimes.

The mechanized German force was reported on reliable authority in a dispatch sent through Berlin to be moving slowly through Southern Serbia toward Belgrade, capital of the dissolved state, to mop up guerilla bands which have been operating on a wide scale. The German air force already was said to have bombed Leskovac and Nishumka.

Rebellious Greeks added to the trouble of the occupying authorities. A

Prominent Persons Of Bastrop Injured In Auto Collision Near Monroe

Two prominent persons of Bastrop were believed to be in a serious condition in a Bastrop hospital last nigh; from injuries received in an automobile collision six miles north of Monroe on U. S. highway 165, state police reported yesterday.

The seriously injured are C. N. Dalton, insurance agent punctured lung and multiple lacerations; Mrs. A. Dumaree, wife of the superintendent of the paper mill at Bastrop, possible internal injuries, a fractured arm, and lacerations of the face. Slightly injured are Mrs. W. V. Garnier, wife of a Bastrop physician, and her young daughter.

State police said Mr. Dalton was driving north on the Bastrop road Friday afternoon and Mrs. Garnier south on the same highway when the accident occurred. Mrs. Dumaree and Mrs. Garnier's daughter were passengers in the Garnier car, police said, adding that there were no eye-witnesses to the collision.

Both autos were considerably damaged, state police said.

CONDEMNED CZECH PREMIER BROTHER OF WOMAN IN U. S.

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Looking at a newspaper photograph from Nazi-held Czechoslovakia, Mrs. John Timer burst into tears.

"It's my brother," she sobbed. "I'm sure it's my brother."

The picture was that of General Alois Elias, premier of Bohemia-Moravia protectorate. Condemned to death for treason, he is reported to have obtained a reprieve pending appeal to Adolf Hitler.

"I did not even know he was premier," said Mrs. Timer, who before her marriage was Catoline Elias. "When I saw his name it came a general. But the premiership—that I had never dreamed of. And now this—not knowing whether he is alive or dead."

Mrs. Timer said her great-uncle, who bore the same name as the condemned brother, was executed during the revolution of 1848 in Austria for taking part in the uprising against the emperor.

was all I could do to keep from fainting. But I had to burst out crying."

The last news she heard from her native land—which was part of Austria-Hungary when she came to this country in 1913—was in a letter from a sister seven years ago. The letter did not mention her brother Alois.

"When I left home he was talking about joining the army, although only a youngster," recalled the 42-year-old Mrs. Timer. "He always wanted to be a soldier, and it doesn't surprise me to learn he be-

SCHOOL BELLS TO RING AGAIN

Fall Term To Open For City And Parish On Monday Morning

Having been delayed in opening for four weeks because of the military maneuvers in this area, the city and parish schools are to re-open for the fall term tomorrow. While the colored schools of the city system are to open Monday, the parish colored schools will not open until October 13.

While it is not known in advance how large the registrations will be, it is believed that the numbers will be similar to those of a year ago. The parish system, inclusive of both white and colored schools had a total parish-wide enrollment last year of approximately 6,000 students.

E. L. Neville, superintendent of city schools, stated Saturday that Monroe city schools will be districted as follows: Neville High school will be open to all high school students and seventh grade pupils throughout the city.

Georgia Tucker school will be open to pupils below the seventh grade residing north of Pine street. Pupils residing between Pine and Washington streets may attend either Georgia Tucker or Central Grammar school.

Central Grammar school will be open to all pupils residing between Washington street and Ouachita avenue. Pupils residing between Ouachita avenue and Morris avenue may attend either Central Grammar school or Barkdull Faulk school.

The Barkdull Faulk school will be open to pupils below the eighth grade who reside between Morris avenue and Dixie street.

Pupils below the eighth grade residing below Dixie street will attend Lida Benton school. Pupils below the seventh grade who live nearer to Sherrouse school than any other school will attend there.

NAZIS WORRIED ON BOTH FLANKS AND FROM REAR

SOVIET FORCE IS RESCUED FROM LAKE LADOGA SHORE

Britain's R. A. F. Strikes Heavy Blows From Denmark To France

(By Associated Press)

Full-powered Russian counter-attacks, for which considerable successes were claimed, kept the Germans occupied on both flanks of the long eastern battlefront yesterday while at their rear the angry tumult of conquered but unreconciled peoples rose in a threatening volume that demanded more and more of the Nazis' attention.

In the Atlantic the torpedoing of an American-owned tanker drew a vigorous denunciation from Secretary of State Hull, who called it another act of lawlessness and piracy transcending considerations that the ship flew the Panama flag and was in Britain's service.

He declared every nation has the inherent right of self-defense in meeting attacks which he described as part of an attempted conquest of the earth.

Rescue of 17 more of the American crew of the torpedoed ship I. C. White raised the number of survivors to 34 and reduced the missing to four. The freighters West Nilus and Delnorte, each with 17 of the I. C. White's company aboard, were expected to land them in Rio de Janeiro Tuesday.

The 7,052-ton ship went down in the South Atlantic off Brazil September 27, but circumstances of the torpedoing were not disclosed.

The German high command communique yesterday listed a large tanker as among "enemy" ships torpedoed in the Atlantic, but did not suggest whether this might have been the I. C. White.

Instead, German dispatches dealt almost exclusively with the war against Russia.

The Nazis acknowledged strong Russian counter-attacks both in the north and southern sectors, but said one in the Ukraine cost the Red army 300 tanks and those in the Baltic area were repulsed.

German scouts reported the Russians were massing every bit of their remaining strength for a counter-offensive in the Ukraine.

The Germans were silent on the large-scale operations which their high command said were in progress in Russia.

The Russians, however, said a large Soviet force had been rescued from the shores of Lake Ladoga and brought into Leningrad in a miniature "Dunkerque" after killing 18,000 Finns; that both Finns and Germans were smashed back in a counter-attack which recaptured a railway town on the Karelian isthmus; and that a heavy counter-blow in the south had regained 30 villages from the German and Rumanian invaders. This southern Soviet advance of 18 miles in four days cost the Nazis 17,000 casualties, the Tass news agency said.

Red Fleet, organ of the Soviet navy, said a violent battle was raging on the approaches to the Crimea, with the Soviet fleet and air force aiding the defenders.

On the central front, the Russians claimed a 12-mile advance in the past week had restored dozens of small communities to Russian hands.

An authoritative source in London also confirmed the reports of Soviet counter-attacks, and said the most important was in the Crimean area,

SCREEN SCENARIO WRITER SUCCUMBS

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Jack Cunningham, 59, veteran newspaperman and one of Hollywood's most successful screen scenario writers for the past 25 years, died today in a hospital.

His death followed long illness which started with a stroke as he worked on his last assignment, "Union Pacific," three years ago.

Cunningham wrote such movies as "The Black Pirate," "Don Q," "The Thundering Herd," "Wagon Wheels," "The Covered Wagon," "Ruggles of Red Gap" and "Mississippi."

Before coming here, he worked on newspapers in Manchester, Eng., New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

LOUIS D. BRANDEIS LAPSES INTO COMA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Louis D. Brandeis, 84-year-old retired justice of the supreme court, lapsed into a coma tonight and physicians were understood to have despaired of saving his life.

Brandeis, whose liberal views won him wide renown during his 23 years on the supreme bench, suffered a serious heart attack at his home on Wednesday.

Interpreting The War News: British Army May Renew Offense Soon

(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

Implicit in utterly conflicting London and Rome accounts of recent sea-air battles in the Mediterranean is the obvious fact that heavy British reinforcements in men and fighting gear are being rushed eastward through those dangerous waters.

They may be destined to join battle with their Nazi foes, fighting beside Russian troops in defense of the Caucasus. Certainly they are designed to increase substantially the strength of British defense lines that now reach 2,000 miles or more, unbroken, from India to the Egyptian-Libyan frontier in the western desert.

Or they may be taking post for offensive action during the winter fighting season in the North African desert, providing events on the Russian-Nazi battle line warrant another British counter-stroke against Axis foes in Libya. Prime Minister Churchill's recent intimation that his government had weighed unfavorably counter-invasion proposals as a means of relieving pressure on Russia does not rule out that possibility.

Italian press comment indicates serious expectation of a new British attack in Libya. Hitler could not spare either the air power or the troops and tanks from his great adventure in Russia to prop his faltering Axis mate anew in Africa, even if means of getting German reinforcements to the scene were available.

They are not, Churchill told parliament that while British sea losses had been cut during the last three months, British destruction on Axis shipping had risen three-fold in the same period. And it was on Italian or Italian-used shipping in the Mediterranean that the Axis tonnage losses fell most heavily.

Some British authorities claim that British sea and air power in the Mediterranean has been taking a steady 30 per cent toll or better of Italian craft employed in attempts to reinforce the Axis army in Libya. The fact that the British are still using the narrow Sicilian straits to pass important convoys eastward clearly indicates British naval control of the Mediterranean. The Axis victory in Greece and taking of Crete has not worked out as Berlin and Rome hoped it would, apparently because of Hitler's plunge into the "crusade" against Russia.

At any rate, it seems clear that unless the Nazis carry the battle into the Caucasus soon and force the sending of powerful British Imperial armies there to aid the Russians, the British soon will have forces available along the India-Egypt lifeline for offensive action.

Southern Elevens Display All-Around Class In Tilts

By Herb Barker

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Alabama Georgetown and Wisconsin all suffered unexpected defeat today as the football machines of Duke, Texas, Navy, Tulane and Notre Dame gave new demonstrations of all-around class and Fordham's highly-touted Rams barely got past their first test.

Duke, clashing with Tennessee in the day's most important engagement, crushed the Volunteers, 19-0, with a great display of alert football and will be favored to whip through the rest of their schedule unbeaten. Handing Tennessee its first regular season defeat in 25 successive games, Duke took advantage of all its scoring opportunities in the first half and then settled back to hold the Vols safely in check.

Texas, looking more and more like one of the country's greatest arrays, buried Louisiana State under a 34-0 count as Pete Layden and Jack Crain led the way. Navy, meeting what supposedly was to be a stern test in dark-horse West Virginia, turned on the heat in the second half, scored 33 points and crushed the Mountaineers 40-0. Following hard upon its rout of Boston college a week ago, Tulane's Green Wave, apparently certain to be a major factor in the Southeastern conference race, had no trouble with Auburn's Plainsmen and won, 32-0. Dippy Evans scored all three touchdowns for Notre Dame as the Irish stopped Bo McMillin's Indiana outfit, 19-6.

Alabama, picked by many to run 1-2-3 in the Southeastern conference, never could get going against Mississippi State's green eleven and fell, 14-0. Alabama's line was badly outplayed and that spelled the essential difference. Georgetown, which had whipped Mississippi in an upset a week ago, was in turn spilled in sensational fashion by Virginia Tech, 3-0, Roger McClure's field goal in the third quarter meant victory to Tech which had absorbed a terrific trouncing from Kentucky in its last start. Wisconsin,

FARM PRODUCTS IN STATE HIGH

Cottonseed Meal Prices Reach Maximum Level In 21 Years

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Led by cottonseed prices, which went to the highest levels in 21 years, the value of most Louisiana farm products rose during the past month the Louisiana cooperative crop reporting service reported today.

Twenty-one of 26 commodity prices reported increases during the month ended September 15, four declined and one remained unchanged.

The price of cottonseed advanced $11.40 per ton during the month to reach the highest point since August, 1920. The September 15 price of $47 was $27.30 higher than the price a year earlier.

The price of cotton advanced 2.5 cents per pound during the month and in mid-September was 17.4 cents, the highest price since September, 1929.

Other increases including hogs, 50 cents per hundredweight; beef cattle, 30 cents per hundredweight; veal calves, 40 cents per hundredweight; wholesale milk, 20 cents per hundredweight; retail milk, one cent per quart, and eggs, 4.1 cents per dozen.

Prices received for rice declined from an average of $1.06 per bushel in mid-August to 87 cents in mid-September, but still was 26 cents higher than a year ago. Sweet potato prices declined 10 cents per bushel to 80 cents. Prices of cowpeas and mules also declined.

Compared with a year ago 22 of the 26 reported commodity prices were higher and only four were lower. Prices declined during the year only on sweet potatoes, sheep, horses and mules.

The Louisiana hog-corn and egg-feed ratios stood at a higher level on September 15 than a month and a year earlier, indicating that conditions were more favorable for feeding, although milk prices have advanced materially, the milk-feed ratio was slightly lower on September 15 than a month and a year ago because feed prices advanced still more rapidly.

P.-T. A. COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING

Discusses Programs For Ensuing Year; District Meet Slated

The regular monthly meeting of the Twin City P.-T. A. council was held in the courthouse the past week, with Mrs. W. S. Vincent, president, presiding. Following the reading of reports by Mrs. J. W. Myers, treasurer, and Mrs. G. C. McAuliffe, secretary, the principal speaker, Miss Kate Perkins, state program chairman, was introduced.

Her address dealt with the subject "Programs."

She said that programs should begin on time, and that they should be brief and calculated to hold interest. The varying of programs was suggested by the following: 1. Round table discussions. 2. Have members hand in suggested themes for programs. 3. Have questions and answers. 4. Conduct debates. 5. Discussions of interesting subjects. 6. Getting speakers from various groups. 7. Get reports from various study groups. 8. Consider problems of childhood.

The speaker suggested that the following topics could be utilized: 1. Parent education. 2. Consumer education. 3. Health education. 4. Character studies. 5. Study of poetry, music and books. 6. Study current events. 7. Discuss hereditary tendencies. 8. Discuss budgets. 9. Consider matters that pertain to government. 10. Make an educational survey.

Mrs. George Varino, first vice-president, distributed the national program booklets to the 12 program chairmen present.

Mrs. W. E. McCoy, membership chairman, displayed a handsome cup to be awarded the next year to the school making the greatest percentage gain in membership.

Mrs. Stanley Hodges, goals chairman, asked for a report from members each month.

Miss Kate Perkins explained extension courses that are to be given.

Mrs. Varino, banquet chairman, explained plans for the dinner at the Episcopal parish house on October 13. Reservations for this banquet should be made by October 11. State officers will speak at the banquet.

Mrs. C. C. Lindley, Fifth district director, urged attendance at the Fifth district meeting at Sterlington October 13. The meeting is to start at 9 a.m. and ends at 2:30 p.m. Officers and executive committees from each school are especially requested to attend.

GEORGIA TUCKER P.-T. A. MEETS

Georgia Tucker P.-T. A. held its first meeting of the year with Mrs. Preston Fergus presiding. Mrs. W. R. Hodges, secretary, read the minutes of the executive committee meeting, followed by a report on the summer roundup by Mrs. A. M. Kite. The chairmen of the various committees were then introduced.

Mrs. J. T. Eubank, membership vice-president, discussed her plans for a record enrollment in the P.-T. A. for the coming year, presented the room mothers she has appointed to assist her in this drive.

The national president's message was read to the assemblage, and announcement made that the P.-T. A. was taking an active part in the entertainment of the soldiers at the USO center.

Miss Rodgers gave her customary five-minute talk, and expressed her desire for a very happy year association in the P.-T. A.

Mrs. W. C. Oliver, program chairman, was introduced at this time, and gave a comprehensive plan for the programs for the entire year, after which she presented Mrs. Zell Smith and Mrs. E. M. Steen, who gave inspiring discussions on "Character and Spiritual Education."

At the close of the program, a social hour was enjoyed during which refreshments were served by the entertainment committee.

Georgia Tucker P.-T. A. officers and chairmen for the ensuing year are as follows:

Mrs. Preston Fergus, president; Mrs. J. T. Eubanks, first vice-president; Mrs. O. L. Reynolds, second vice-president; Miss R. B. McDonald, third vice-president; Mrs. H. R. Hodges, secretary; Mrs. Sam Smith, treasurer; Mrs. Winnifred Ashcraft, historian; membership chairman, Mrs. J. T. Eubanks.

Room mothers, kindergarten, Mrs. B. A. Gentry and Mrs. J. M. Menefee; first, Mrs. A. M. Kite; second, Mrs. F. M. Johnson and Mrs. George Lofton; third, Mrs. E. R. Norton and Mrs. John Birdsong; fourth, Mrs. Sam Campbell and Mrs. Pete Rowe; fifth, Mrs. H. B. Cruthirds and Mrs. Pete Rowe; sixth, Mrs. R. L. Davis and Mrs. Edgar Masur.

Hospitality committee, Mrs. F. W. Dawson, chairman; Mrs. Sam Campbell, Mrs. W. E. Sandell, Mrs. H. B. Cruthirds, Mrs. Tom Davis, Mrs. John Naylor; goals committee, Mrs. J. Bodan, chairman, Miss Annie Windes. Citizenship committee, Mrs. Olan Black.

Publication committee, Mrs. Adair Smith, chairman; Miss Gertrude Hart. Character education, Mrs. Zell Smith, chairman; Miss Winnifred McWhorter, Mrs. Lealis Hale. Mrs. Jordan Barton, Mrs. H. L. Woods.

Consumer education, Miss Rosa Belle McDonald.

Finance committee, Mrs. O. L. Reynolds, Miss Alice Florsheim, Mrs. W. M. Lawrence, Mrs. P. G. Rowe and Mrs. B. A. Gentry.

Publicity, Mrs. Rex Miller, Mrs. Louisa Unglesby, Mrs. Fred Hightower. Program committee, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. Gordon Cummings, Mrs. S. E. Huey, Mrs. Elbert Miller, Mrs. R. L. Spence, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. Mabel Lippmin.

Safety committee Mrs. C. B. Braun, Mrs. W. R. Hammond, Mrs. L. R. Ledbetter, Mrs. W. A. Brothers and Mrs. Leon Sugar.

Health and summer roundup, Mrs. A. M. Kite, Mrs. Olive Cochran, Mrs. N. E. Dawson, Miss Dorothy Graves.

Welfare, Mrs. Tom Munholland, Mrs. A. J. Emerson, Mrs. Clifford Strauss, Mrs. Mary T. Dunn and Mrs. Darwin Nichol.

JUST DROP LINE, IT MAY BE NEEDED

The United States postoffice department is instituting "National Letter Writing Week," which will be observed from October 5 to 11 inclusive.

Right at this time, with a vast army of young men away from home, in many cases for the first time, enrolled in various government camps preparing for the defense of their country, letter writing is becoming more popular than ever before. No one knows better than a homesick soldier how to prize those precious messages that mother, dad, sister, brother, sweetheart or wife can write at a time like this.

Mails are swollen as never before with such letters but there are far more that should be written, in the opinion of postal officials, and for this reason the special week has been designated.

"Letters, like light, spread a friendly ray," state circulars issued by the department. The public is asked to take special pains to send a message by mail.

In connection with the week to be celebrated, someone has prepared a little jingle which is as follows:

"On Monday write a word to Dad;
On Tuesday write to Mother,
On Wednesday drop a line to Sis,
On Thursday write to Brother.
On Friday maybe there's a friend,
On Saturday, another,
For whom a cheery word from you

SENDING XMAS BOXES EARLIER

Junior Red Cross To See That English Kiddies Are Happy

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4.—(Special)—At least one big batch of Christmas packages will be shipped early this year! Boys and girls of the Junior Red Cross are already packing the first of 50,000 gift boxes which will bring cheer to sick and homeless children in war-torn England, American Red Cross headquarters announced today.

Special arrangements have been made with the British ministry of shipping to permit early shipment of the packages, of which 25,000 will be distributed by the British Red Cross and 25,000 by the Women's Voluntary Services for Civil Defense. The American Junior Red Cross supplies special standard cardboard cartons (9x4x3 inches) to school groups enrolled in the Junior Red Cross. These are filled with a variety of small, inexpensive items calculated to bring smiles of joy to even the saddest little war orphan or evacuee.

Christmas gift boxes from young Americans are not a new idea. Ever since the World war Junior Red Cross groups have been sending these goodwill packages to children in foreign lands. Last year, over 30,000 went to England, some of which the British gave to the Belgian, Czecho-Slovakian and other refugee children in that country, and another 25,000 delighted the hearts of youngsters in Latin America, in the Philippines, Alaska, China, Samoa and even in remote Greenland.

In addition to the Christmas packages for England, another 50,000 gift boxes will be sent this year to children in other lands and in the territories and insular possessions of the United States.

A surprising number of attractive little gifts—usually about ten—can be packed in the small cartons. "Don't fill them until they bulge, as this makes packing in shipping cases difficult," the Red Cross warns.

Here is what one delighted young English girl who had been bombed out of her home found in her Red Cross gift box last year, as she described it in a charming thank-you letter. "I don't know how to thank you," she wrote. "I found a green fountain pen, a pencil, a blue, red and green scarf. I got a hair s with two pink birds on it, a bro three bracelets, two big silk handk chiefs, a bar of white soap, an ora and white necklace, a ruler, a b writing pad, and three small oran scribbling pads."

FARM PRODUCTS IN STATE HIGH

Cottonseed Meal Prices Reach Maximum Level In 21 Years

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Led by cottonseed prices, which went to the highest levels in 21 years, the value of most Louisiana farm products rose during the past month the Louisiana cooperative crop reporting service reported today.

Twenty-one of 26 commodity prices reported increases during the month ended September 15, four declined and one remained unchanged.

The price of cottonseed advanced $11.40 per ton during the month to reach the highest point since August, 1920. The September 15 price of $47 was $27.30 higher than the price a year earlier.

The price of cotton advanced 2.5 cents per pound during the month and in mid-September was 17.4 cents, the highest price since September, 1929.

Other increases including hogs, 50 cents per hundredweight; beef cattle, 30 cents per hundredweight; veal calves, 40 cents per hundredweight; wholesale milk, 20 cents per hundredweight; retail milk, one cent per quart, and eggs, 4.1 cents per dozen.

Prices received for rice declined from an average of $1.06 per bushel in mid-August to 87 cents in mid-September, but still was 26 cents higher than a year ago. Sweet potato prices declined 10 cents per bushel to 80 cents. Prices of cowpeas and mules also declined.

Compared with a year ago 22 of the 26 reported commodity prices were higher and only four were lower. Prices declined during the year only on sweet potatoes, sheep, horses and mules.

The Louisiana hog-corn and egg-feed ratios stood at a higher level on September 15 than a month and a year earlier, indicating that conditions were more favorable for feeding, although milk prices have advanced materially, the milk-feed ratio was slightly lower on September 15 than a month and a year ago because feed prices advanced still more rapidly.

P.-T. A. COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING

Discusses Programs For Ensuing Year; District Meet Siated

The regular monthly meeting of the Twin City P.-T. A. council was held in the courthouse the past week, with Mrs. W. S. Vincent, president, presiding. Following the reading of reports by Mrs. J. W. Myers, treasurer, and Mrs. G. C. McAuliffe, secretary, the principal speaker, Miss Kate Perkins, state program chairman, was introduced.

Her address dealt with the subject "Programs."

She said that programs should begin on time, and that they should be brief and calculated to hold interest. The varying of programs was suggested by the following: 1. Round table discussions. 2. Have members hand in suggested themes for programs. 3. Have questions and answers. 4. Conduct debates. 5. Discussions of interesting subjects. 6. Getting speakers from various groups. 7. Get reports from various study groups. 8. Consider problems of childhood.

The speaker suggested that the following topics could be utilized: 1. Parent education. 2. Consumer education. 3. Health education. 4. Character studies. 5. Study of poetry, music and books. 6. Study current events. 7. Discuss hereditary tendencies. 8. Discuss budgets. 9. Consider matters that pertain to government. 10. Make an educational survey.

Mrs. George Varino, first vice-president, distributed the national program booklets to the 12 program chairmen present.

Mrs. W. E. McCoy, membership chairman, displayed a handsome cup to be awarded the next year to the school making the greatest percentage gain in membership.

Mrs. Stanley Hodges, goals chairman, asked for a report from members each month.

Miss Kate Perkins explained extension courses that are to be given.

Mrs. Varino, banquet chairman, explained plans for the dinner at the Episcopal parish house on October 13. Reservations for this banquet should be made by October 11. State officers will speak at the banquet.

Mrs. C. C. Lindley, Fifth district director, urged attendance at the Fifth district meeting at Sterlington October 13. The meeting is to start at 9 a.m. and ends at 2:30 p.m. Officers and executive committees from each school are especially requested to attend.

GEORGIA TUCKER P.-T. A. MEETS

Georgia Tucker P.-T. A. held its first meeting of the year with Mrs. Preston Fergus presiding. Mrs. W. R. Hodges, secretary, read the minutes of the executive committee meeting, followed by a report on the summer roundup by Mrs. A. M. Kite. The chairmen of the various committees were then introduced.

Mrs. J. T. Eubank, membership vice-president, discussed her plans for a record enrollment in the P.-T. A. for the coming year, presented the room mothers she has appointed to assist her in this drive.

The national president's message was read to the assemblage, and announcement made that the P.-T. A. was taking an active part in the entertainment of the soldiers at the USO center.

Miss Rodgers gave her customary five-minute talk, and expressed her desire for a very happy year association in the P.-T. A.

Mrs. W. C. Oliver, program chairman, was introduced at this time, and gave a comprehensive plan for the programs for the entire year, after which she presented Mrs. Zell Smith and Mrs. E. M. Steen, who gave inspiring discussions on "Character and Spiritual Education."

At the close of the program, a social hour was enjoyed during which refreshments were served by the entertainment committee.

Georgia Tucker P.-T. A. officers and chairmen for the ensuing year are as follows:

Mrs. Preston Fergus, president; Mrs. J. T. Eubanks, first vice-president; Mrs. O. L. Reynolds, second vice-president; Miss R. B. McDonald, third vice-president; Mrs. H. R. Hodges, secretary; Mrs. Sam Smith, treasurer; Mrs. Winnifred Ashcraft, historian; membership chairman, Mrs. J. T. Eubanks.

Room mothers, kindergarten, Mrs. B. A. Gentry and Mrs. J. M. Menefee; first, Mrs. A. M. Kite; second, Mrs. F. M. Johnson and Mrs. George Lofton; third, Mrs. E. R. Norton and Mrs. John Birdsong; fourth, Mrs. Sam Campbell and Mrs. Pete Rowe; fifth, Mrs. H. B. Cruthirds and Mrs. Pete Rowe; sixth, Mrs. R. L. Davis and Mrs. Edgar Masur.

JUST DROP LINE, IT MAY BE NEEDED

The United States postoffice department is instituting "National Letter Writing Week," which will be observed from October 5 to 11 inclusive.

Right at this time, with a vast army of young men away from home, in many cases for the first time, enrolled in various government camps preparing for the defense of their country, letter writing is becoming more popular than ever before. No one knows better than a homesick soldier how to prize those precious messages that mother, dad, sister, brother, sweetheart or wife can write at a time like this.

Mails are swollen as never before with such letters but there are far more that should be written, in the opinion of postal officials, and for this reason the special week has been designated.

"Letters, like light, spread a friendly ray," state circulars issued by the department. The public is asked to take special pains to send a message by mail.

In connection with the week to be celebrated, someone has prepared a little jingle which is as follows:

"On Monday write a word to Dad;
On Tuesday write to Mother,
On Wednesday drop a line to Sis,
On Thursday write to Brother.
On Friday maybe there's a friend,
On Saturday, another,
For whom a cheery word from you

Junior Red Cross To See That English Kiddies Are Happy

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4.—(Special)—At least one big batch of Christmas packages will be shipped early this year! Boys and girls of the Junior Red Cross are already packing the first of 50,000 gift boxes which will bring cheer to sick and homeless children in war-torn England, American Red Cross headquarters announced today.

Special arrangements have been made with the British ministry of shipping to permit early shipment of the packages, of which 25,000 will be distributed by the British Red Cross and 25,000 by the Women's Voluntary Services for Civil Defense. The American Junior Red Cross supplies special standard cardboard cartons (9x4x3 inches) to school groups enrolled in the Junior Red Cross. These are filled with a variety of small, inexpensive items calculated to bring smiles of joy to even the saddest little war orphan or evacuee.

Christmas gift boxes from young Americans are not a new idea. Ever since the World war Junior Red Cross groups have been sending these goodwill packages to children in foreign lands. Last year, over 30,000 went to England, some of which the British gave to the Belgian, Czecho-Slovakian and other refugee children in that country, and another 25,000 delighted the hearts of youngsters in Latin America, in the Philippines, Alaska, China, Samoa and even in remote Greenland.

Superior Will Celebrate High Mass At St. Paschal's Church Today

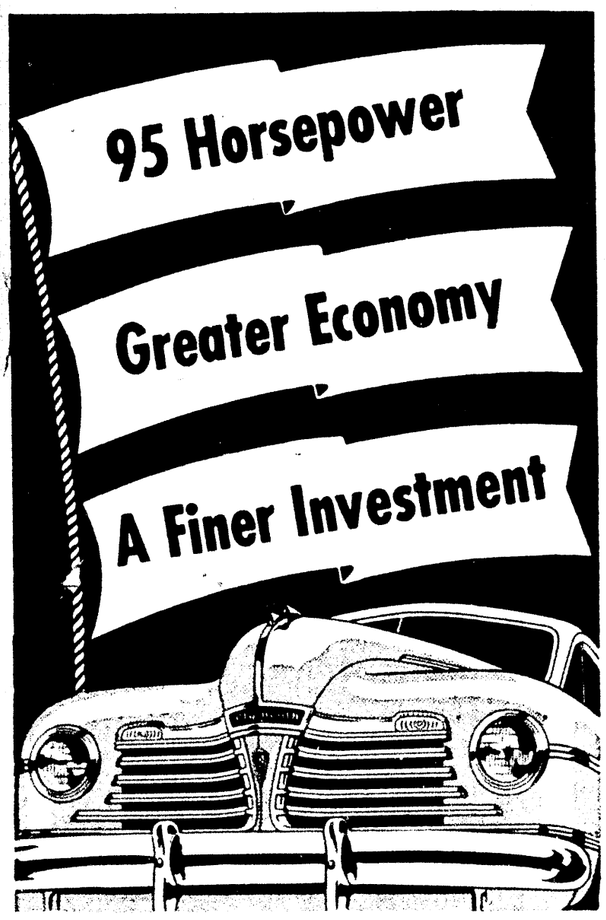

The Rev. Wencel Krycki, O. F. M., provincial superior of the Franciscan Order, will celebrate high mass at a.m. Sunday at St. Paschal's Catholic church in West Monroe, the Rev. Henry Freiburg, pastor, announced yesterday. Father Krycki will deliver the sermon at the evening service at 7:30 p.m.

An open house for priests in northeast Louisiana will be held at the new Franciscan friary from 4 to 8 p.m. Sunday. The following day Father Henry will leave with Father Krycki for Pensacola, Fla., to inspect the recently-constructed Catholic church for negroes.

The priests will go to Pittsburgh, Pa., from Pensacola to attend the fifth national convention of the Third Order of St. Francis, to be held October 11, 12 and 13. The convention will be attended also by Mrs. Louise Kesler, West Monroe, and Mrs. W. A. Burgoyne and Miss Leona Bigger, both of Monroe. Father Henry expects to be away ten days.

St. Francis Sanitarium observed the feast day of its patron saint, St. Francis, with high mass Friday morning in the hospital chapel. The mass was celebrated by Father Krycki.

It has been found that earthworms go as much as six feet below the surface of the ground.

EASTLAND HATES STEPPING DOWN

Mississippian Who Served In Senate Three Months Sorry To Leave

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—When 36-year-old James O. Eastland stepped down a week ago after a brief term as a United States senator he made no effort to hide his sadness.

It wasn't so much the honor of the office—although he was proud as could be of his appointment.

It wasn't that he was leaving a soft job—he said he worked harder during his three months as a senator than he ever worked in his life.

The real reason was he had, in a short time, become a figure of consequence in a fight for agricultural benefits. He wanted to go on fighting with the prestige lent by a senate seat.

A secondary reason was his regret to leave newly-made friends in the senate, particularly Senator O'Daniel of Texas, whom he regards as destined to become "one of the biggest men in the nation."

He'll talk at length about the Texan, who, he says, "has courage and rare ability."

Appointed by Governor Paul Johnson to serve temporarily after the death of Senator Pat Harrison, young Eastland, a Ruleville, Miss., lawyer, and a planter of nearby Doddsville, took the oath of senator June 30 and relinquished the post to Wall Doxey, chosen in a special election, three months later.

During those three months, Eastland lost ten pounds in weight. He reached his office every morning between 7:30 and 8 a.m., and worked until 9, 10 or 11 o'clock every night, Sunday included.

"One thing I'm doing when I get home," he said, "is take a rest. Any one who thinks senators have it easy is mistaken.

"I leave the senate with a high regard for its membership. Most of them have great ability and all of them work, and work hard.

"The United States senate is the most democratic body in the world. I'll never forget how well they treated me, how kind and considerate my colleagues were to me."

As a senator, Eastland concentrated his legislative efforts on relief for southern cotton and cottonseed producers and for pine lumber producers.

Alarmed at information that Canadian textile mills, receiving large orders that American mills could not fill, were filling them with Brazilian cotton, he joined with Senator O'Daniel in offering legislation to prohibit use of money appropriated by congress in purchasing cotton or any article containing cotton unless the cotton was produced in the United States.

He helped raise the ceiling of Louisiana and Mississippi southern pine lumber prices, making his first trip to the White House with Senator Bilbo, Democrat, Mississippi, with data that brought desired action.

He attacked Leon Henderson, administrator of the office of price administration and civilian supply, for a threat to put a ceiling on the price of cottonseed oil "far below" what it was selling for in late June.

An agreement was reached by which it was promised there would be no ceiling to prevent a price of $60 per ton for cottonseed.

He followed this with introduction of legislation to provide for refunds of tariff payments to foreign exporters agreeing to use payments received for their shipments, plus the amount of the refunds, in the purchase of American cotton and other surplus agricultural commodities.

1940-41 POW WOW IS HONORED AGAIN

The 1940-41 Pow Wow, bi-weekly publication of Northeast Junior college, scored for the second time an All-American rating in competition with junior college papers throughout the United States.

This information was received Saturday from the National Scholastic Press association with headquarters at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

The association's newspaper scorebook showed a total of 1,000 points. The Pow Wow surpassed its score made on papers published during the first semester of last year by 110 points.

OLIVER IS BACK FROM BANK MEET

Travis Oliver, president of the Central Savings Bank and Trust Company, has just returned from attending the annual convention of the American Bankers' Association in Chicago. Mr. Oliver has in the past served on the executive council of this group.

He said that the convention was attended by 4,000 delegates and was the largest meeting of the kind held since the depression occurred. Discussed widely on the floor was the trend of war financing and governmental participation in industry. That under the present setup there is little prospect for banks making profits, as was the case in the past, was the general belief expressed.

A number of prominent bankers addressed the assemblage. Among those who attended was L. P. Ayres who has been recently named a major general.

BRANCH LIBRARY WILL BE OPENED

West Monroe To Have New Institution In Civic Center

The Ouachita Parish Public Library will establish a branch library in West Monroe located in the Civic League Center, 307 Wood street. It will be open on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Mitchell Barry will be in charge. She was previously trained at the Ouachita Parish Library and is a West Monroe resident.

The Civic League room was made available through the courtesy of the Civic League, the Business Men's Association of West Monroe, and the City of West Monroe.

Civic and book clubs of West Monroe are planning to make substantial contributions, and added contributions from people of Ouachita parish, either of books or money for new books is urged.

Formal opening has been set for Wednesday, October 8, at which time the public is cordially invited by the Civic League members to attend. Members of the library board also will act as hosts.

Plans are being completed for a benefit bridge-tea to be sponsored by the book clubs of West Monroe. The tentative date for this tea has been set for October 25. It will be held at the McGuire Country club.

MARINE CORPS IS GROWING WITH NAVY

While the navy is expanding its strength to two-ocean size, the marine corps is expanding along with it, as the marine corps is authorized to maintain a strength of one-fifth the size of the navy.

Maybe you like to travel, and maybe you want to stay in the good old United States of America. Whichever you prefer, the marines can be advantageous to you. There are marines in Iceland, Newfoundland, Alaska, China, the Philippine Islands, and many other places. There is a small detachment in London, England, now. On over 65 of our ships there are marines. They are there to do the duties of a soldier and a sailor. They man the secondary batteries of the ship's guns and many other things that are of importance.

If you are a man wanting to stay in the states, then you can do this also. There is over 79 stations in this country where marines are doing duty. They are the policeman in many navy yards, such as destroyer bases, naval stations, ammunition depots, naval prisons, and are used as motor patrolmen, and horse patrolmen at some of the larger naval stations. A marine's life is an exciting one, if a person is looking for excitement. Ages must be 17 to 30 years.

Anything you may be wanting to learn about the marine corps may be obtained by writing to the officer in charge of the recruiting office in the postoffice building in Monroe.

NEGRO WOMAN HURT WHEN HIT BY AUTO

An 18-year-old negro woman was injured late yesterday morning when she was struck down in front of the Old City cemetery by an automobile driven by R. D. Preston, 15, of 105 South Third street, Monroe police reported.

Police said young Preston lost control of the car after sideswiping a truck, struck the woman, Ethel Franklin, 1000½ Calypso street, crashed through the cemetery fence, and damaged a few tombstones. The truck was operated by W. E. Bennett, 36, of 2911 South Grand street, and owned by a local baking company.

The woman was taken to Conway Memorial hospital, where physicians said preliminary examination revealed she received multiple lacerations of the face and a possible fractured skull.

Both vehicles were traveling north on Eleventh street, police said, and young Preston, son of Mrs. Venice Preston, nicked Bennett's fender slightly in an attempt to make a long turn into Manassas street. The accident occurred at Eleventh, Manassas and Elysian Field streets.

The car driven by Preston received an estimated damage of $200 and the cemetery, $500.

The American Indians, in Colonial days, not only ate fresh oysters but dried and smoked them.

FRANCISCAN HEAD TO HOLD SERVICE

Superior Will Celebrate High Mass At St. Paschal's Church Today

The Rev. Wencel Krycki, O. F. M., provincial superior of the Franciscan Order, will celebrate high mass at 9 a.m. Sunday at St. Paschal's Catholic church in West Monroe, the Rev. Henry Freiburg, pastor, announced yesterday. Father Krycki will deliver the sermon at the evening service at 7:30 p.m.

An open house for priests in northeast Louisiana will be held at the new Franciscan friary from 4 to 8 p.m. Sunday. The following day Father Henry will leave with Father Krycki for Pensacola, Fla., to inspect the recently-constructed Catholic church for negroes.

The priests will go to Pittsburgh, Pa., from Pensacola to attend the fifth national convention of the Third Order of St. Francis, to be held October 11, 12 and 13. The convention will be attended also by Mrs. Louise Kesler, West Monroe, and Mrs. W. A. Burgoyne and Miss Leona Bigger, both of Monroe. Father Henry expects to be away ten days.

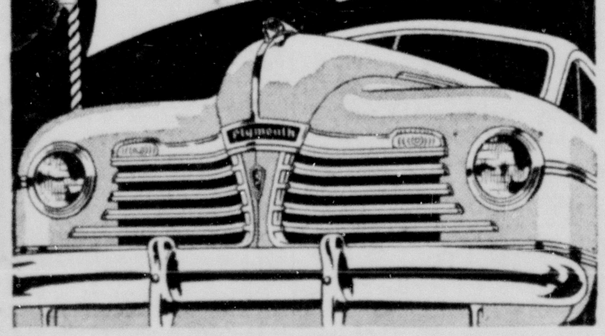

St. Francis Sanitarium observed the feast day of its patron saint, St. Francis, with high mass Friday morning in the hospital chapel. The mass was celebrated by Father Krycki.

It has been found that earthworms go as much as six feet below the surface of the ground.

EASTLAND HATES STEPPING DOWN

Mississippian Who Served In Senate Three Months Sorry To Leave

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—When 26-year-old James O. Eastland stepped down a week ago after a brief term as a United States senator he made no effort to hide his sadness.

It wasn't so much the honor of the office—although he was proud as could be of his appointment.

It wasn't that he was leaving a soft job—he said he worked harder during his three months as a senator than he ever worked in his life.

The real reason was he had, in a short time, become a figure of consequence in a fight for agricultural benefits. He wanted to go on fighting with the prestige lent by a senate seat.

A secondary reason was his regret to leave newly-made friends in the senate, particularly Senator O'Daniel of Texas, whom he regards as destined to become "one of the biggest men in the nation."

He'll talk at length about the Texan, who, he says, "has courage and rare ability."

Appointed by Governor Paul Johnson to serve temporarily after the death of Senator Pat Harrison, young Eastland, a Ruleville, Miss., lawyer, and a planter of nearby Doddsville, took the oath of senator June 30 and relinquished the post to Wall Doxey, chosen in a special election, three months later.

During those three months, Eastland lost ten pounds in weight. He reached his office every morning between 7:30 and 8 a.m., and worked until 9, 10 or 11 o'clock every night, Sunday included.

"One thing I'm doing when I get home," he said, "is take a rest. Any one who thinks senators have it easy is mistaken.

"I leave the senate with a high regard for its membership. Most of them have great ability and all of them work, and work hard.

"The United States senate is the most democratic body in the world. I'll never forget how well they treated me, how kind and considerate my colleagues were to me."

As a senator, Eastland concentrated his legislative efforts on relief for southern cotton and cottonseed producers and for pine lumber producers.

Alarmed at information that Canadian textile mills, receiving large orders that American mills could not fill, were filling them with Brazilian cotton, he joined with Senator O'Daniel in offering legislation to prohibit use of money appropriated by congress in purchasing cotton or any article containing cotton unless the cotton was produced in the United States.

He helped raise the ceiling of Louisiana and Mississippi southern pine lumber prices, making his first trip to the White House with Senator Bilbo, Democrat, Mississippi, with data that brought desired action.

He attacked Leon Henderson, administrator of the office of price administration and civilian supply, for a threat to put a ceiling on the price of cottonseed oil "far below" what it was selling for in late June.

An agreement was reached by which it was promised there would be no ceiling to prevent a price of $60 per ton for cottonseed.

He followed this with introduction of legislation to provide for refunds of tariff payments to foreign exporters agreeing to use payments received for their shipments, plus the amount of the refunds, in the purchase of American cotton and other surplus agricultural commodities.

1940-41 POW WOW IS HONORED AGAIN

The 1940-41 Pow Wow, bi-weekly publication of Northeast Junior college, scored for the second time an All-American rating in competition with junior college papers throughout the United States.

This information was received Saturday from the National Scholastic Press association with headquarters at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

The association's newspaper scorebook showed a total of 1,000 points. The Pow Wow surpassed its score made on papers published during the first semester of last year by 110 points.

The staff consisted of Lloyd Lenard and Miss Emalie Gattis, editors-in-chief; John E. Blanchard, sports editor; Miss Monica Liles, feature editor; Louis Smith, business manager; Misses Jean Shirley, Jo Armstrong, and Lorraine Eunson, assistants, and 16 reporters. Miss Annie Lee West Stahl is faculty sponsor.

OLIVER IS BACK FROM BANK MEET

Travis Oliver, president of the Central Savings Bank and Trust Company, has just returned from attending the annual convention of the American Bankers' Association in Chicago. Mr. Oliver has in the past served on the executive council of this group.

He said that the convention was attended by 4,000 delegates and was the largest meeting of the kind held since the depression occurred. Discussed widely on the floor was the trend of war financing and governmental participation in industry. That under the present setup there is little prospect for banks making profits, as was the case in the past, was the general belief expressed.

A number of prominent bankers addressed the assemblage. Among those who attended was L. P. Ayres who has been recently named a major general.

BRANCH LIBRARY WILL BE OPENED

West Monroe To Have New Institution In Civic Center

The Ouachita Parish Public Library will establish a branch library in West Monroe located in the Civic League Center, 307 Wood street. It will be open on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Mitchell Barry will be in charge. She was previously trained at the Ouachita Parish Library and is a West Monroe resident.

The Civic League room was made available through the courtesy of the Civic League, the Business Men's Association of West Monroe, and the City of West Monroe.

Civic and book clubs of West Monroe are planning to make substantial contributions, and added contributions from people of Ouachita parish, either of books or money for new books is urged.

Formal opening has been set for Wednesday, October 8, at which time the public is cordially invited by the Civic League members to attend. Members of the library board also will act as hosts.

Plans are being completed for a benefit bridge-tea to be sponsored by the book clubs of West Monroe. The tentative date for this tea has been set for October 25. It will be held at the McGuire Country club.

MARINE CORPS IS GROWING WITH NAVY

While the navy is expanding its strength to two-ocean size, the marine corps is expanding along with it, as the marine corps is authorized to maintain a strength of one-fifth the size of the navy.

Maybe you like to travel, and maybe you want to stay in the good old United States of America. Whichever you prefer, the marines can be advantageous to you. There are marines in Iceland, Newfoundland, Alaska, China, the Philippine Islands, and many other places. There is a small detachment in London, England, now. On over 65 of our ships there are marines. They are there to do the duties of a soldier and a sailor. They man the secondary batteries of the ship's guns and many other things that are of importance.

If you are a man wanting to stay in the states, then you can do this also. There is over 79 stations in this country where marines are doing duty. They are the policeman in many navy yards, such as destroyer bases, naval stations, ammunition depots, naval prisons, and are used as motor patrolmen, and horse patrolmen at some of the larger naval stations. A marine's life is an exciting one, if a person is looking for excitement. Ages must be 17 to 30 years.

Anything you may be wanting to learn about the marine corps may be obtained by writing to the officer in charge of the recruiting office in the postoffice building in Monroe.

A Successful Man Meets Death

When a really successful life ends, the sense of completion, fulfillment, dulls the edge of grief.

And what is a successful life? Surely it is not always to have made a great deal of money, though that spells success to some. Surely it is not merely to have exercised great power, nor to have attained great fame, though to some those things are success. Often the man who has made the money would give it all for a little fame, and the one who basked in the limelight of the great wishes at the end he had been comfortably obscure.

No, success is perhaps simply to have done what one wanted to do, to have achieved roughly what one wanted to achieve.

Chief Many Rains, a full-blooded Sioux Indian, was known to his associates on the New York police force as Patrolman James Alvin Schowers. He was killed a short time ago in the performance of his duty, and to his funeral came many of those who had known him on his beat in Harlem, many also who knew him long ago, and who attended the funeral in the feathered head-dress of the Sioux tribesmen.

At the funeral they read a letter. Schowers, or Many Rains, had written it three years ago and stipulated that he wanted it read at his funeral. It began:

"It is with deepest regret that I leave behind the department that I loved since I was a little boy. But I also leave you with a joy no one will ever know, and that is being a member of the finest police department in the world."

Chief Many Rains was 40 years old when he was killed. How was the little Indian boy drawn to the New York police department? Somehow he must have seen a reflection in pictures, or in personal contact with that fine body of men, of the virtues his own fathers had taught the young tribesmen.

So he wanted to be a policeman, and nothing would do but to be "a member of the finest police department in the world." He made it, and he passed his life thus. And when he died they read at his funeral his letter. It closed:

"I have been looking forward to the day when I could go on to the Happy Hunting Grounds of my ancestors, to live in peace always."

There were tears in the faces of the tribesmen at the funeral, and tears also in the faces of the men and women of Harlem who had known Patrolman Schowers.

Shall anyone say this was not a successful life? Shall America not be proud of a true native son who knew how to live and how to die?

INTO THE MAW

The federal tax structure, with additions and revisions contained in the new tax law, is calculated to raise during the next year $13,000,000,000 in revenue. That is probably an underestimate, since business is booming, in a manner of speaking, and most levies may return more revenue than estimated. If the return were $15,000,000,000 annually, would that be enough to square with Secretary Morgenthau's rule that two-thirds of expenditures should be met with tax revenue and one-third with borrowing?

This is possible, on the basis of current actual expenditures. But it is not possible on the basis of pending allocations and talk of what America must spend. It is reckoned in Washington that Germany is spending $25,000,000,000 a year on the war and that to supply the winning margin of victory to which Roosevelt and Churchill are pledged, America may have to put up $40,000,000,000 to $50,000,000,000 annually. Any such expenditure would make the $15,000,000,000 of federal taxes a small contribution. It would be only a third of expenditures. Taxes either would have to be doubled or some $30,000,000,000 a year would be required in borrowing, an unheard of thing even in federal financing.

Among developments planned are a payroll deduction program to take $10,000,000,000 annually from wage earners and a scheme to draft idle capital. Under any program of this sort idle money would soon disappear into the insatiable maw of war, capital would be rationed and business could borrow working funds only with the consent of the government.

STREAMLINING THE ARMY

Army changes to make the service more flexible and able to adjust itself to modern conditions in the field have been coming fast these days.

For instance, national guard officers may now be transferred to any duty anywhere in the army. It was formerly the policy to keep them with their original units.

Further, army commanders may now reassign any officer under their command without reference to the war department. That cuts out red tape, and it would seem reasonable that a man judged competent to command an army should be competent to shift his officers about without filtering the change through some bureaucratic mill in Washington.

These, with the constant weeding out of officers who have not shown up well in maneuvers, are some assurance that the army is being brought in tune with the military times.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 4.—Today is a very special occasion—National Newspaperboy Day—and I'm taking time out for a word with the 600,000 American youngsters who deliver our daily papers.

You boys are on the bottom rung of a ladder and, kid-like, most of you are paying little attention to the other, higher rungs which are now beyond your reach. But examine the ladder carefully—it's a very tall one. It reaches up and up—to Park Avenue mansions, to the offices of world famous engineers, lawyers, doctors, teachers, business men and artists. It reaches to the United States Senate, to the supreme court, to the very White House, itself. Other newsboys, whom you know today as the greatest men in America, have climbed it—and some of you will climb high, too.

But (and this is the point I want to stress in talking with you kids) the important thing about that ladder is not your position on it today, or the position you may attain in years to come. The important thing is its base. Again, look at it closely. The ladder is based on the strongest foundation in the world—real Americanism. That's the 'ism that says a kid can start with nothing and end with much, that guarantees to everyone of you the right to climb just as high, in any field, as your strength and your ability will allow.

Some of you will become statemen, like half a dozen of your predecessors who have been presidents of the United States; some of you will become stars, perhaps, like Eddie Cantor and Al Jolson, both of whom once "peddled papers." But, no matter what you become, never forget that it's up to you to guard the foundation of that ladder so that your sons and daughters may climb it, too.

Sight I'd like to see: Mae West giving a diving exhibition in an Annette Kellerman costume. . . . Would you say that Jackie Cooper, in those pibald sports coats, has gone tog wild? . . . Nominated for this week's friendliest personality award: Ann Sothern. . . . What a difference it would have made in Gene Autry's career if he had been allergic to horses. . . . Ace-photographer George Hurrell who should know, claims Penny Singleton, could be Hollywood's No. 1 glamour girl if given half a chance. . . . Ada players in need of a good role to bolster fading prestige: Warner Baxter. . . . Jack Carson could be rated as a light-heavy contender.

Intimate Notes: A loyal southerner wants to know why someone doesn't put the life story of Robert E. Lee on the screen? A swell idea! I'll pass it along—and don't be too surprised to see Don Ameche, grin and all, playing the lead. . . . From Boston: "Why are universities putting in courses in movie making, when it's impossible for a beginner to get a studio job?" I dunno! All I know if, if you're in, you don't have to know much, and if you're out, no matter how much you know, you can't get in. . . . A Floridame asks why screen beauties' costumes, while always reflecting the current mode, are invariably on the conservative side? Because extreme styles change so quickly that they are out-dated long before a picture has finished its run. You should see the costumes worn by the same ladies off-screen!

OUR CHILDREN

School children make a great point of liking or disliking the teacher. "She's a darling," "She makes you work all right, the best teacher in the school." Or, "That pill. I wish the school would burn down." What about Teacher's side? Does she like you, my boy? No? Why not?

Of course there is no reason at all why Teacher should not love you, but you never can tell until you ask. Let's ask her why she doesn't like you as much as she likes some of the other fellows.

"O, I don't dislike him. Teachers don't dislike pupils even when they are not bright, cooperative and all that. I don't approve him. How can I? To begin with he doesn't take the trouble to brush his clothes, polish his shoes, do his hair in the morning although he knows the class gets a rating on appearance every morning.

"He comes to class in a soiled sweater, his hair touseled, his necktie missing when everybody else is wearing a white blouse and a correctly-tied necktie. And his shoes would disgrace a plowboy, so scuffed and coated with mud. He has to throw a few balls in the muddy playground before coming into class, you see.

"His note book is awful. He does not cover it, and he tosses it down wherever he happens to be, kicks it around generally, so that it is scarcely recognizable. He uses any kind of ink, pencil or whatnot that comes handy. You can imagine the appearance of a notebook that is done in blue ink on one page, red ink on another, indelible pencil next time, with blots and water stains and scratched-out lines to add to the mess.

"The margins are filled with doodles, scart sayings, comic sketches. I have examine and rate that book every two weeks and nothing I can say, nothing I can do, impresses him with the idea that this book is his expression of himself and the quality of his work.

"He is the last to get to class, the first to race for the door. He chews gum in class although he has been asked repeatedly to leave it at home.

"He is the only one who has no pen on test day. He forgot it. His report card is never back on time. I have to ask for it day after day and finally send a stamped and addressed envelope to his mother to get it back at all. He is old enough to know that he attends school for his own sake, and old enough too, to appreciate that I, the teacher, am a public employe, rated according to the success of my work. He is the one blot on my record. I don't dislike him, but I certainly do not approve him."

There, by boy, is the answer. Every time yo ufailed to reach class standards the teacher called you for it, and every time she did so you resented it. I leave to you the decision as to which of you is in the right? Which of you shows good sense.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday School Lesson For Oct. 12
Text: Matthew 20:25-28; Luke 19:1-10
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
(Editor of Advance)

Lessons for this quarter all have the interesting feature of being selected from two passages of Scripture. There are some advantages in this, particularly when, as in this lesson, a presentation of the essence of the Christian religion and way of life is associated with a practical example or incident from life.

The four verses from the 20th chapter of Matthew present as vividly and definitely as could be stated the Christian ideal and way of life in contrast with the way of the world. The contrast is so unmistakable it is amazing so many have failed to profit by it. Even professing Christians and those associated with the Church have been more concerned about pursuing the way of the world in personal ambition for power or material reward rather than in consecrating themselves to the Christian ministry of service.

"The rulers of the Gentiles," said Jesus, "lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them." It not that an exact picture of just what has been happening in all countries throughout the ages? To attain to power and to exercise authority has been the goal of men of great abilities and their petty imitators.

Jesus says that this is not the Christian way. In the Kingdom that He came to establish, greatness is not reckoned by lordship and authority, but by the measure of one's capacity and willingness to minister. Whosoever would be first in this Kingdom is the one who most truly serves his fellowmen, and first of all in the Kingdom is Jesus Himself, "who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many." Repeatedly, both by precept and example, Jesus sought to enforce this lesson concerning true greatness.

From this we turn to the interesting story of Zacchaeus, a man held in little esteem and of no account in his community, who nevertheless through the ministry of Jesus became great. Zacchaeus was a "chief publican"—that means that he was head of the local tax gatherers, who represented the hated power of Rome. As such he would be regarded as a traitor to his race, although his name signified "the pure" or "the just."

The custom of taxation under the Romans was to farm out or let the privilege of tax collection to a successful bidder who was likely to make his profit out of extortion. Zacchaeus may have made his wealth legitimately, or he may have been an extortioner. His extortions could not have been very extensive, or he could not have restored four-fold to anybody whom he had wronged.

In a great sermon on overcoming hindrances, the famous preacher of last century, Robertson of Brighton, defended Zacchaeus as a man who might have made a false step but who, with all the temptations of his profession and with all the contempt of his community, was endeavoring nonetheless to triumph over hindrances and live a good and honorable life. His eagerness to see Jesus was genuinely honest, and what Jesus brought him was not only salvation but vindication. It is an interesting view, and Robertson's sermon is well worth reading and considering by any reader who can secure it in Robertson's sermons through a public library.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(World Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—Jus how they go there, Director Douglas C. MacKeachie isn't sure, but in division of purchases of the office of production management are half a dozen related and unrelated programs, including management of the plant site board, control over nearly a dozen commodity sections, organization of the central post exchange service and reorganization of all the accounting and distribution methods to eliminate paper work in the army, and control over the production and distribution of new fire engines.

The multiplicity of functions is something that baffles a good many people, but it all traces back to the fact that some problem arises which needs to be cleared or managed or looked into, and unless there is a definite appropriation for handling it, the task is shoved into some convenient department, there to stay until the specific appropriation is set up for an organization to handle it.

Take fire-fighting equipment. With all the new cantonments being built and all the new factories going up, there was a shortage of new fire engines. Then the office of civilian defense, under Mayor La Guardia, came through with suggestions that every community get at least a couple more fire engines as a safeguard against incendiary bombs.

Deglamorize Fire Trucks

Fire engines weren't tanks and they weren't automobiles and they weren't trucks and they weren't boats. There wasn't any specific bureau or division to take over the control and production of fire engines, but they involved definite priorities and supply problems of rubber for the hose, nickel and copper and chrome trim and all that. So the control job was given to the purchasing division and its sad duty has been to take a lot of the glamor out of fire engines.

They may still allocate red paint for them, but all the stuff to polish and shine will be missing. If Mayor LaGuardia gets his federal appropriation to buy a lot of cities some extra equipment, what they'll probably get it a one-ton truck with a tank of chemical, a hose reel and a pump. All the sex appeal will be sacrificed to defense.

Fire engines make up just one of the commodity sections which OPM's purchasing division has to look after. Some of the others are textiles, clothing, hides and leather, equippage (tents and such stuff), drugs and medical supplies, containers for everything containable in cans, jugs, boxes, bags, drums—what have you.

These commodity sections are really just getting down to business now. They're made up of representatives of the industry who confer with the government agencies and help work out programs of allocation so that the military will get everything they want, and the nonmilitary won't be given too raw a deal. A lot of the conservation, substitution and allocation work of these commodity sections will be creeping up on you gradually from here on in. The matter of clothing simplification, for instance, won't be handled as the silk stocking thing was, with a lot of fanfare.

In the case of raw silk, it couldn't be helped. The embargo on imports of raw silk from Japan was big news which couldn't help sending a lot of women—and men—into the market to do a lot of unnecessary buying. With other items of clothing and textiles and shoes, the effort will be made to have the simplification of lines made by the trade without getting everyone all excited. But when you go in to buy, along about six months or a year from now, you'll find the number of models and styles to choose from greatly reduced.

No Army Post Profiteering

It was General Marshall himself who got the purchasing division interested in overhauling the machinery of the army post exchanges. These camp canteens supply soldiers with things the army doesn't furnish, and get about half the $21 a month the average soldier earns. In the last war there was a good bit of dissatisfaction with the way they were handled. Profits, if any, were supposed to go to the company funds for recreation equipment. Most of the exchanges were run on a high price schedule, and soldiers got soaked.

Rounding up a staff of experienced merchandizers, a survey was made of soldiers' demands, and the camp stores were started off on a new sales policy. It was found the total business of the post exchanges for the new army would run $250,000,600 a year. A loan of $200,000,000 was made from RFC, and the canteens were stocked with stuff that would sell, priced right for a $21 monthly income.

One of the worst headaches which the OPM purchasing division has tackled is a complete revision of the army accounting and distribution methods, aimed at eliminating or reducing paper work.

It has always been a snarl of red tape, and the inventory control of company, battalion and regimental supply officers has caused almost as much mental anguish as shell shock. Now a staff of some of the best accountants in the country is trying out new methods and they hope eventually to balance the books and lick their problem—"for the honor," they say, "of the accounting profession."

Canada Names Mountain After Heroic War Nurse

CANADA is a vast nation, rich in resources, which sprawls to the north of the United States. It is greater than this country in area, but has a population of only 11 million.

The country has a varied topography — mountains, foothills, barrens, prairies and sloping plains. Among the scenic beauties are the Canadian Rockies, one of the great tourist attractions.

Mount Edith Cavell, which is pictured in the 1930 stamp above, lies in this group. It is named after the famous English nurse, who carried on an underground movement in Belgium and was shot by the Germans, Oct. 12, 1915.

She was convicted of aiding some 250 British, French and Belgian soldiers, caught behind the German lines, to escape into neutral Holland. Presumably they returned to belligerent nations and re-entered military service.

The Germans later realized that in shooting a woman they had committed an incalculable blunder. Indignation flared throughout the world.

New York Day by Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK — Diary: A serious-minded group of garden enthusiasts set out for Doylestown, over the way in Pennsylvania, to see the new things in flowers and vegetables at David Burpee's house. I went along, and showed my ignorance of gardening all too many times before the day was over.

It's been a drouth year, but Mr. Burpee managed to get together a dozen or so new flowers and a table of new or improved vegetables to show us.

An experimental farm is like an automobile plant, in that it must produce some new models every year to amaze the customers.

The novelty that really took my eye was young Mr. Jonathan Burpee, three months old, who sat on his mother's arm and viewed the garden folk with a critical eye. He proved that he has some of the qualities of a real novelty by not crying once during the long, hot day.

A conversation with Andy Wing brought me up to date on a lot of things. Mr. Wing is connected with Garden Digest, which occupies the premises formerly used by Readers Digest, at the little town of Pleasantville, N. Y.

Readers Digest startled the publishing world in several ways. One was by doing its business in a village, well outside New York City. When it outgrew its first plant, it moved to another in a neighboring village.

Mr. Wing's most interesting tale was of experiments now going forward in the Boyce Thompson institute, in Yonkers, for production of seedless tomatoes.

The experimenters take one drop of a certain chemical, vaporize it, and turn it loose in a greenhouse.

Result: all the tomatoes turn out seedless, and much improved in the quality of the meat.

Some experiments along similar lines are being carried on elsewhere.

The seedless tomatoes cannot propagate themselves. Tomato plants must be grown from seed, so, even if the practice of making the fruit seedless becomes widespread, we'll always have to have seed tomatoes for propagation.

Quite a few of us are wearing our hair long now, on account of a strike of mid-town barbers.

The lights had been out for a week in the Times Square shop I generally patronize, when I strolled in and was told the news. I felt bad, because my wife had been warning me that I would run the risk of being clapped up as a wild man if I didn't get a haircut soon.

"Having trouble with the boss?" I asked one of the barbers.

"No, not at all. The boss is fine. Yes, the pay is fair, too. Not high, but then, the shop isn't making money either. You couldn't blame the boss for the low income.

"Any strike benefits being paid you fellows who have been called out?"

"No, we just have to get along without any wages or tips, that's all."

I gathered that the men don't like it a bit, but they must not work. The objective of the strike, according to my informant, is to punish the little shops for not charging as high prices as the bigger shops.

It was explained that many small shops charge less for a haircut than the standard rate at the big shops. The big shops have lost a lot of business to the lower-priced little shops.

"The idea is to make the little fellows charge the same as we do, and then the customers will come back to the big shops." I was told.

"Then what will happen to the little shops?"

"Oh, we haven't thought about that. Let them worry."

I was told that I could have a shave if I would wait until the customer was out of the one chair that was in use.

There were four barbers and two manicure girls sitting about in citizens' clothes, and ten to fourteen empty chairs.

Why did I have to wait for that one chair?

"Well, you see, it's like this. In a big shop like this, the boss is not on strike, of course. So he can go on barbering if he wants to. But he can't keep only one chair going, because he's only one man. Now, it happens that our boss isn't a barber, so we keep that chair going for him. We take turns shaving our own customers, but we don't dare use more than the one chair."

Rather complicated for the customer, but I suppose it makes sense to somebody.

HOME NURSING STUDENTS WILL GET CERTIFICATES

The closing exercises of the Junior Red Cross Home Nursing class will be broadcast over KMLB Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. Those participating in the program will be Mrs. F. C. Bennett, who volunteered her services as instructor for the class; Mrs. C. K. Crandall, chairman of the nursing activities committee of the Ouachita parish chapter, American Red Cross; Miss Frances F. Paige, nurse of the local chapter, and all members of the class.

The public is asked to tune in on the program at which time the home nursing service of the chapter will be outlined and certificates will be awarded those girls who successfully completed the course.

L. S. U. ALUMNI WILL HOLD TUESDAY MEETING

Louisiana State university alumni will meet in the social room of the student social building, at Northeast Junior college, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

B. S. Hamner, president of the group, urges all members to attend. Among the inducements held out will be free L. S. U. football tickets which will admit persons to two of the games of the season.

TRYOUTS FOR BAND TO BE HELD HERE

Tryouts for the proposed community band, to be composed of members who are beyond school age, will be held at the Ouachita parish band room, Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Walter Minnear, director, is desirous that adults who are qualified to become affiliated with a new band meet him at this place and time. Tryouts will be given all applicants.

A Successful Man Meets Death

When a really successful life ends, the sense of completion, fulfillment, dulls the edge of grief.

And what is a successful life? Surely it is not always to have made a great deal of money, though that spells success to some. Surely it is not merely to have exercised great power, nor to have attained great fame, though to some those things are success. Often the man who has made the money would give it all for a little fame, and the one who basked in the limelight of the great wishes at the end he had been comfortably obscure.

No, success is perhaps simply to have done what one wanted to do, to have achieved roughly what one wanted to achieve.

Chief Many Rains, a full-blooded Sioux Indian, was known to his associates on the New York police force as Patrolman James Alvin Schowers. He was killed a short time ago in the performance of his duty, and to his funeral came many of those who had known him on his beat in Harlem, many also who knew him long ago, and who attended the funeral in the feathered head-dress of the Sioux tribesmen.

At the funeral they read a letter. Schowers, or Many Rains, had written it three years ago and stipulated that he wanted it read at his funeral. It began:

"It is with deepest regret that I leave behind the department that I loved since I was a little boy. But I also leave you with a joy no one will ever know, and that is being a member of the finest police department in the world."

Chief Many Rains was 40 years old when he was killed. How was the little Indian boy drawn to the New York police department? Somehow he must have seen a reflection in pictures, or in personal contact with that fine body of men, of the virtues his own fathers had taught the young tribesmen.

So he wanted to be a policeman, and nothing would do but to be "a member of the finest police department in the world." He made it, and he passed his life thus. And when he died they read at his funeral his letter. It closed:

"I have been looking forward to the day when I could go on to the Happy Hunting Grounds of my ancestors, to live in peace always."

There were tears in the faces of the tribesmen at the funeral, and tears also in the faces of the men and women of Harlem who had known Patrolman Schowers.

Shall anyone say this was not a successful life? Shall America not be proud of a true native son who knew how to live and how to die?

INTO THE MAW

The federal tax structure, with additions and revisions contained in the new tax law, is calculated to raise during the next year $13,000,000,000 in revenue. That is probably an underestimate, since business is booming, in a manner of speaking, and most levies may return more revenue than estimated. If the return were $15,000,000,000 annually, would that be enough to square with Secretary Morgenthau's rule that two-thirds of expenditures should be met with tax revenue and one-third with borrowing?

This is possible, on the basis of current actual expenditures. But it is not possible on the basis of pending allocations and talk of what America must spend. It is reckoned in Washington that Germany is spending $25,000,000,000 a year on the war and that to supply the winning margin of victory to which Roosevelt and Churchill are pledged, America may have to put up $40,000,000,000 to $50,000,000,000 annually. Any such expenditure would make the $15,000,000,000 of federal taxes a small contribution. It would be only a third of expenditures. Taxes either would have to be doubled or some $30,000,000,000 a year would be required in borrowing, an unheard of thing even in federal financing.

Among developments planned are a payroll deduction program to take $10,000,000,000 annually from wage earners and a scheme to draft idle capital. Under any program of this sort idle money would soon disappear into the insatiable maw of war, capital would be rationed and business could borrow working funds only with the consent of the government.

STREAMLINING THE ARMY

Army changes to make the service more flexible and able to adjust itself to modern conditions in the field have been coming fast these days.

For instance, national guard officers may now be transferred to any duty anywhere in the army. It was formerly the policy to keep them with their original units.

Further, army commanders may now reassign any officer under their command without reference to the war department. That cuts out red tape, and it would seem reasonable that a man judged competent to command an army should be competent to shift his officers about without filtering the change through some bureaucratic mill in Washington.

These, with the constant weeding out of officers who have not shown up well in maneuvers, are some assurance that the army is being brought in tune with the military times.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 4.—Today is a very special occasion—National Newspaperboy Day—and I'm taking time out for a word with the 600,000 American youngsters who deliver our daily papers.

You boys are on the bottom rung of a ladder and, kid-like, most of you are paying little attention to the other, higher rungs which are now beyond your reach. But examine the ladder carefully—it's a very tall one. It reaches up and up—to Park Avenue mansions, to the offices of world famous engineers, lawyers, doctors, teachers, business men and artists. It reaches to the United States Senate, to the supreme court, to the very White House, itself. Other newsboys, whom you know today as the greatest men in America, have climbed it—and some of you will climb high, too.

But (and this is the point I want to stress in talking with you kids) the important thing about that ladder is not your position on it today, or the position you may attain in years to come. The important thing is its base. Again, look at it closely. The ladder is based on the strongest foundation in the world—real Americanism. That's the 'ism that says a kid can start with nothing and end with much, that guarantees to everyone of you the right to climb just as high, in any field, as your strength and your ability will allow.

Some of you will become statemen, like half a dozen of your predecessors who have been presidents of the United States; some of you will become stars, perhaps, like Eddie Cantor and Al Jolson, both of whom once "peddled papers." But, no matter what you become, never forget that it's up to you to guard the foundation of that ladder so that your sons and daughters may climb it, too.

Intimate Notes: A loyal southerner wants to know why someone doesn't put the life story of Robert E. Lee on the screen? A swell idea! I'll pass it along—and don't be too surprised to see Don Ameche, grin and all, playing the lead. . . . From Boston: "Why are universities putting in courses in movie making, when it's impossible for a beginner to get a studio job?" I dunno! All I know if, if you're in, you don't have to know much, and if you're out, no matter how much you know, you can't get in. . . . A Floridame asks why screen beauties' costumes, while always reflecting the current mode, are invariably on the conservative side? Because extreme styles change so quickly that they are out-dated long before a picture has finished its run. You should see the costumes worn by the same ladies off-screen!

OUR CHILDREN

School children make a great point of liking or disliking the teacher. "She's a darling," "She makes you work all right; the best teacher in the school." Or, "That pill. I wish the school would burn down." What about Teacher's side? Does she like you, my boy? No? Why not?

Of course there is no reason at all why Teacher should not love you, but you never can tell until you ask. Let's ask her why she doesn't like you as much as she likes some of the other fellows.

"O, I don't dislike him. Teachers don't dislike pupils even when they are not bright, cooperative and all that. I don't approve him. How can I? To begin with he doesn't take the trouble to brush his clothes, polish his shoes, do his hair in the morning although he knows the class gets a rating on appearance every morning.

"He comes to class in a soiled sweater, his hair touseled, his necktie missing when everybody else is wearing a white blouse and a correctly-tied necktie. And his shoes would disgrace a plowboy, so scuffed and coated with mud. He has to throw a few balls in the muddy playground before coming into class, you see.

"His note book is awful. He does not cover it, and he tosses it down wherever he happens to be, kicks it around generally, so that it is scarcely recognizable. He uses any kind of ink, pencil or whatnot that comes handy. You can imagine the appearance of a notebook that is done in blue ink on one page, red ink on another, indelible pencil next time, with blots and water stains and scratched-out lines to add to the mess.

"The margins are filled with doodles,, scart sayings, comic sketches. I have examine and rate that book every two weeks and nothing I can say, nothing I can do, impresses him with the idea that this book is his expression of himself and the quality of his work.

"He is the last to get to class, the first to race for the door. He chews gum in class although he has been asked repeatedly to leave it at home.

"He is the only one who has no pen on test day. He forgot it. His report card is never back on time. I have to ask for it day after day and finally send a stamped and addressed envelope to his mother to get it back at all. He is old enough to know that he attends school for his own sake, and old enough too, to appreciate that I, the teacher, am a public employe, rated according to the success of my work. He is the one blot on my record. I don't dislike him, but I certainly do not approve him."

There, by boy, is the answer. Every time yo ufailed to reach class standards the teacher called you for it, and every time she did so you resented it. I leave to you the decision as to which of you is in the right? Which of you shows good sense.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday School Lesson For Oct. 12
Text: Matthew 20:25-28; Luke 19:1-10
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
(Editor of Advance)

Lessons for this quarter all have the interesting feature of being selected from two passages of Scripture. There are some advantages in this, particularly when, as in this lesson, a presentation of the essence of the Christian religion and way of life is associated with a practical example or incident from life.

The four verses from the 20th chapter of Matthew present as vividly and definitely as could be stated the Christian ideal and way of life in contrast with the way of the world. The contrast is so unmistakable it is amazing so many have failed to profit by it. Even professing Christians and those associated with the Church have been more concerned about pursuing the way of the world in personal ambition for power or material reward rather than in consecrating themselves to the Christian ministry of service.

"The rulers of the Gentiles," said Jesus, "lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them." It not that an exact picture of just what has been happening in all countries throughout the ages? To attain to power and to exercise authority has been the goal of men of great abilities and their petty imitators.

Jesus says that this is not the Christian way. In the Kingdom that He came to establish, greatness is not reckoned by lordship and authority, but by the measure of one's capacity and willingness to minister. Whosoever would be first in this Kingdom is the one who most truly serves his fellowmen, and first of all in the Kingdom is Jesus Himself, "who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many." Repeatedly, both by precept and example, Jesus sought to enforce this lesson concerning true greatness.

From this we turn to the interesting story of Zacchaeus, a man held in little esteem and of no account in his community, who nevertheless through the ministry of Jesus became great. Zacchaeus was a "chief publican"—that means that he was head of the local tax gatherers, who represented the hated power of Rome. As such he would be regarded as a traitor to his race, although his name signified "the pure" or "the just."

The custom of taxation under the Romans was to farm out or let the privilege of tax collection to a successful bidder who was likely to make his profit out of extortion. Zacchaeus may have made his wealth legitimately, or he may have been an extortioner. His extortions could not have been very extensive, or he could not have restored four-fold to anybody whom he had wronged.

In a great sermon on overcoming hindrances, the famous preacher of last century, Robertson of Brighton, defended Zacchaeus as a man who might have made a false step but who, with all the temptations of his profession and with all the contempt of his community, was endeavoring nonetheless to triumph over hindrances and live a good and honorable life. His eagerness to see Jesus was genuinely honest, and what Jesus brought him was not only salvation but vindication. It is an interesting view, and Robertson's sermon is well worth reading and considering by any reader who can secure it in Robertson's sermons through a public library.

IN WASHINGTON

By Peter Edson
(World Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—Jus how they go there, Difector Douglas C. MacKeachie isn't sure, but in division of purchases of the office of production management are half a dozen related and unrelated programs, including management of the plant site board, control over nearly a dozen commodity sections, organization of the central post exchange service and reorganization of all the accounting and distribution methods to eliminate paper work in the army, and control over the production and distribution of new fire engines.

The multiplicity of functions is something that baffles a good many people, but it all traces back to the fact that some problem arises which needs to be cleared or managed or looked into, and unless there is a definite appropriation for handling it, the task is shoved into some convenient department, there to stay until the specific appropriation is set up for an organization to handle it.

Take fire-fighting equipment. With all the new cantonments being built and all the new factories going up, there was a shortage of new fire engines. Then the office of civilian defense, under Mayor La Guardia, came through with suggestions that every community get at least a couple more fire engines as a safeguard against incendiary bombs.

Deglamorize Fire Trucks

Fire engines weren't tanks and they weren't automobiles and they weren't trucks and they weren't boats. There wasn't any specific bureau or division to take over the control and production of fire engines, but they involved definite priorities and supply problems of rubber for the hose, nickel and copper and chrome trim and all that. So the control job was given to the purchasing division and its sad duty has been to take a lot of the glamor out of fire engines.

They may still allocate red paint for them, but all the stuff to polish and shine will be missing. If Mayor LaGuardia gets his federal appropriation to buy a lot of cities some extra equipment, what they'll probably get it a one-ton truck with a tank of chemical, a hose reel and a pump. All the sex appeal will be sacrificed to defense.

Fire engines make up just one of the commodity sections which OPM's purchasing division has to look after. Some of the others are textiles, clothing, hides and leather, equippage (tents and such stuff), drugs and medical supplies, containers for everything containable in cans, jugs, boxes, bags, drums—what have you.

These commodity sections are really just getting down to business now. They're made up of representatives of the industry who confer with the government agencies and help work out programs of allocation so that the military will get everything they want, and the nonmilitary won't be given too raw a deal. A lot of the conservation, substitution and allocation work of these commodity sections will be creeping up on you gradually from here on in. The matter of clothing simplification, for instance, won't be handled as the silk stocking thing was, with a lot of fanfare.

In the case of raw silk, it couldn't be helped. The embargo on imports of raw silk from Japan was big news which couldn't help sending a lot of women—and men—into the market to do a lot of unnecessary buying. With other items of clothing and textiles and shoes, the effort will be made to have the simplification of lines made by the trade without getting everyone all excited. But when you go in to buy, along about six months or a year from now, you'll find the number of models and styles to choose from greatly reduced.

No Army Post Profiteering

It was General Marshall himself who got the purchasing division interested in overhauling the machinery of the army post exchanges. These camp canteens supply soldiers with things the army doesn't furnish, and get about half the $21 a month the average soldier earns. In the last war there was a good bit of dissatisfaction with the way they were handled. Profits, if any, were supposed to go to the company funds for recreation equipment. Most of the exchanges were run on a high price schedule, and soldiers got soaked.

Rounding up a staff of experienced merchandizers, a survey was made of soldiers' demands, and the camp stores were started off on a new sales policy. It was found the total business of the post exchanges for the new army would run $250,000,000 a year. A loan of $200,000,000 was made from RFC, and the canteens were stocked with stuff that would sell, priced right for a $21 monthly income.

One of the worst headaches which the OPM purchasing division has tackled is a complete revision of the army accounting and distribution methods, aimed at eliminating or reducing paper work.

It has always been a snarl of red tape, and the inventory control of company, battalion and regimental supply officers has caused almost as much mental anguish as shell shock. Now a staff of some of the best accountants in the country is trying out new methods and they hope eventually to balance the books and lick their problem—"for the honor," they say, "of the accounting profession."

Canada Names Mountain After Heroic War Nurse

CANADA is a vast nation, rich in resources, which sprawls to the north of the United States. It is greater than this country in area, but has a population of only 11 million.

The country has a varied topography — mountains, foothills, barrens, prairies and sloping plains. Among the scenic beauties are the Canadian Rockies, one of the great tourist attractions.

Mount Edith Cavell, which is pictured in the 1930 stamp above, lies in this group. It is named after the famous English nurse, who carried on an underground movement in Belgium and was shot by the Germans, Oct. 12, 1915.

She was convicted of aiding some 250 British, French and Belgian soldiers, caught behind the German lines, to escape into neutral Holland. Presumably they returned to belligerent nations and re-entered military service.

The Germans later realized that in shooting a woman they had committed an incalculable blunder. Indignation flared throughout the world.

HOME NURSING STUDENTS WILL GET CERTIFICATES

The closing exercises of the Junior Red Cross Home Nursing class will be broadcast over KMLB Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. Those participating in the program will be Mrs. F. C. Bennett, who volunteered her services as instructor for the class; Mrs. C. K. Crandall, chairman of the nursing activities committee of the Ouachita parish chapter, American Red Cross; Miss Frances E. Paige, nurse of the local chapter, and all members of the class.

The public is asked to tune in on the program at which time the home nursing service of the chapter will be outlined and certificates will be awarded those girls who successfully completed the course.

L. S. U. ALUMNI WILL HOLD TUESDAY MEETING

Louisiana State university alumni will meet in the social room of the student social building, at Northeast Junior college, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

B. S. Hamner, president of the group, urges all members to attend. Among the inducements held out will be free L. S. U. football tickets which will admit persons to two of the games of the season.

New York Day by Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL
Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YORK — Diary: A serious-minded group of garden enthusiasts set out for Doylestown, over the way in Pennsylvania, to see the new things in flowers and vegetables at David Burpee's house. I went along, and showed my ignorance of gardening all too many times before the day was over.

It's been a drouth year, but Mr. Burpee managed to get together a dozen or so new flowers and a table of new or improved vegetables to show us.

An experimental farm is like an automobile plant, in that it must produce some new models every year to amaze the customers.

The novelty that really took my eye was young Mr. Jonathan Burpee, three months old, who sat on his mother's arm and viewed the garden folk with a critical eye. He proved that he has some of the qualities of a real novelty by not crying once during the long, hot day.

A conversation with Andy Wing brought me up to date on a lot of things. Mr. Wing is connected with Garden Digest, which occupies the premises formerly used by Readers Digest, at the little town of Pleasantville, N. Y.

Readers Digest startled the publishing world in several ways. One was by doing its business in a village, well outside New York City. When it outgrew its first plant, it moved to another in a neighboring village.

Mr. Wing's most interesting tale was of experiments now going forward in the Boyce Thompson institute, in Yonkers, for production of seedless tomatoes.

The experimenters take one drop of a certain chemical, vaporize it, and turn it loose in a greenhouse.

Result: all the tomatoes turn out seedless, and much improved in the quality of the meat.

Some experiments along similar lines are being carried on elsewhere.

The seedless tomatoes cannot propagate themselves. Tomato plants must be grown from seed, so, even if the practice of making the fruit seedless becomes widespread, we'll always have to have seed tomatoes for propagation.

Quite a few of us are wearing our hair long now, on account of a strike of mid-town barbers.

The lights had been out for a week in the Times Square shop I generally patronize, when I strolled in and was told the news. I felt bad, because my wife had been warning me that I would run the risk of being clapped up as a wild man if I didn't get a haircut soon.

"Having trouble with the boss?" I asked one of the barbers.

"No, not at all. The boss is fine. Yes, the pay is fair, too. Not high, but then, the shop isn't making money either. You couldn't blame the boss for the low income.

"Any strike benefits being paid your fellows who have been called out?"

"No, we just have to get along without any wages or tips, that's all."

I gathered that the men don't like it a bit, but they must not work. The objective of the strike, according to my informant, is to punish the little shops for not charging as high prices as the bigger shops.

It was explained that many small shops charge less for a haircut than the standard rate at the big shops. The big shops have lost a lot of business to the lower-priced little shops.

"The idea is to make the little fellows charge the same as we do, and then the customers will come back to the big shops." I was told.

"Then what will happen to the little shops?"

"Oh, we haven't thought about that. Let them worry."

I was told that I could have a shave if I would wait until the customer was out of the one chair that was in use.

There were four barbers and two manicure girls sitting about in citizens' clothes, and ten to fourteen empty chairs.

Why did I have to wait for that one chair?

"Well, you see, it's like this. In a big shop like this, the boss is not on strike, of course. So he can go on barbering if he wants to. But he can keep only one chair going, because he's only one man. Now, it happens that our boss isn't a barber, so we keep that chair going for him. We take turns shaving our own customers, but we don't dare use more than the one chair."

Rather complicated for the customer, but I suppose it makes sense to somebody.

Will Exhibit Calves At Livestock Show In West Monroe

One of the outstanding features of he livestock show which will be eld October 22 through October 26, t the Ouachita Valley Fairgrounds, will be the exhibit of the 4-H club livestock, according to D. L. Bornman, Jr., parish farm demonstration agent.

Thirty-two baby beef calves are being fed by 4-H club members for next spring's shows. They are being supervised by H. B. Fairchild, assistant parish agent, who reports that the club members are all anxiously awaiting the show to place their calves in competition for approximately $100 in cash premiums and 10 show halters which have been donated by local merchants.

Mr. Fairchild also reports a great deal of interest in the competition among the 10 club members who are raising pigs in the Sears cow-sow-hen program. The first prize in this contest will be a $50 heifer to be given by Sears. Other winners will receive highbred baby chicks as their reward.

Another feature of the show will be the contest for the district championship in the Sears pig project. The winning pig from each of the 10 parishes in this area will compete for the district prize and the owner of this animal will be given a trip to the International Livestock show to be held in Chicago later this fall. The trip will be given by Sears, Roebuck and Company's local store.

Besides these two features, Mr. Fairchild reports that several of the club members will show pure bred and grade Hereford cattle which they have been raising in connection with the 4-H club livestock work.

LOUISIANA-RAISED TURKEYS INCREASE

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The chances are better than at any previous time that the turkey gracing a Louisiana Thanksgiving dinner table next month will be one who did his gobbling on a Louisiana farm.

The United States department of agriculture's marketing service said the number of Louisiana-raised turkeys on hand was 93,000, compared with 86,000 last year, 78,000 the year before, 68,000 in 1938 and 64,000 for the average of the four preceding years.

While national turkey production is up slightly, the department's report said, "The actual supply for consumption during the holidays will probably be little different from that of last year because of smaller cold-storage holdings, probable increased January, 1942, inventories and increasing all year round consumption."

PROCLAMATION HONORS WOMEN

Gov. Jones Designates Week For Business, Professional Members

Members of the Monroe Business and Professional Women's club will observe the week of October 5-11, set aside nation-wide in their honor. The local members will have a series of events that will culminate in a banquet at Hotel Virginia, Thursday at 8 p.m.

Recognizing the influence of women in the business world, Governor Sam H. Jones has issued the following proclamation:

"Whereas, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs is celebrating the week of October 5 to 11 as National Business Women's week, and

"Whereas, the influence of women has in the past century been extended to every field of thought and activity, and has become a powerful factor in the development and advancement of the nation; and their accomplishments have been outstanding, and

"Whereas, the program theme this year is 'Strengthen Democracy for Defense' and is built around the objective recently adopted that we seek to vitalize the processes of democracy that all peoples may enjoy the basic satisfactions of life in a world at peace,

"Now, therefore, I, Sam H. Jones, governor of the state of Louisiana, do issue this proclamation designating the week of October 5 to 11, 1941, as

"National Business Women's week in recognition of their work and of the contribution of women throughout the country to the progress of this nation in the past century."

In plants, annuals last only one year; perennials last more than two years.

● SERIAL STORY

BRIDE FROM THE SKY

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER XXIV

As Judy, escorted by two cheerful officers, entered the side gate to the prisoner's docket, she drew back. She had not expected such an audience.

The commissioner for the federal court was in charge today. Suddenly she was aware that her gray calico dress was wrinkled. One foot was encased in an old house slipper, a man's house shoe, size 12, but it did not interfere with the bandages on her arch. She wore its companion on her other foot.

She had neither lipstick, rouge, eyebrow shadow, or a comb to untangle her knotted hair. She looked, she admitted to herself, like a housemaid who had enjoyed a good time somewhere.

Her foot pained a little. There was blood on the bandage. She tried to sit on that foot, but an officer saw the change of position, motioned to the court matron who led her into an inner room where the police doctors cleansed and rebound the wound.

Once more she faced the courtroom. Her eyes went from face to curious face. These people had come to see what an ex-deb, a girl who had made a place for herself among Manhattan's career women, looked like. Some faces were hostile, faces of little people whose streets never had traveled far. More faces were kind and sympathetic, though their outward paths had gone no farther.

When her name was called Judy walked swiftly, trying not to limp, to the witness chair. At the edge of the second step her bandage caught in a torn piece of carpet.

Judy fell across the steps. If she cried she might make an impression on the commissioner. Men hated tears but they usually did something about them. She couldn't cry, though.

She could only laugh. Laugh until she was assisted to the witness chair.

After order had been established in the courtroom, she instinctively addressed the federal commissioner who acted as judge. After all she had nothing to win, nothing to lose.

"Yesterday I was in my stockinged foot—I lost one slipper when I jumped for freedom. My foot got tangled with a nail, you see. And now your worn carpet upset me again. I'm sorry but I can't pay for the medical assistance until I have worked out my fine."

She smiled straight into the eyes of the federal commissioner. She wasn't sure if he smiled or frowned. Life would be rather nice if people would take off their masks. No, it wouldn't. It would be horrible. Life's privacy would be gone. Now she could hate Sandy forever and no one would guess that she might—just might—have liked him a little.

Her case proceeded calmly. She was required to pay a fine of $1,000 and costs. She couldn't. She was led back to her cell after a judicial lecture. Just as she left the court by the side door she thought she saw Sandy entering at the front. So he had come to see how low he had brought her! The door through which she was passing closed so quickly she could not follow him.

Judy was not returned to her cell. Long distance wanted her. It was her father. He said all of the things that she had hoped he would say before. Now they sounded like stilted, tenpenny words. Three things she understood. Sandy had been trying to reach him without result. He had succeeded finally, would accept charges of kidnaping, and his rival was flying to Judy to pay her fine and bring her home.

So it had been Sandy whom she had seen in the courthouse. What did he want? Why had he come?

She hung up. She had to get to Sandy fast. Dear, brave, lovable Sandy, who would risk everything for her, even go to jail if need be! Why, that was security! And it was love. Dear, crazy, barnstorming, loyal, steadfast Sandy who was all the thinks that Phil never could be! He wasn't afraid!

Love wasn't something that you kept in a house. It was a thing that lived in the heart. She knew now.

"Mr. Ammerman? Where is he?" she asked the attendant at the desk, near the telephone.

"He just went out. Turned to the right."

She began to run, forgetful of the calico dress and the flopping slippers. Far down the street she saw Sandy. She ran faster. Somebody set up a chase.

"Prisoner escaping! Stop her!"

"I'm not! My fine's paid!" she called back, but she heard the thud of pursuing feet.

Sandy turned. He stopped, startled, and then came running toward her. The crowd waited. She noted that there were sleepless circles under the aviator's eyes and that he needed a shave.

"Quick, Sandy," she said. "We've got to get away. Phil's coming—you're being arrested for kidnaping me." She was pulling at his arm.

He looked down at her and grinned. "Where are we going, nut?"

"Idiot! Canada—any place beyond the law. Wasn't—wasn't that what you wanted?"

The crowd gasped as the man in the khaki aviator's outfit and the girl in the prison garb kissed each other in the middle of the street. Then Sandy hailed a taxicab and told the driver to step on the gas and make the air field.

Inside the cab, he said, "Judy, I've been thinking things over. I was a heel. I'm a poor pilot who can't give you the ballast you need. Still . . ."

She put one hand over his mouth. "There's only one ballast. Loce. I just found out."

How had she thought she could put him out of her mind like one dismissed a book by not reading it any more or a street by never walking down it again? She caught her breath because that was so nearly what she had done.

Sandy opened a paper that was making a bulge in his pocket. "Just picked this up after I left the jail five minutes ago. Maybe I can buy you a house with a couple of trees, if you'll take it small."

Judy read, "Aeronautical Company Bids for Pilot's 'Chute Used in Kidnaping."

"We work together grand," Judy said.

"You said it!" Sandy agreed, and kissed her again.

ALTO CLUB HOLDS REGULAR SESSION

The Alto Cultural club at the Wednesday meeting in the clubroom, listened to Mrs. F. B. Sartor, who spoke on "Education of Youth for Democracy" which was a review of the book "The Heritage of America."

The book is divided into 35 sections, each presenting happenings that are typical of particular eras. Some of the eras of outstanding importance were: "Life in the American Colonies," "White Men and Red," "The Struggle for the Continent," "The Winning of Independence," "The South and Slavery," "Social Life in the Early Republic," "Confederation and Constitution and the Progressive Era."

Miss Mary Noble rendered effectively, "The March of Youth." Miss Pearle LeFevre led the pledge of allegiance to the flag, followed by the "Star Spangled Banner."

Mrs. A. D. Thomason was hostess and served refreshments during the social hour to the following: Mrs. D. R. Sartor, Mrs. Bob McIntyre, Miss Pearle LeFevre, Mrs. W. T. Sartor, Jr., Mrs. F. B. Sartor, Mrs. C. Noble Hatch. Special guests were Miss Mary M. Noble, Mrs. Tom McKay, Mrs. Clyde McKay and Mrs. Roberts.

LABOR PACT SIGNED FOR AMMONIA PLANT

The proposed anhydrous ammonia plant at Sterlington will be constructed by 100 per cent union labor, E. E. Dyer, secretary of the Monroe Central Trades and Labor council, announced yesterday following the signing of the contract by A. H. Watson, general superintendent for M. W. Kellogg company.

Construction and management of the plant is covered in a contract with Commercial Solvents corporation, New York City, which provides, with two separate subcontractors with the M. W. Kellogg company, Jersey City, for engineering designs and construction work.

The contract to use union labor includes all building trades. Nearly all of the labor for plant construction will be hired locally. Six supervisors of the Jersey City company will be in charge. The contract also includes common laborers and covers the union wage scales, Mr. Dyer said.

Nine laborers and one carpenter are now busy getting material for the job.

Will Exhibit Calves At Livestock Show In West Monroe

One of the outstanding features of the livestock show which will be held October 22 through October 26, at the Ouachita Valley Fairgrounds, will be the exhibit of the 4-H club livestock, according to D. L. Bornman, Jr., parish farm demonstration agent.

Thirty-two baby beef calves are being fed by 4-H club members for next spring's shows. They are being supervised by H. B. Fairchild, assistant parish agent, who reports that the club members are all anxiously awaiting the show to place their calves in competition for approximately $100 in cash premiums and 10 show halters which have been donated by local merchants.

Mr. Fairchild also reports a great deal of interest in the competition among the 10 club members who are raising pigs in the Sears cow-sow-hen program. The first prize in this contest will be a $50 heifer to be given by Sears. Other winners will receive pedigreed baby chicks as their reward.

Another feature of the show will be the contest for the district championship in the Sears pig project. The winning pig from each of the 10 parishes in this area will compete for the district prize and the owner of this animal will be given a trip to the International Livestock show to be held in Chicago later this fall. The trip will be given by Sears, Roebuck and Company's local store.

Besides these two features, Mr. Fairchild reports that several of the club members will show pure bred and grade Hereford cattle which they have been raising in connection with the 4-H club livestock work.

LOUISIANA-RAISED TURKEYS INCREASE

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The chances are better than at any previous time that the turkey gracing a Louisiana Thanksgiving dinner table next month will be one who did his gobbling on a Louisiana farm.

The United States department of agriculture's marketing service said the number of Louisiana-raised turkeys on hand was 93,000, compared with 86,000 last year, 78,000 the year before, 68,000 in 1938 and 64,000 for the average of the four preceding years.

While national turkey production is up slightly, the department's report said, "The actual supply for consumption during the holidays will probably be little different from that of last year because of smaller cold-storage holdings, probable increased January, 1942, inventories and increasing all year round consumption."

PROCLAMATION HONORS WOMEN

Gov. Jones Designates Week For Business, Professional Members

Members of the Monroe Business and Professional Women's club will observe the week of October 5-11, set aside nation-wide in their honor. The local members will have a series of events that will culminate in a banquet at Hotel Virginia, Thursday at 8 p.m.

Recognizing the influence of women in the business world, Governor Sam H. Jones has issued the following proclamation:

"Whereas, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs is celebrating the week of October 5 to 11 as National Business Women's week, and

"Whereas, the influence of women has in the past century been extended to every field of thought and activity, and has become a powerful factor in the development and advancement of the nation; and their accomplishments have been outstanding, and

"Whereas, the program theme this year is 'Strengthen Democracy for Defense' and is built around the objective recently adopted that we seek to vitalize the processes of democracy that all peoples may enjoy the basic satisfactions of life in a world at peace,

"Now, therefore, I, Sam H. Jones, governor of the state of Louisiana, do issue this proclamation designating the week of October 5 to 11, 1941, as

"National Business Women's week in recognition of their work and of the contribution of women throughout the country to the progress of this nation in the past century."

BRIDE FROM THE SKY

CHAPTER XXIV

As Judy, escorted by two cheerful officers, entered the side gate to the prisoner's docket, she drew back. She had not expected such an audience. The commissioner for the federal court was in charge today. Suddenly she was aware that her gray calico dress was wrinkled. One foot was encased in an old house slipper, a man's house shoe, size 12, but it did not interfere with the bandages on her arch. She wore its companion on her other foot.

She had neither lipstick, rouge, eyebrow shadow, or a comb to untangle her knotted hair. She looked, she admitted to herself, like a housemaid who had enjoyed a good time somewhere.

Her foot pained a little. There was blood on the bandage. She tried to sit on that foot, but an officer saw the change of position, motioned to the court matron who led her into an inner room where the police doctors cleansed and rebound the wound.

Once more she faced the courtroom. Her eyes went from face to curious face. These people had come to see what an ex-deb, a girl who had made a place for herself among Manhattan's career women, looked like. Some faces were hostile, faces of little people whose streets never had traveled far. More faces were kind and sympathetic, though their outward paths had gone no farther.

When her name was called Judy walked swiftly, trying not to limp, to the witness chair. At the edge of the second step her bandage caught in a torn piece of carpet.

Judy fell across the steps. If she cried she might make an impression on the commissioner. Men hated tears but they usually did something about them. She couldn't cry, though.

She could only laugh. Laugh until she was assisted to the witness chair.

After order had been established in the courtroom, she instinctively addressed the federal commissioner who acted as judge. After all she had nothing to win, nothing to lose.

"Yesterday I was in my stockinged foot—I lost one slipper when I jumped for freedom. My foot got tangled with a nail, you see. And now your worn carpet upset me again. I'm sorry but I can't pay for the medical assistance until I have worked out my fine."

She smiled straight into the eyes of the federal commissioner. She wasn't sure if he smiled or frowned. Life would be rather nice if people would take off their masks. No, it wouldn't. It would be horrible. Life's privacy would be gone. Now she could hate Sandy forever and no one would guess that she might—just might—have liked him a little.

Her case proceeded calmly. She was required to pay a fine of $1,000 and costs. She couldn't. She was led back to her cell after a judicial lecture. Just as she left the court by the side door she thought she saw Sandy entering at the front. So he had come to see how low he had brought her! The door through which she was passing closed so quickly she could not follow him.

Judy was not returned to her cell. Long distance wanted her. It was her father. He said all of the things that she had hoped he would say before. Now they sounded like stilted, ten-penny words. Three things she understood. Sandy had been trying to reach him without result. He had succeeded finally, would accept charges of kidnaping, and his rival was flying to Judy to pay her fine and bring her home.

So it had been Sandy whom she had seen in the courthouse. What did he want? Why had he come?

She hung up. She had to get to Sandy fast. Dear, brave, lovable Sandy, who would risk everything for her, even go to jail if need be! Why, that was security! And it was love. Dear, crazy, barnstorming, loyal, steadfast Sandy who was all the thinks that Phil never could be! He wasn't afraid!

Love wasn't something that you kept in a house. It was a thing that lived in the heart. She knew now.

"Mr. Ammerman? Where is he?" she asked the attendant at the desk, near the telephone.

"He just went out. Turned to the right."

She began to run, forgetful of the calico dress and the flopping slippers Far down the street she saw Sandy. She ran faster. Somebody set up a chase.

"Prisoner escaping! Stop her!"

"I'm not! My fine's paid!" she called back, but she heard the thud of pursuing feet.

Sandy turned. He stopped, startled, and then came running toward her. The crowd waited. She noted that there were sleepless circles under the aviator's eyes and that he needed a shave.

"Quick, Sandy," she said. "We've got to get away. Phil's coming—you're being arrested for kidnaping me." She was pulling at his arm.

He looked down at her and grinned. "Where are we going, nut?"

"Idiot! Canada—any place beyond the law. Wasn't—wasn't that what you wanted?"

The crowd gasped as the man in the khaki aviator's outfit and the girl in the prison garb kissed each other in the middle of the street. Then Sandy hailed a taxicab and told the driver to step on the gas and make the air field.

FURNITURE WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Local Dealers Plan Several Special Events For Public

National Furniture Week will be observed by Monroe furniture dealers this week, with several special events planned for the public, it was announced Saturday.

Special displays will be arranged in celebration of the week and the chief event will be open house to be held at various stores next Thursday night, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Stores which have announced their plans to participate in the observance are Durrett's, Monroe Furniture company, Montgomery Ward, Dixie Bedding and Furniture company, Home Furniture company and the Household Supply company.

The main feature at the Monroe Furniture company will be an exhibition of model rooms which will be decorated by various women's clubs of the Twin Cities, showing the talent and artistry displayed by local women. The public is invited to inspect the rooms during the open house Thursday night. According to Lester Scharff, general manager of the firm, the event has been planned months ahead and great pains have been taken to make the displays the most brilliant ever shown at the store.

Other stores likewise will display model rooms, showing the newest and most interesting styles of furniture of all types. Each store will present colorful new treatments of both old and new period pieces.

For instance, Durrett's has arranged several beautifully furnished model rooms; Dixie Bedding and Furniture company will show in their Williamsburg Galleries reproductions of beautiful colonial furniture in famous homes at Williamsburg, Va.; Montgomery Ward will feature their outstanding line of Hallmark fine furniture; Home Furniture company will present newest pieces in the Pullman "Deep South" line and other quality brands of furniture, and the Household Supply company has an equally attractive presentation for those who visit their store during National Furniture Week and particularly on open house Thursday night.

This event has been an unqualified success in the past and furniture dealers have issued an especial invitation to all persons in the Twin Cities and northeast Louisiana to visit their stores during the coming event.

NEW INSTRUCTORS AT NORTHEAST JUNIOR COLLEGE

SOUTHERN TEAMS CLASSY IN TILTS

rated well up in early season forecasts, took a frightful 28-7 beating from Marquette, making its first start under its new coach, Tom Stidham.

Fordham had to come from behind to beat Southern Methodist's Mustangs, 16-10, and start the season off on the right foot. After Joe Pasqua's fourth period field goal had given the Mustangs a 10-7 edge, Steve Hudacek booted one a little later to even the count, and then Steve Filipowicx tossed a pass to Blackie Blumenstock in the last 38 seconds for a touchdown and the ball game.

Yale, opening Spike Nelson's coaching regime, gave the east another sensational intersectional victory. The Elis spotted Bill Dudley and Virginia 19 points in the first half and then, led by sophomores, pulled the game out of the fire in the last half, 21-19. John Petty's touchdown in the second period enabled Purdue to halt Pitt 6-0, and Army outpointed Citadel, 19-6, in other intersectional tests.

Penn, defending champions in the Ivy league, put a fast, inexperienced team on the field against Harvard's veterans and spilled them easily, 19-0. Ken Stofer scored a second period touchdown and that was all Cornell needed to whip Syracuse 6-0. Paul Governali's passing carried Columbia to a 13-6 decision over Brown; Colgate stopped Penn State, 7-0, as Jo Jo McCourt scored the game's lone touchdown; New York university halted Lafayette, 6-0.

Michigan's Wolverines opened the Western conference season with a hard-earned 6-0 defeat of Iowa with Tom Kuzma scoring the touchdown. Northwestern uncovered a flock of brilliant sophomores and ran over Kansas State, 51-3, as Otto Graham scored three touchdowns, one on a 90-yard run, and passed for another.

Nebraska opened the Big Six season with a 14-0 conquest of Iowa State. Missouri had little trouble with Colorado, 21-6, and Kansas stopped Washington university (St. Louis), 19-6. Texas Christian took a Southwest conference test from Arkansas, 9-0.

Clemson's Southern conference champions spilled North Carolina State, 27-6. Washington and Lee put up a fine fight against Kentucky but bowed, 7-0.

Out in the far west, upset followed upset and only Stanford's Indians, Rose Bowl champions, held up for the form players. Stanford scored almost at will against U. C. L. A., and won, 33-0.

At Los Angeles, a crowd of 60,000 was stunned by Ohio State's brilliant offensive as the Buckeyes handed Southern California an unmerciful and unexpected 33-0 beating. Washington's Huskies, figured as a sure contender for the Pacific coast crown, were beaten by Oregon State, 9-6 while California's Golden Bears were victims of a shocking upset at the hands of Washington State, 13-6.

Colorado State took a Rocky Mountain Big Seven game from Wyoming, 27-0.

VETERAN EDITOR IN MISSISSIPPI EXPIRES

MONTICELLO, Miss., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Joseph Dale, 70, editor and publisher of the Lawrence County Press here for 53 years and dean of Mississippi newspapermen, died suddenly today after an illnes sof several months.

Dale was named to the hall of fame of Mississippi Press association three years ago on the 50th anniversary of the founding of his newspaper. It failed to appear weekly only twice since its founding in 1888.

Dale learned the newspaper profession as a boy from his father, publisher of an earlier paper here.

Last January Dale was forced to undergo an operation, aand asked his readers to send in their subscriptions as early as possible. He explained he was like many another county editor who "never has made any money but never has wanted."

His readers responded, and the operation was performed

The funeral will be held tomorrow at the Monticello Baptist church, of which the publisher was treasurer. For many years he was town clerk of Monticello.

Survivors are two sons, J. M. Dale, Monticello, and James P. Dale, editor of the Water Valley Herald, and three daughters, Mrs. P. K. McLain, Mrs. C. E. Earnes and Miss Floyd Dale, Monticello.

where the Red army was said to be pounding at the German flank on the Perekop isthmus in the hope of trapping the Nazis.

Helping to bolster the spirits of anti-Nazis in conquered European countries, Britain's R. A. F. reported it had raided from Denmark to France Friday night and Saturday, with particularly heavy blows at Rotterdam, Antwerp and Dunkerque.

The English channel area remained quiet in expectation of the swap of wounded British and German prisoners, which the British said had been delayed by German demands and by the vagaries of the tides.

British sources said the Germans insisted that under the Geneva convention they were entitled to return of all prisoners "medically unfit for further military service," regardless of whether there were enough captive Britons of this category to make a man-for-man trade.

The British expected the argument to be settled, but the 1,500 wounded Germans aboard ships at Newhaven England, had to wait on a settlement and on a high tide.

In the Far East, the Japanese army began big-scale maneuvers in French Indo-China. Their numbers were not disclosed, but were so large that many observers at Saigon expressed belief that southern Asia's zero hour was at hand.

The United States and British military chiefs in the Far East and the Philippines conferred at Manila.

In China proper, the Japanese claimed capture of Chengchow, the city in Honan province where the Chinese forestalled them in 1938 by loosing the flood waters of the Yellow river.

DIVISION AIDED BY AXIS AIRMEN

dispatch from Sofia, capital of the axis partner Bulgaria, reported that bands of Greeks who had invaded the Bulgarian-occupied Drama district of Eastern Macedonia a week ago had been annihilated.

The Greeks crossed from Greek territory armed with rifles and machine guns and tried to rouse the Greek inhabitants of several Drama localities to join them in revolt. They were reported wiped out after severe skirmishes.

It was disclosed that a bomb explosion Tuesday in the headquarters of the Belgian Rexist (Fascist) movement in Brussels killed a secretary, Jean Oedekerke, in the offices of Rexist militarized groups. Political foes of the Rexists were blamed.

Seven more persons were executed in Prague Saturday for treasonable activity, it was announced in Berlin.

Berlin wondered whether Adolf Hitler himself had been conferring on the rebellious situation in the Czech protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia with the strong man he recently sent there to restore order—Secret Police General Heinrich Heydrich. Such conjecture arose because General Heydrich went to Berlin Friday to hear the Fuehrer's speech in the sportspalast and walked by Hitler's side into the huge auditorium.

In this connection it was recalled that General Alois Elias, the premier of Bohemia and Moravia, was under a death sentence which only Hitler could commute.

German sources in Berlin reported a number of new executions in the Czech protectorate.

The German military commander for Belgium and northern France acted to prevent another form of opposition to German rule by decreeing the death penalty for Belgians or Frenchmen attempting to join the armed forces of a nation at war with Germany, and for even inducing others to join.

King Haakon's decree followed bitter clashes in Norway between Norwegians and the German occupation forces. In one instance disorders spread throughout the entire town of Steinkjer, near Trondheim, as the aftermath of an incident in which Norwegians walked out on German soldiers who entered a cafe.

SIMON NAMED ON COURT OF APPEALS

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The supreme court announced appointment of Judge James D. Simon of the 16th judicial district as active judge of the Orleans parish court of appeals.

Judge Simon who has held the district bench since 1925, replaces Judge E. Howard McCaleb, Jr., now acting justice of the state supreme court in the unfinished term of the late Justice J. R. Land which expires December 31, 1942.

Judge Simon presided at the 1927 trial of Mrs. Ada Lebeuef and Dr. Thomas E. Dreher, both of whom were executed for the murder of Joseph Lebeuef, husband of the woman.

Both judges were expected to serve in acting capacities until Judge Land's successor is named. Judge Simon's district duties are being handled by District Judge J. A. Landry in the 16th district.

UKRAINE GIVING GERMANY LITTLE

people who were being turned as rapidly as possible from an agrarian race into an industrial one.

As the production of tractors increased, practically all the horses and oxen disappeared, until today the number of draft animals left in the Ukraine is very limited. The farmers have plenty of tractors and other agricultural machines, but it takes gasoline to run them. And gasoline is the vital war necessity of which Germany is shortest.

Unless Germany is willing to tap its reserve supplies of gasoline to provide fuel to run the tractors of the Ukraine next spring, food production from the conquered territory in 1942 will be very small.

The only alternative to gasoline would be for the Germans to ship in from other parts of Europe the horses to draw the plows. But in a scarcity economy such as prevails all over the continent of Europe today this would merely halt production elsewhere. Nor would it be possible with horse-drawn farm implements to achieve anything like the normal grain production of the Ukraine under the mechanized agriculture which has been developed in the last two decades.

The problem of the Ukraine therefore becomes, like everything else for Germany, a problem of oil, the nearest supply of which is at least 900 miles beyond the furthest penetration of the Nazi armies in the direction of Kharkov.

And with the conquest of a substantial portion of the Ukraine the reasons why Germany is driven on even more relentlessly toward a new oil supply are increased in number. The main military question is whether it would be easier for them to go through Russia to Baku or through Turkey into conflict with the British Middle Eastern army for the control of Iraq and Iran.

In any conflict of opinion on that subject at least as much importance must be given to the case of getting oil out from the area after the fields are taken as is given to the difficulty of taking the area.

In that respect the Baku fields have much greater attraction for the Germans. There is a pipeline from Baku to Batum on the Black sea, and another from Makhach Kala further up the Caspian to Tuapse on the Black sea. This second line branches off to Nikitovka in the Donets basin.

It would be much easier for the Germans to get out from any of the three terminals of these pipelines across the protected Black sea or the Ukraine than it would to get from the Iraq and Iran fields which can be delivered by pipeline only to the Mediterranean ports of Haifa and Tripoli.

In the second case the oil would have to be brought through waters dominated by the British navy before it could reach Germany; in the first case it would not. That makes Baku a much more likely ultimate German objective than any area in the Middle East.

BAR WILL CONDUCT MEMORIAL SERVICES

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Memorial services for members of the Louisiana judiciary and bar who have died the past year will be held Monday at 11 a.m. before the state supreme court.

The exercises will be held under auspices of the Louisiana State Bar association. Charles Payne Fenner, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the association, announced today.

Among those to be memorialized are the late John Rutherford Land, of Shreveport, former associate justice of the supreme court; Hugh C. Cage, former Orleans parish civil district court judge and Walter T. Gilmore, Morgan City, former judge of the 16th judicial district court.

The eulogy to Justice Land will be delivered by Elmp P. Lee, Shreveport attorney who will present a portrait of Land on behalf of the bar association.

FURNITURE WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Local Dealers Plan Several Special Events For Public

National Furniture Week will be observed by Monroe furniture dealers this week, with several special events planned for the public, it was announced Saturday.

Special displays will be arranged in celebration of the week and the chief event will be open house to be held at various stores next Thursday night, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Stores which have announced their plans to participate in the observance are Durrett's, Monroe Furniture company, Montgomery Ward, Dixie Bedding and Furniture company, Home Furniture company and the Household Supply company.

The main feature at the Monroe Furniture company will be an exhibition of model rooms which will be decorated by various women's clubs of the Twin Cities, showing the talent and artistry displayed by local women. The public is invited to inspect the rooms during the open house Thursday night. According to Lester Scharff, general manager of the firm, the event has been planned months ahead and great pains have been taken to make the displays the most brilliant ever shown at the store.

Other stores likewise will display model rooms, showing the newest and most interesting styles of furniture of all types. Each store will present colorful new treatments of both old and new period pieces.

For instance, Durrett's has arranged several beautifully furnished model rooms; Dixie Bedding and Furniture company will show in their Williamsburg Galleries reproductions of beautiful colonial furniture in famous homes at Williamsburg, Va.; Montgomery Ward will feature their outstanding line of Hallmark fine furniture; Home Furniture company will present newest pieces in the Pullman "Deep South" line and other quality brands of furniture, and the Household Supply company has an equally attractive presentation for those who visit their store during National Furniture Week and particularly on open house Thursday night.

This event has been an unqualified success in the past and furniture dealers have issued an especial invitation to all persons in the Twin Cities and northeast Louisiana to visit their stores during the coming event.

NEW INSTRUCTORS AT NORTHEAST JUNIOR COLLEGE

rated well up in early season forecasts, took a frightful 28-7 beating from Marquette, making its first start under its new coach, Tom Stidham.

Fordham had to come from behind to beat Southern Methodist's Mustangs, 16-10, and start the season off on the right foot. After Joe Pasqua's fourth period field goal had given the Mustangs a 10-7 edge, Steve Hudacek footed one a little later to even the count, and then Steve Filipowiex tossed a pass to Blackie Blumenstock in the last 38 seconds for a touchdown and the ball game.

Yale, opening Spike Nelson's coaching regime, gave the east another sensational intersectional victory. The Elis spotted Bill Dudley and Virginia 19 points in the first half and then, led by sophomores, pulled the game out of the fire in the last half, 21-19. John Petty's touchdown in the second period enabled Purdue to halt Pitt 6-0, and Army outpointed Citadel, 19-6, in other intersectional tests.

Penn, defending champions in the Ivy league, put a fast, inexperienced team on the field against Harvard's veterans and spilled them easily, 19-0. Ken Stofer scored a second period touchdown and that was all Cornell needed to whip Syracuse 6-0. Paul Governali's passing carried Columbia to a 13-6 decision over Brown; Colgate stopped Penn State, 7-0, as Jo Jo McCourt scored the game's lone touchdown; New York university halted Lafayette, 6-0.

Michigan's Wolverines opened the Western conference season with a hard-earned 6-0 defeat of Iowa with Tom Kuzma scoring the touchdown. Northwestern uncovered a flock of brilliant sophomores and ran over Kansas State, 51-3, as Otto Graham scored three touchdowns, one on a 90-yard run, and passed for another.

Nebraska opened the Big Six season with a 14-0 conquest of Iowa State. Missouri had little trouble with Colorado, 21-6, and Kansas stopped Washington university (St. Louis), 19-6. Texas Christian took a Southwest conference test from Arkansas, 9-0.

Clemson's Southern conference champions spilled North Carolina State, 27-6. Washington and Lee put up a fine fight against Kentucky but bowed, 7-0.

Out in the far west, upset followed upset and only Stanford's Indians, Rose Bowl champions, held up for the form players. Stanford scored almost at will against U. C. L. A., and won, 33-0.

At Los Angeles, a crowd of 60,000 was stunned by Ohio State's brilliant offensive as the Buckeyes handed Southern California an unmerciful and unexpected 33-0 beating. Washington's Huskies, figured as a sure contender for the Pacific coast crown, were beaten by Oregon State, 9-6 while California's Golden Bears were victims of a shocking upset at the hands of Washington State, 13-6.

Colorado State took a Rocky Mountain Big Seven game from Wyoming, 27-0.

VETERAN EDITOR IN MISSISSIPPI EXPIRES

MONTICELLO, Miss., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Joseph Dale, 70, editor and publisher of the Lawrence County Press here for 53 years and dean of Mississippi newspapermen, died suddenly today after an illnes sof several months.

Dale was named to the hall of fame of Mississippi Press association three years ago on the 50th anniversary of the founding of his newspaper. It failed to appear weekly only twice since its founding in 1888.

Dale learned the newspaper profession as a boy from his father, publisher of an earlier paper here.

Last January Dale was forced to undergo an operation, aand asked his readers to send in their subscriptions as early as possible. He explained he was like many another county editor who "never has made any money but never has wanted."

His readers responded, and the operation was performed.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at the Monticello Baptist church, of which the publisher was treasurer. For many years he was town clerk of Monticello.

Survivors are two sons, J. M. Dale, Monticello, and James P. Dale, editor of the Water Valley Herald, and three daughters, Mrs. P. K. McLain, Mrs. C. E. Earnes and Miss Floyd Dale, Monticello.

NAZIS WORRIED ON BOTH FLANKS

where the Red army was said to be pounding at the German flank on the Perekop isthmus in the hope of trapping the Nazis.

Helping to bolster the spirits of anti-Nazis in conquered European countries, Britain's R. A. F. reported it had raided from Denmark to France Friday night and Saturday, with particularly heavy blows at Rotterdam, Antwerp and Dunkerque.

The English channel area remained quiet in expectation of the swap of wounded British and German prisoners, which the British said had been delayed by German demands and by the vagaries of the tides.

British sources said the Germans insisted that under the Geneva convention they were entitled to return of all prisoners "medically unfit for further military service," regardless of whether there were enough captive Britons of this category to make a man-for-man trade.

The British expected the argument to be settled, but the 1,500 wounded Germans aboard ships at Newhaven England, had to wait on a settlement and on a high tide.

In the Far East, the Japanese army began big-scale maneuvers in French Indo-China. Their numbers were not disclosed, but were so large that many observers at Saigon expressed belief that southern Asia's zero hour was at hand.

The United States and British military chiefs in the Far East and the Philippines conferred at Manila.

In China proper, the Japanese claimed capture of Chengchow, the city in Honan province where the Chinese forestalled them in 1938 by loosing the flood waters of the Yellow river.

dispatch from Sofia, capital of the axis partner Bulgaria, reported that bands of Greeks who had invaded the Bulgarian-occupied Drama district of Eastern Macedonia a week ago had been annihilated.

The Greeks crossed from Greek territory armed with rifles and machine guns and tried to rouse the Greek inhabitants of several Drama localities to join them in revolt. They were reported wiped out after severe skirmishes.

It was disclosed that a bomb explosion Tuesday in the headquarters of the Belgian Rexist (Fascist) movement in Brussels killed a secretary, Jean Oedekerke, in the offices of Rexist militarized groups. Political foes of the Rexists were blamed.

Seven more persons were executed in Prague Saturday for treasonable activity, it was announced in Berlin.

Berlin wondered whether Adolf Hitler himself had been conferring on the rebellious situation in the Czech protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia with the strong man he recently sent there to restore order—Secret Police General Heinrich Heydrich. Such conjecture arose because General Heydrich went to Berlin Friday to hear the Fuehrer's speech in the sportspalast and walked by Hitler's side into the huge auditorium.

In this connection it was recalled that General Alois Elias, the premier of Bohemia and Moravia, was under a death sentence which only Hitler could commute.

German sources in Berlin reported a number of new executions in the Czech protectorate.

The German military commander for Belgium and northern France acted to prevent another form of opposition to German rule by decreeing the death penalty for Belgians or Frenchmen attempting to join the armed forces of a nation at war with Germany, and for even inducing others to join.

York Yankees a 2 to 1 triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers today and gave the Yanks a two to one advantage in the games played.

But the memory that was printed indelibly in the minds of the 33,100 sweltering fans who jammed this little park for Brooklyn's first series show in 21 years was the gallant fight of old Fred Fitzsimmons until a line drive struck him on the left leg in the seventh inning and knocked him out of the ball game.

The fat, 40-year-old knuckle ball expert who in his younger days as a star of the New York Giants was beaten three times in world series contests, battled beautifully in a scoreless hurling duel that kept every fan in suspense while it lasted and brought them to their feet cheering time after time.

Then with two out in the seventh, Russo ripped off a vicious line drive that struck topheavy old Fitz inches above the left knee and bounced high in the air. Pee Wee Reese caught the ball to end the inning, but Fitzsimmons had to be helped off the field and later was taken to New York hospital for X-rays to determine whether the kneecap might have been broken.

His removal let down the dykes to the power of the Yankees and after Johnny Sturm had flied out to open the eighth against Relief Pitcher Hugh Casey, Red Rolfe, Tom Henrich, Joe DiMaggio and Charley Keller blasted four consecutive singles for two runs.

Larry French, Brooklyn's only left-hander, then came in to make Bill Dickey ground into a double play and Johnny Allen pitched hitless ball in the final frame.

The Dodgers tried to recover the lost ground in their half of the eighth when Dixie Walker led off with a double in right center. Russo put his thumb down on the next two batters, throwing out Mickey Owen and striking out Pinchhitter Augie Galan, but Reese shot a sizzling single into the rightfield corner to score Walker.

Then Russo made Pete Coscarart pop up in the infield and the Dodgers' chance expired.

The 27-year-old southpaw star, who grew up on the streets of Brooklyn and became a great athlete for Long Island university, pitched magnificently all the way and allowed only four hits.

He was a trifle wild at the start, but got steadier as he went along. After walking one man in each of the first two innings he didn't give another pass during the rest of the game.

The only hit off him in the first six innings was comic, Joe Medwick, a slugger of good repute, topped a

NEVILLE TO FACE FARMERVILLE '11'

Tigers To Play Much Tougher Team Than In Season Opener

The Neville High school Tigers, after a week of rest with an open date, get to work this week for their second Class A conference battle of the season Friday night at Neville stadium with the Farmerville High school Farmers.

The Bengals won their first conference game by stopping Oak Grove a week ago, 27 to 7, but they can expect the Farmers to be much tougher than the West Carroll eleven. The locals managed to beat Farmerville in a free-scoring game, 20 to 13, last year, and it wouldn't be surprising if the score was just the other way around Friday night.

Coach "Doc" Elliott has most of his top performers back from last season, including the Albritton brothers and the stellar Tom Davis.

Neville's best offensive play of the season was displayed against Oak Grove with Quarterback J. M. Head looking particularly good on delayed line bucks and off tackle plays, and the line looked much better with Jack and Bill Dyer, "Bud" Slaughter, J. B. Simmons, Hugo Moss and Harold Williamson outstanding.

But Coach Percy Brown spent the past off-week perfecting a change in his lineup, and Neville fans Friday night will see "Bud" Slaughter, 170-pound tackle and heaviest player on the team, performing at the fullback position on the offense. Slaughter's addition to the backfield is expected to greatly strengthen Neville's offensive power.

He will continue to play defensive tackle, however.

Scrimmage sessions, long and hard, dominated daily workouts the past week, and after the week-end rest, the Tigers will again begin heavy work tomorrow through Wednesday.

So far the Bengals have not been bothered with injuries and should be at their full strength for the Farmers.

BAYOU BENGALS NEVER THREATEN LONGHORN GOAL

Gallant Tigers Fail To Get Inside Texas' 30, Make 3 First Downs

By Bill Keys

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The Orange Wave of the University of Texas, which threatens to engulf six other members of the Southwest football conference, showed its vast power today by rolling over a gallant Louisiana State university eleven 34-0 before 19,000 fans.

Despite rain and mud, the Steers, reaching deep into their reserve strength to conserve regulars, humbled the Tigers with a brilliant ground and air attack.

Seven minutes after the kickoff bounding Pete Layden, Steer fullback, alternating with fleet Jack Crain, worked the ball from the L. S. U. 40 to the seven and Layden dashed over. Malcolm Kutner blocked Gerald Hightower's punt to set up the initial Longhorn score.

After that it was the Steers all the way, blocking, kicking, running and passing with precision.

The Tigers never got inside the Texas 30. They made only three first downs to Texas' 14. The Steers piled up 268 yards by rushing compared with the Tigers' 19 and passed for 113 yards against 29 for L. S. U.

Layden contributed a second marker and Crain tallied one before the reserves went in to add two more, one by Max Minor and another by Walton Roberts.

Texas scored in every period save the fourth.

GEORGIA TECH RUNS OVER CHATTANOOGA

Win, 20 To 0, Before 10,000 Bored Customers

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Putting their minds on their work only at rare intervals, Georgia Tech's footballers ambled to a 20-0 season opening victory over Chattanooga before 10,000 bored customers today.

An opening line-up of reserves wasn't able to go anywhere against the scrappy Moccasins in the first period so Tech Coach Bill Alexander sent in the old hands, headed by Johnny Bosch, late in the opening frame.

A fumble stopped them at the goal once but just after the second period opened, Bosch swept wide to his right for the last yard to a score and Jack Helms kicked the point.

The home folks settled back for the expected rout but it didn't develop as the 'Noogas fought back and even staged some offensive thrusts of their own.

The fourth quarter was under way before Davey Eldredge, a Miami sophomore, hit the cash register again by leaping high on the visitors' 25 to snatch a pass by Sibley Evans and race to a score.

Just before game end, Preston West grabbed a pass by Chattanooga's Bill Hamil and hauled it 35 yards to the Moccasin 10. On the first play, Bosch hit Eldredge deep in the end zone and then kicked the point.

MISSOURI OVERWHELMS COLORADO TEAM, 21-6

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Missouri overwhelmed Colorado 21-6 today in a downpour that at times nearly obliterated the gridiron.

The Tigers splashed to two touchdowns in the second quarter and another in the third after tallying on a safety in the opening period. Colorado's touchdown came in the final quarter against second and third stringers.

TRIBE GETS REST UNTIL OCTOBER 17

Indians Have Two Weeks To Practice For Tilt With Henderson

The Northeast Junior college of L. S. U. Indians will get all their work this week on the practice field only, as they have an open date and will not be called upon to face another foe until Friday, October 17, when they meet the Henderson State Teachers of Arkansas at Brown field.

Henderson State, first of two four-year schools on the locals' schedule, Friday night battled Stephen F. Austin to a 13 and 13 tie while the Tribesmen were routing Northwest Mississippi, 25 to 6.

According to reports Henderson has a good senior eleven this year, and the Reddies are preparing to go "all out" in an effort to hang up their first victory over the Redskins.

Henderson matched the Tribe touchdown for touchdown last year in a thrilling game at Arkadelphia, but the locals managed to make good use of points after touchdowns to win, 20 to 18. That was the closest the Reddies ever came to trimming the Indians in their six years of gridiron rivalry, but they believe this is their year and hope to make up in a big way for six previous drubbings.

James McElroy, veteran quarterback, was the only casualty in Friday night's battle with Northwest Mississippi, but he is expected to be ready for action in the Henderson game. He suffered a badly bruised side and may miss a few workouts this week.

Broken nose or no broken nose, Clayton Brown, Monroe's own addition to the Tribe this year, looked like a powerhouse working against the Mississippians Friday. He didn't get warmed up until the last half, but his line plunges accounted for plenty of yardage in the final quarters. His nose was broken in the Copiah-Lincoln game and he played with a mask over his face against the Rangers.

S. E. Holloway, the Lake Providence product, was also outstanding in the Tribe backfield, particularly on off tackle jaunts and end runs.

In fact the entire first eleven and the No. 1 reserves looked impressive throughout the game, but the mass of freshman reserves who performed in the last quarter showed they need more work, especially on the defense.

With two weeks in which to prepare for the Reddies, Coach James L. Malone said no time would be lost preparing for the invasion. Hard workouts begin tomorrow and will continue throughout this week and the first half of next week. The two weeks lapse between games is expected to help injured members get back into shape.

SERIES GAME TODAY TO START AT 1 P. M.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Tomorrow's world series game between the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees will start at 1 p. m. Monroe time instead of the 12:30 getaway of the weekday games because of a Sabbath law.

Maybe folks who had trouble getting used to the change from daylight time will find this one easier.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN BEATS ARKANSAS

Horned Frog Defense Shines In Well-Earned, 9-To-0, Triumph

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Texas Christian had everything especially defense in Razorback stadium today as the Horned Frogs gained a well earned 9 to 0 victory over the University of Arkansas Razorbacks in the opening Southwest conference football game before 6,000 rain-drenched fans.

The Frogs took advantage of the wind to score twice, once in the second period when Frog End Phil Roach leaped above the Porker's small back, Max Salling, to grab a 31-yard touchdown pass from Kyle Gillespie, who looked like shades of Sammy Baugh and Davey O'Brien, T. C. U. greats of other years. The aerial climaxed a 45-yard drive.

In the third quarter, the Porker line momentarily held the Frogs on the Arkansas 14 and substitute back Frank Medanich place-kicked directly between the uprights with substitute Dean Bagley holding the ball, which was placed down on the 23.

The Frogs threatened the Porkers' goal line on several other occasions and had what looked like a 15-yard touchdown run by back Nolan Sparks called back in the third period when a teammate was offside. Later in the same quarter, Bagley rifled an aerial to Roach for a 14-yard gain to Arkansas' three but another offside set the Frogs back to the 19.

CONFERENCE GRID RATINGS REVISED

Tulane Appears To Be The Team To Beat In Southeastern Race

ATLANTA, Oct. 4.—(AP)—A 19-to-0 defeat of the mighty Volunteers of Tennessee by Duke and the 14-to-0 win of Mississippi State over highly rated Alabama today scrambled Southeastern football conference ratings although the season is just getting underway.

Played at Durham and one of the headliner games of the day, the Tennessee-Duke game attracted 45,000 spectators, and ended Tennessee's string of victories in regular season games at 34.

At Tuscaloosa Mississippi State dominated the play throughout the game with Alabama.

Tulane, playing at New Orleans, retained the power and precision shown in a successful bid against Boston college last Saturday to overwhelm the Auburn Plainsmen, 32 to 0.

Another Louisiana powerhouse, Louisiana State, at the same time was taking a 34-to-0 beating from a powerful University of Texas team at Austin.

At Lexington the University of Kentucky managed to score one touchdown—a 63-yard dash down the sidelines by Noah Mullins—to defeat Washington and Lee, 7 to 0. The University of Mississippi, coming back from last week's upset defeat by Georgetown, beat Southwestern of Memphis, 27 to 0, and Vanderbilt scored in each quarter to run up a 42-to-0 score against little Tennessee Tech. Ole Miss played at Oxford and Vandy at Nashville.

Georgia Tech, playing in Atlanta, chalked up a 20-to-0 victory over a scrappy Chattanooga team.

Two of the conference teams played night games, Florida meeting Tampa at Gainesville and the University of Georgia taking on South Carolina at Athens.

VANDERBILT DOWNS EAGLE SQUAD, 42-0

Commodores Are Impressive In Easy Victory

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The most aggressive Vanderbilt football team in years smashed its way to an impressive 42 to 0 triumph over stubborn little Tennessee Tech today before 6,000 sun-baked spectators.

The Commodores got off to a slow start, requiring more than 12 minutes to push over their first touchdown, but after the first period, the big black horde began to roll virtually at will.

The statistics give the best picture of the superiority of the Commodores, who piled up 21 first downs against none for Tech and rushed the ball a total of 406 yards while the Golden Eagles were pushed back for a minus 14 net yardage.

YANKEES WIN, 2-1, TO LEAD IN SERIES, 2-1

reddie Fitzsimmons Holds Yanks Scoreless Until He Is Injured

By Judson Bailey

EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN, Oct. —(AP)—Masterful pitching by Marius usso, a young southpaw with a sick omach, and four quick singles in he eighth inning brought the New York Yankees a 2 to 1 triumph over he Brooklyn Dodgers today and gave he Yanks a two to one advantage in he games played.

But the memory that was printed indelibly in the minds of the 33,100 sweltering fans who jammed this little ark for Brooklyn's first series show n 21 years was the gallant fight of old Fred Fitzsimmons until a line drive struck him on the left leg in he seventh inning and knocked him out of the ball game.

The fat, 40-year-old knuckle ball expert who in his younger days as a star of the New York Giants was beaten three times in world series contests, battled beautifully in a scoreless hurling duel that kept every fan in suspense while it lasted and brought them to their feet cheering time after time.

Then with two out in the seventh, Russo ripped off a vicious line drive that struck topheavy old Fitz inches above the left knee and bounced high in the air. Pee Wee Reese caught the ball to end the inning, but Fitzsimmons had to be helped off the field and later was taken to New York hospital for X-rays to determine whether the kneecap might have been broken.

His removal let down the dykes to the power of the Yankees and after Johnny Sturm had flied out to open the eighth against Relief Pitcher Hugh Casey, Red Rolfe, Tom Henrich, Joe DiMaggio and Charley Keller blasted four consecutive singles for two runs.

Larry French, Brooklyn's only lefthander, then came in to make Bill Dickey ground into a double play and Johnny Allen pitched hitless ball in the final frame.

The Dodgers tried to recover the lost ground in their half of the eighth when Dixie Walker led off with a double in right center. Russo put his thumb down on the next two batters, throwing out Mickey Owen and striking out Pinchhitter Augie Galan, but Reese shot a sizzling single into the rightfield corner to score Walker.

Then Russo made Pete Coscarart pop up in the infield and the Dodgers' chance expired.

The 27-year-old southpaw star, who grew up on the streets of Brooklyn and became a great athlete for Long Island university, pitched magnificently all the way and allowed only four hits.

He was a trifle wild at the start, but got steadier as he went along. After walking one man in each of the first two innings he didn't give another pass during the rest of the game.

The only hit off him in the first six innings was comic. Joe Medwick, a slugger of good repute, topped a

NEVILLE TO FACE FARMERVILLE '11'

Tigers To Play Much Tougher Team Than In Season Opener

The Neville High school Tigers, after a week of rest with an open date, get to work this week for their second Class A conference battle of the season Friday night at Neville stadium with the Farmerville High school Farmers.

The Bengals won their first conference game by stopping Oak Grove a week ago, 27 to 7, but they can expect the Farmers to be much tougher than the West Carroll eleven. The locals managed to beat Farmerville in a free-scoring game, 20 to 13, last year, and it wouldn't be surprising if the score was just the other way around Friday night.

Coach "Doc" Elliott has most of his top performers back from last season, including the Albritton brothers and the stellar Tom Davis.

Neville's best offensive play of the season was displayed against Oak Grove with Quarterback J. M. Head looking particularly good on delayed line bucks and off tackle plays, and the line looked much better with Jack and Bill Dyer, "Bud" Slaughter, J. B. Simmons, Hugo Moss and Harold Williamson outstanding.

But Coach Percy Brown spent the past off-week perfecting a change in his lineup, and Neville fans Friday night will see "Bud" Slaughter, 170-pound tackle and heaviest player on the team, performing at the fullback position on the offense. Slaughter's addition to the backfield is expected to greatly strengthen Neville's offensive power.

He will continue to play defensive tackle, however.

Scrimmage sessions, long and hard, dominated daily workouts the past week, and after the week-end rest, the Tigers will again begin heavy work tomorrow through Wednesday.

So far the Bengals have not been bothered with injuries and should be at their full strength for the Farmers.

BAYOU BENGALS NEVER THREATEN LONGHORN GOAL

Gallant Tigers Fail To Get Inside Texas' 30, Make 3 First Downs

By Bill Keys

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The Orange Wave of the University of Texas, which threatens to engulf six other members of the Southwest football conference, showed its vast power today by rolling over a gallant Louisiana State university eleven 34-0 before 19,000 fans.

Despite rain and mud, the Steers, reaching deep into their reserve strength to conserve regulars, humbled the Tigers with a brilliant ground and air attack.

Seven minutes after the kickoff bounding Pete Layden, Steer fullback, alternating with fleet Jack Crain, worked the ball from the L. S. U. 40 to the seven and Layden dashed over. Malcolm Kutner blocked Gerald Hightower's punt to set up the initial Longhorn score.

After that it was the Steers all the way, blocking, kicking, running and passing with precision.

The Tigers never got inside the Texas 30. They made only three first downs to Texas' 14. The Steers piled up 268 yards by rushing compared with the Tigers' 19 and passed for 113 yards against 29 for L. S. U.

Layden contributed a second marker and Crain tallied one before the reserves went in to add two more, one by Max Minor and another by Walton Roberts.

Texas scored in every period save the fourth.

GEORGIA TECH RUNS OVER CHATTANOOGA

Win, 20 To 0, Before 10,000 Bored Customers

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Putting their minds on their work only at rare intervals, Georgia Tech's footballers ambled to a 20-0 season opening victory over Chattanooga before 10,000 bored customers today.

An opening line-up of reserves wasn't able to go anywhere against the scrappy Moccasins in the first period so Tech Coach Bill Alexander sent in the old hands, headed by Johnny Bosch, late in the opening frame.

A fumble stopped them at the goal once but just after the second period opened, Bosch swept wide to his right for the last yard to a score and Jack Helms kicked the point.

The home folks settled back for the expected rout but it didn't develop as the Noogas fought back and even staged some offensive thrusts of their own.

The fourth quarter was under way before Davey Eldredge, a Miami sophomore, hit the cash register again by leaping high on the visitors' 25 to snatch a pass by Sibley Evans and race to a score.

Just before game end, Preston West grabbed a pass by Chattanooga's Bill Hamil and hauled it 35 yards to the Moccasin 10. On the first play, Bosch hit Eldredge deep in the end zone and then kicked the point.

MISSOURI OVERWHELMS COLORADO TEAM, 21-6

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Missouri overwhelmed Colorado 21-6 today in a downpour that at times nearly obliterated the gridiron.

The Tigers splashed to two touchdowns in the second quarter and another in the third after tallying on a safety in the opening period. Colorado's touchdown came in the final quarter against second and third stringers.

TRIBE GETS REST UNTIL OCTOBER 17

Indians Have Two Weeks To Practice For Tilt With Henderson

The Northeast Junior college of L. S. U. Indians will get all their work this week on the practice field only, as they have an open date and will not be called upon to face another foe until Friday, October 17, when they meet the Henderson State Teachers of Arkansas at Brown field.

Henderson State, first of two four-year schools on the locals' schedule, Friday night battled Stephen F. Austin to a 13 and 13 tie while the Tribesmen were routing Northwest Mississippi, 25 to 6.

According to reports Henderson has a good senior eleven this year, and the Reddies are preparing to go "all out" in an effort to hang up their first victory over the Redskins.

Henderson matched the Tribe touchdown for touchdown last year in a thrilling game at Arkadelphia, but the locals managed to make good use of points after touchdowns to win, 20 to 18. That was the closest the Reddies ever came to trimming the Indians in their six years of gridiron rivalry, but they believe this is their year and hope to make up in a big way for six previous drubbings.

James McElroy, veteran quarterback, was the only casualty in Friday night's battle with Northwest Mississippi, but he is expected to be ready for action in the Henderson game. He suffered a badly bruised side and may miss a few workouts this week.

Broken nose or no broken nose, Clayton Brown, Monroe's own addition to the Tribe this year, looked like a powerhouse working against the Mississippians Friday. He didn't get warmed up until the last half, but his line plunges accounted for plenty of yardage in the final quarters. His nose was broken in the Copiah-Lincoln game and he played with a mask over his face against the Rangers.

S. E. Holloway, the Lake Providence product, was also outstanding in the Tribe backfield, particularly on off tackle jaunts and end runs.

In fact the entire first eleven and the No. 1 reserves looked impressive throughout the game, but the mass of freshman reserves who performed in the last quarter showed they need more work, especially on the defense.

With two weeks in which to prepare for the Reddies, Coach James L. Malone said no time would be lost preparing for the invasion. Hard workouts begin tomorrow and will continue throughout this week and the first half of next week. The two weeks lapse between games is expected to help injured members get back into shape.

SERIES GAME TODAY TO START AT 1 P. M.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Tomorrow's world series game between the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees will start at 1 p. m. Monroe time instead of the 12:30 getaway of the weekday games because of a Sabbath law.

Maybe folks who had trouble getting used to the change from daylight time will find this one easier.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN BEATS ARKANSAS

Horned Frog Defense Shines In Well-Earned, 9-To-0, Triumph

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Texas Christian had everything especially defense in Razorback stadium today as the Horned Frogs gained a well earned 9 to 0 victory over the University of Arkansas Razorbacks in the opening Southwest conference football game before 6,000 rain-drenched fans.

The Frogs took advantage of the wind to score twice, once in the second period when Frog End Phil Roach leaped above the Porker's small back, Max Salling, to grab a 31-yard touchdown pass from Kyle Gillespie, who looked like shades of Sammy Baugh and Davey O'Brien, T. C. U. greats of other years. The aerial climaxed a 45-yard drive.

In the third quarter, the Porker line momentarily held the Frogs on the Arkansas 14 and substitute back Frank Medanich place-kicked directly between the uprights with substitute Dean Bagley holding the ball, which was placed down on the 23.

The Frogs threatened the Porkers' goal line on several other occasions and had what looked like a 15-yard touchdown run by back Nolan Sparks called back in the third period when a teammate was offside. Later in the same quarter, Bagley rifled an aerial to Roach for a 14-yard gain to Arkansas' three but another offside set the Frogs back to the 19.

CONFERENCE GRID RATINGS REVISED

Tulane Appears To Be The Team To Beat In Southeastern Race

ATLANTA, Oct. 4.—(AP)—A 19-to-0 defeat of the mighty Volunteers of Tennessee by Duke and the 14-to-0 win of Mississippi State over highly rated Alabama today scrambled Southeastern football conference ratings although the season is just getting underway.

Played at Durham and one of the headliner games of the day, the Tennessee-Duke game attracted 45,000 spectators, and ended Tennessee's string of victories in regular season games at 34.

At Tuscaloosa Mississippi State dominated the play throughout the game with Alabama.

Tulane, playing at New Orleans, retained the power and precision shown in a successful bid against Boston college last Saturday to overwhelm the Auburn Plainsmen, 32 to 0.

Another Louisiana powerhouse, Louisiana State, at the same time was taking a 34-to-0 beating from a powerful University of Texas team at Austin.

At Lexington the University of Kentucky managed to score one touchdown—a 63-yard dash down the sidelines by Noah Mullins—to defeat Washington and Lee, 7 to 0. The University of Mississippi, coming back from last week's upset defeat by Georgetown, beat Southwestern of Memphis, 27 to 0, and Vanderbilt scored in each quarter to run up a 42-to-0 score against little Tennessee Tech. Ole Miss played at Oxford and Vandy at Nashville.

Georgia Tech, playing in Atlanta, chalked up a 20-to-0 victory over a scrappy Chattanooga team.

Two of the conference teams played night games, Florida meeting Tampa at Gainesville and the University of Georgia taking on South Carolina at Athens.

VANDERBILT DOWNS EAGLE SQUAD, 42-0

Commodores Are Impressive In Easy Victory

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The most aggressive Vanderbilt football team in years smashed its way to an impressive 42 to 0 triumph over stubborn little Tennessee Tech today before 6,000 sun-baked spectators.

The Commodores got off to a slow start, requiring more than 12 minutes to push over their first touchdown, but after the first period, the big black horde began to roll virtually at will.

The statistics give the best picture of the superiority of the Commodores, who piled up 21 first downs against none for Tech and rushed the ball a total of 406 yards while the Golden Eagles were pushed back for a minus 14 net yardage.

LIGHT TIGER '11' UNABLE TO HOLD BIG GREEN WAVE

Greenies Score At Will, Hold Opponents To Only One First Down

By Mortimer Kreeger

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Tulane's big Green Wave reverted to its old role of a powerhouse today and completely outclassed a much lighter Auburn team 32-0 before 35,000 fans.

The huge Green line, outweighing the Plainsmen 20 pounds to the man, tore huge gaps in the Auburn wall and threw up such a defense that the Plainsmen made only one first down, a 23-yard run by Monk Gafford. Tulane gained 370 yards to Auburn's 26.

Auburn failed to complete a single pass.

The game was a big departure from most of the previous 22 meetings of the two clubs, nearly all of which had been close and hard-fought.

Lou Thomas' off-tackle slants were Tulane's most consistent ground gainers, but so superior was the Tulane line that all the Green backs found ground-gaining easy.

Auburn took an early blow when left halfback Clarence Harkins went out in the first period with an injury. His substitute, Ty Irby, later had to be helped from the field.

Tulane's all-America tackle, Harley McCollum, remained on the sidelines with injuries.

Tulane drove 67 yards in 13 plays to the first of its five touchdowns midway of the first period. Thomas, whose running and passing sparked the advance, sliced four yards off right tackle for the score and Jim Thibaut place kicked the extra point.

The Wave surged 57 yards in seven plays to another score, which came on Bob Glass' 20 yard pass to Bill Hornick on the goal line.

The third came on a 30-yard push. Glass scored off right tackle after his 25-yard pass to Walt McDonald had set it up on the two.

Gafford's fumble on a kickoff return, recovered by Marty Comer on Auburn's 26, started Tulane to another score as the third period opened. Thomas went the last two yards and Thibaut converted by placement. Thi-

HOVIOUS SPARKS REBS TO VICTORY

University Of Mississippi Defeats Southwestern Of Memphis, 27-0

OXFORD, Miss., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Sparked by passing Junie Hovious, the University of Mississippi Rebels turned in a 27-0 decision over Southwestern of Memphis today before a homecoming crowd of 4,500 for their first victory of the season.

A 55-yard pass—good for an actual gain of 26 yards—from Hovious to Billy Sam provided the first score after C. P. Swinney covered Lynx Captain Jimmy Andrews' fumble to set the stage.

Southwestern fought stubbornly through the first half, holding the Rebels' first team time after time and twice stopping drives within its own five-yard line

Hovious and Merle Hapes engineered a 41-yard march early in the second half to provide the Rebs' second score when Hovious passed from the five to Bill Eubanks.

Jackie Flack passed for a 40-yard gain the third period to Ray Terrell, sub wingback, who made a beautiful catch for the score. Subs Bobby Yandell, Ed Rzepnicki and Henry Furr collaborated for the Rebs' final score after penalties had pushed the Lynx back to their one-yard line.

Dutch Schultz To Tangle With Jack Curtis Tuesday

SEEKS TITLE

Sugi Hayamaka And Allen Parker To Meet In Semi-Final Match

Herbie "Dutch" Schultz, conqueror of Rex Mobley, world's light heavyweight wrestling champion in a non-title match here last week, again appears on Promoter Gus Kallio's weekly mat program Tuesday night when he meets Jack Curtis, the Vicksburg flash, in the main event at the Monroe arena.

Curtis, a favorite with Monroe mat fans, will have a difficult task on his hands in trying to whip the Flying Dutchman who resorts to all manner of tactics, fair or foul, to win his matches.

The event will have a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win.

Although the Curtis-Schultz bout tops the night's card, interest is again focused on the semi-final battle between Sugi Hayamaka, Japanese grappler, and Allen Parker, junior light heavy wrestler from Nashville, Tenn.

Hayamaka, former holder of the junior light heavyweight belt now in possession of Jack Curtis, is seeking to get a title match with Curtis in an effort to reclaim his lost laurels.

Parker is equally anxious to get a shot at the junior light heavy crown, and Promoter Kallio has promised the winner of Tuesday's semi-final a title match with Curtis.

Many wrestlers claim that Curtis has been dodging challengers in the junior light heavy class and the contention is supported by the fact that Curtis has not put his own title on the line in some time although he has been chasing Rex Mobley all over the south trying to annex the light heavy belt.

Promoter Kallio pointed out that the reason for Curtis' alleged dodging may be that he is too heavy for the junior light heavy class and fears having to work off poundage to defend the title.

Regardless of Curtis' weight, however, he must either be prepared to make the weight and defend the title or forfeit the belt to the wrestling commission so others in the class will have a chance to wrestle for it.

The Hayamaka-Parker curtain-raiser, starting the show at 8:30 o'clock, will have an hour time limit, two falls to win.

Aldin "Butch" Martin will referee both matches.

GEORGETOWN LOSES TO VIRGINIA TECH

Inspired Underdogs Nose Out Hoyas, 3 To 0

BLACKSBURG, Va., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Roger McClure, of Glasgow, W. Va., booted a beautiful field goal from placement in the third period today to give an inspired Virginia Tech football team a 3-to-0 victory over a h avier and highly favored Georgetown university eleven.

Tech, swamped 37-14 by Kentucky and regarded as a breather for another great Georgetown team, surprised the crowd of 5,000 by outrushing the big Hoya line and holding the fast Georgetown backs in check.

In the final period with the time almost gone, Georgetown attempted a passing attack which Tech smothered.

Bobby Smith set up the Tech score by quick-kicking and then recovering the ball when Dornfield fumbled the kick on Georgetown's 30.

Smith made 15 yards through the line. Lively, sub for Wheeler, fumbled the next pass from center for a ten-yard loss. Gallagher, sub for James, whipped a pass to Lively for 9 and another to Chasen for six.

With the ball squarely in front of the goal in the ten-yard stripe, McClure, with Wheeler holding, sent a placement high over the goal posts for three points and victory.

WHIPPING ENDS BIG TENNESSEE VICTORY STRING

Power On Offense And Defense Tells Story Of Great Blue Devil Win

By Frank B. Gilbreth

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 4.—(AP)—A pile driving Duke team, which combined offensive lightning with a stone-wall defense, broke the Tennessee jinx in a million pieces today, white-washing the Vols 19-0.

The whipping ended Tennessee's string of victories in regular season games at 34. It was Duke's first victory over the powerful Vols since 1935.

Tennessee is the only team which has broken better than even in a series of games with Wallace Wade, Duke's head coach, but the Blue Devils really turned on the heat for Wade today.

A crowd of 45,000 fans packed Duke stadium for the crucial battle, played in 89-degree weather.

Duke did all the scoring in the first half, and Tennessee didn't make a first down until two minutes before the half ended.

It was power that told the story—power on offense and defense, the best picture of the game can be seen in the statistics. Duke, rushing, gained a net of 164 yards, to only 42 for Tennessee.

Duke started its marching on the opening kickoff, speedy Moffat Storer pacing a running and passing advance to Tennessee's 12. There, however, Storer fumbled, and lost 12. Two plays later, with the ball still on the 24, big Tommy Prothro tried a placement which failed, but before the end of the first quarter, Duke started another march from its 41, where Johnny Butler had fumbled in Duke territory.

Two sophs, Tom Davis and Leo Long, paced the Blue Devils drive, which carried to the two-yard line, and then Long scored over center. Mike Karmazin kicked the extra point, two plays before the quarter ended.

Bobby Cifers, Tennessee's ace soph, came into the lineup for Butler, and Bobby's miscue led to Duke's second touchdown. Cifers fumbled the catch of a punt on Tennessee's 15. The ball bounded into the end zone and Clyde Redding, Duke substitute, fell on it. Bob Gantt's kick for the point was low.

Duke's third touchdown came four minutes before the end of the half. This time the march started on Tennessee's 47. Bill Wartman, substitute back, picked up 11 at right tackle. Two plays gained only two yards, then Storer passed to Gantt on the 23, and the balal bounded off Gantt into the air. Wartman grabbed the ball and ran 23 yards, untouched, for the score.

OREGON STATE DEFEATS WASHINGTON U., 9 TO 6

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Oregon State college handed the University of Washington a jolt today, defeating the touted Huskies from Seattle, 9 to 6 in a coast conference football game.

The contest was played on a wet field but the aggressive attack of the Oregon State seemed little affected. A crowd of 15,000 roared when, after a see-saw first quarter, Don Durdan, Oregon State right half, speared through the Washington line, reversed his field and raced 80 yards to a touchdown.

CORNELL UPSETS FAVORED SYRACUSE OUTFIT, 6 TO 0

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Cornell's green Big Red, minus 20 of the regulars who romped over eastern gridirons for the past three years, struck with a sudden aerial thrust today to upset favored Syracuse, 6-0, in a game marked by offensive lapses by both teams.

A lucky forward, from Ken Stofer to Roy Johnson, set up the winning touchdown.

FIGHTING IRISH DEFEAT INDIANA

Notre Dame Wins, 19 To 6, With Spectacular Ground, Air Attacks

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Sophomore Angelo Bertelli and the veteran Dippy Evans, slippery fullback, led Notre Dame's Fighting Irish to a 19 to 6 victory over Indiana today before 45,000 spectators, a spectacular running and aerial attack producing touchdowns in the first three periods.

The victory was Frank Leahy's second in as many starts as the Irish head coach and marked the second straight week that the Hoosiers had lost in the young grid season.

Bertelli set up the first two touchdowns with aerials and the third came on a driving ground attack. But Evans was the man of the hour when a few yards were needed, scoring all three touchdowns on short punches into the Indiana line.

Indiana reached the Notre Dame 49-yard line in the first period and never improved on that mark in the rest of the game except for the one sudden touchdown thrust. This came midway of the third period when Earl Doloway passed 29 yards to Ken Smith. Just as he was tackled he lateraled to Charles Jacoby who ran the remaining 25 yards to score. Gene White's placement was wide.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(The Morning World Special News Service)—The Dodgers, who didn't tell how they decided to split their World Series money, cut it into 26 full shares after handing out $6,000 in cash . . . The Yanks made it 32 1-2 shares and $6,000 . . . Remember what Babe Ruth called the Cubs a few years ago when they didn't spread the dough out very far? . . . The telephone company and the taverns cashed in on yesterday's postponement. The phone company, announcing the postponement along with the weather report, received nearly 50,000 calls between nine o'clock and one . . . Brooklyn was all dressed up for the occasion that didn't come off . . . Stores and offices from Borough Hall to Bushwick were draped with bunting and banners reading "Welcome Home Dodgers" and "Our Champs." . . . No one mentioned bums . . . When the game was called off, 1,400 reserved seats hadn't been sold and the specs who had managed to get 'em were trying to unload. . . . Pittsburgh's Bill Benswanger had called the turn on that one . . . "Every time there's talk of a sellout, it scares the fans away," he said Thursday. "We get it on big Sunday double headers. The winner of the bout has been promised a shot at Jack Curtis' junior light heavyweight championship.

Sugi Hayamaka And Allen Parker To Meet In Semi-Final Match

Herbie "Dutch" Schultz, conqueror of Rex Mobley, world's light heavyweight wrestling champion in a non-title match here last week, again appears on Promoter Gus Kallio's weekly mat program Tuesday night when he meets Jack Curtis, the Vicksburg flash, in the main event at the Monroe arena.

Curtis, a favorite with Monroe mat fans, will have a difficult task on his hands in trying to whip the Flying Dutchman who resorts to all manner of tactics, fair or foul, to win his matches.

The event will have a 90-minute time limit, two falls to win.

Although the Curtis-Schultz bout tops the night's card, interest is again focused on the semi-final battle between Sugi Hayamaka, Japanese grappler, and Allen Parker, junior light heavy wrestler from Nashville, Tenn.

Hayamaka, former holder of the junior light heavyweight belt now in possession of Jack Curtis, is seeking to get a title match with Curtis in an effort to reclaim his lost laurels.

Parker is equally anxious to get a shot at the junior light heavy crown, and Promoter Kallio has promised the winner of Tuesday's semi-final a title match with Curtis.

Many wrestlers claim that Curtis has been dodging challengers in the junior light heavy class and the contention is supported by the fact that Curtis has not put his own title on the line in some time although he has been chasing Rex Mobley all over the south trying to annex the light heavy belt.

Promoter Kallio pointed out that the reason for Curtis' alleged dodging may be that he is too heavy for the junior light heavy class and fears having to work off poundage to defend the title.

Regardless of Curtis' weight, however, he must either be prepared to make the weight and defend the title or forfeit the belt to the wrestling commission so others in the class will have a chance to wrestle for it.

The Hayamaka-Parker curtain-raiser, starting the show at 8:30 o'clock, will have an hour time limit, two falls to win.

Aldin "Butch" Martin will referee both matches.

GEORGETOWN LOSES TO VIRGINIA TECH

Inspired Underdogs Nose Out Hoyas, 3 To 0

BLACKSBURG, Va., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Roger McClure, of Glasgow, W. Va., booted a beautiful field goal from placement in the third period today to give an inspired Virginia Tech football team a 3-to-0 victory over a heavier and highly favored Georgetown university eleven.

Tech, swamped 37-14 by Kentucky and regarded as a breather for another great Georgetown team, surprised the crowd of 5,000 by outrushing the big Hoya line and holding the fast Georgetown backs in check.

In the final period with the time almost gone, Georgetown attempted a passing attack which Tech smothered.

Bobby Smith set up the Tech score by quick-kicking and then recovering the ball when Dornfield fumbled the kick on Georgetown's 30.

Smith made 15 yards through the line. Lively, sub for Wheeler, fumbled the next pass from center for a ten-yard loss. Gallagher, sub for James, whipped a pass to Lively for 9 and another to Chasen for six.

With the ball squarely in front of the goal in the ten-yard stripe, McClure, with Wheeler holding, sent a placement high over the goal posts for three points and victory.

WHIPPING ENDS BIG TENNESSEE VICTORY STRING

Power On Offense And Defense Tells Story Of Great Blue Devil Win

By Frank B. Gilbreth

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 4.—(AP)—A pile driving Duke team, which combined offensive lightning with a stone-wall defense, broke the Tennessee jinx in a million pieces today, whitewashing the Vols 19-0.

The whipping ended Tennessee's string of victories in regular season games at 34. It was Duke's first victory over the powerful Vols since 1935.

Tennessee is the only team which has broken better than even in a series of games with Wallace Wade, Duke's head coach, but the Blue Devils really turned on the heat for Wade today.

A crowd of 45,000 fans packed Duke stadium for the crucial battle, played in 89-degree weather.

Duke did all the scoring in the first half, and Tennessee didn't make a first down until two minutes before the half ended.

It was power that told the story—power on offense and defense, the best picture of the game can be seen in the statistics. Duke, rushing, gained a net of 164 yards, to only 42 for Tennessee.

Duke started its marching on the opening kickoff, speedy Moffat Storer pacing a running and passing advance to Tennessee's 12. There, however, Storer fumbled, and lost 12. Two plays later, with the ball still on the 24, big Tommy Prothro tried a placement which failed, but before the end of the first quarter, Duke started another march from its 41, where Johnny Butler had fumbled in Duke territory.

Two sophs, Tom Davis and Leo Long, paced the Blue Devils drive, which carried to the two-yard line, and then Long scored over center. Mike Karmazin kicked the extra point, two plays before the quarter ended.

Bobby Cifers, Tennessee's ace soph, came into the lineup for Butler, and Bobby's miscue led to Duke's second touchdown. Cifers fumbled the catch of a punt on Tennessee's 15. The ball bounded into the end zone and Clyde Redding, Duke substitute, fell on it. Bob Gantt's kick for the point was low.

Duke's third touchdown came four minutes before the end of the half. This time the march started on Tennessee's 47. Bill Wartman, substitute back, picked up 11 at right tackle. Two plays gained only two yards, then Storer passed to Gantt on the 23, and the balal bounded off Gantt into the air. Wartman grabbed the ball and ran 23 yards, untouched, for the score.

OREGON STATE DEFEATS WASHINGTON U., 9 TO 6

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Oregon State college handed the University of Washington a jolt today, defeating the touted Huskies from Seattle, 9 to 6 in a coast conference football game.

The contest was played on a wet field but the aggressive attack of the Oregon State seemed little affected. A crowd of 15,000 roared when, after a see-saw first quarter, Don Durdan, Oregon State right half, speared through the Washington line, reversed his field and raced 80 yards to a touchdown.

COUGARS 13; BEARS 6

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The passing of Billy Sewell and Jay Stoves sparked the Washington State college Cougars to a 13 to 6 victory over University of California in a coast conference football game today. The crowd was held to 6,000 by rain.

BOWLING TILTS

The Junior Bowling league opened its schedule here yesterday with the Alley Katz trouncing the Woodpeckers, 3 to 0, and the Sparrows winning two of three games with the Pelicans. The league, composed of school boys between the ages of ten and 14 years, will bowl each Saturday at the Monroe Bowling center. The league's schedule runs for twelve weeks.

Tommy Mingledorff, Pelican bowler, was high scorer in yesterday's series, piling up 423 pins.

CORNELL UPSETS FAVORED SYRACUSE OUTFIT, 6 TO 0

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Cornell's green Big Red, minus 20 of the regulars who romped over eastern gridirons for the past three years, struck with a sudden aerial thrust today to upset favored Syracuse, 6-0, in a game marked by offensive lapses by both teams.

A lucky forward, from Ken Stofer to Roy Johnson, set up the winning touchdown.

FIGHTING IRISH DEFEAT INDIANA

Notre Dame Wins, 19 To 6, With Spectacular Ground, Air Attacks

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Sophomore Angelo Bertelli and the veteran Dippy Evans, slippery fullback, led Notre Dame's Fighting Irish to a 19 to 6 victory over Indiana today before 45,000 spectators, a spectacular running and aerial attack producing touchdowns in the first three periods.

The victory was Frank Leahy's second in as many starts as the Irish head coach and marked the second straight week that the Hoosiers had lost in the young grid season.

Bertelli set up the first two touchdowns with aerials and the third came on a driving ground attack. But Evans was the man of the hour when a few yards were needed, scoring all three touchdowns on short punches into the Indiana line.

Indiana reached the Notre Dame 49-yard line in the first period and never improved on that mark in the rest of the game except for the one sudden touchdown thrust. This came midway of the third period when Earl Doloway passed 29 yards to Ken Smith. Just as he was tackled he lateraled to Charles Jacoby who ran the remaining 25 yards to score. Gene White's placement was wide.

STREAMLINED NEBRASKA TROUNCES IOWA STATE

AMES, Ia., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Nebraska's proud Cornhuskers, streamlined with "T" trickery to go with their traditional power, started after another Big Six football title today by whipping Iowa State's Cyclones, 14-0, before 15,000 fans.

It was Nebraska's game all the way on a slippery field. The Huskers struck for touchdowns in the first and third periods.

N. Y. U. 6; LAFAYETTE 0

EASTON, Pa., Oct. 4.—(AP)—After fighting off constant Lafayette threats for three periods, New York university's football team capitalized on a Maroon fumble in the last quarter to win, 6-0. A 25-yard forward pass, Frank to Millman, accounted for the touchdown after Delfino recovered Ziemer's fumble.

PENNSYLVANIA UPSETS HARVARD ELEVEN, 19-

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The University of Pennsylvania turned loose a young, inexperienced but lightning-fast football team on Franklin Field today and the Quakers romped off with a 19 to 0 victory over a favored Harvard eleven before a shirt-sleeved throng of 50,000 fans.

Led by Fullback Bert Stiff, the Quakers rammed over a touchdown 11 minutes after the opening whistle and followed through with one each in the third and fourth periods.

MISSISSIPPI STATE UPSETS ALABAMA, 14 TO 0

MAROONS SHOW AMAZING POWER TO DEFEAT TIDE

ama's Highly Rated Running Attack Bottled Up Most Of Game

By Leroy Simms

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 4.—(AP)—nderrated Mississippi State displayed nazing speed and power here today win a convincing 14 to 0 victory er the strongly favored Alabama even before 20,000 startled fans.

The victors counted in the third uarter, on a 22-yard pass from Sophmore Billy Murphy to Bob Patterson, d again in the final minute when ubstitute Elbert Corley intercepted a t-hope, fourth down Alabama pass the Tide 24 and ran 30 yards to set p stage for Sonny Bruce's short dash ound left end.

State's victory was its second in outheastern conference circles, following a 6-0 triumph over Florida last eek, and placed the Maroons in the ront rank of the conference title ontenders.

Alabama's highly rated running attack was well bottled up most of the game, and was marred by frequent fumbles. The heavy Tide line was badly outplayed by the lighter and faster Mississippi forwards, and most of the Alabama gains resulted more rom hard and shifty running than from holes opened in the State defense.

The first half saw Mississippi State drive deep into Alabama territory twice, but a fumble by Murphy who had run to the Tide nine spoiled one chance, and a 15-yard penalty for holding broke up the other.

Shortly after the third quarter started, Bill Arnold broke through to block a Nelson punt, and Jones fell on the ball on Bama's 24. A run by Bruce netted two and two passes failed to connect. Murphy was rushed into the game, and he sent a sharp pass straight down the middle to Patterson, who grabbed it on the Alabama ve and ran across. Dees converted o make it 7-0.

Nelson was the spearhead of the rincipal Alabama threat which followed immediately. He tossed a pass o Holt Rast for nine, and then made 20 yards in three savage dashes through the line. He was hurt on the third try and Russell Mosley replaced him.

State stopped the Bama attack and Mosley had to kick.

From then on it was all Mississippi State. Mason broke through the line for a 42-yard run, being pulled down from behind by Sallis on the Alabama 1.

The winners battered out another first down, but a fumble ended the drive.

After several punt exchanges Alabama resorted to a fourth down pass deep in its own territory and Corley's interception led to the second score. Bruce added the extra point on a dash around right end.

Nelson's great punting kept the score down. He averaged 37.1 yards per try despite having two kicks blocked, and picked the ball up off the ground in his end zone to get off the 51-yard boot.

Captain Bill Arnold, one of the few regulars left at State from last year's Orange Bowl champions, Patterson, Dees and Mason were outstanding men for the victors.

For Alabama, Holt Rast turned in his usual fine game at end and Babe Roberts, Dave Brown, Don Sallis and Ross Mosley did yeoman service on defense.

State had a big lead in yardage. The winners also covered four Alabama fumbles.

FOOT ITCH

ATHLETE'S FOOT

RELIEF GUARANTEED OR MONEY BACK

According to the Government Health Bulletin No. F-28, at least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

Beware of It Spreading

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get relief from this disease as quickly as possible because it is both contagious and infectious and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

Why Take Chances?

The germ that causes the disease is known as Tinea Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to destroy the germ, whereas, upon contact, laboratory tests show that H. F. will kill the germ Tinea Trichophyton within 15 seconds.

H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of relieving Athlete's Foot. It is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. H. F. gently peels the skin, which enables it to get to parasites existing under the outer cuticle.

Itching Often Relieved Quickly

As soon as you apply H. F. you may find that the itching is relieved. You should paint the infected part with H. F. night and morning until your feet are better. Usually this takes from three to ten days.

H. F. should leave the skin soft and smooth. You may marvel at the quick way it brings you relief.

Don't wait for Athlete's Foot to become serious. Get H. F. today.

LIONS FAVORED OVER MAGNOLIA

Ouachita Victory Over Smackover May Have Been Pretty Costly

For the first time this season the Ouachita Parish High school Lions will go into action as the favored team when they meet the Magnolia, Ark., eleven at Neville stadium here Thursday night.

Little is known here of the Magnolia aggregation except that it dropped a 27-to-0 verdict to the Haynesville Golden Tornado Friday night after the Lions had upset Smackover's Buckaroos, 12 to 0, Thursday night.

Ouachita's triumph over Smackover may have been costly, however, with Tackle Sam McInnis and Guard Charles Cain both the victims of injuries.

McInnis, one of the few veterans from last year, suffered a back injury the seriousness of which is not fully determined, and Cain is nursing a bad cut under an eye.

With McInnis on the sidelines, Rudy Eason is sure to get the call to right tackle until the veteran lineman is available once more, and Clifton O'Neal will have the right guard slot to himself. Cain and O'Neal have been battling for the starting call at guard all season and have been alternating at the post in all games.

Halfback Jack Jackson, Ouachita's candidate for all-state, looked his best of the season against Smackover and if he continues at his present pace the Lions' offense will be a definite threat over the rest of the route. Quarterback Hoyt Moncrief also showed more improvement over Smackover.

Despite the fact that the Lions' blocking and tackling was better Thursday than it had been at any other time this season, Coach Mack Avants indicated that the O. P. H. S. forces were still in for lengthy drills in those phases of play.

The work of the Lion line was one of the features of the Smackover conquest. Tackles "Sonny" Foreman and McInnis, Guard Wayne Doss and Ends Cullen Kirby and Burson Sikes were particularly outstanding with Sikes starting the Lions on their way to victory when he intercepted a lateral in the second quarter and raced 45 yards to score.

WEST POINT GRID TEAM DEFEATS CITADEL, 19-6

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Army marked the debut of Earl Blaik as West Point's first civilian coach in 30 years by overpowering The Citadel 19-6 today before 9,000 sun-baked fans including Major-General Edwin Watson, military aide to President Roosevelt.

Outstanding in the triumph, Army's first since Williams was nosed out in last season's opener, were Buck Nagle and Jack Mouton, fleet backfield mainstays responsible for all three Army touchdowns and were brilliant in their passing and broken field running.

NAVY BEATS W. VA.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Navy's gridiron juggernaut, fettered briefly by a stubborn West Virginia defense, let loose with an avalanche of touchdowns in the last half today to crush the willing but outmanned Mountaineers, 45-0, before 20,126 fans.

RAMS SHADE S. M. U. WITH GREAT FINISH

Veterans Recover Game Almost Lost By Sophs

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Fordham's football veterans recovered a game which one of its star-spangled sophomores almost lost today.

With passes by Steve Filipowicz to Blackie Blumenstock and a 28-yard field goal by Steve Hudacek—all Cotton Bowl campaigners—the Rams came from behind to shade Southern Methodist, 16 to 10, before a crowd of 28,500 that almost fell asleep through the first three quarters but never got a chance to sit down through the last one.

In the first half of that final period, the Texas Mustangs tied the score at 7-7 on a 49-yard forward passing play, and then took a 10-7 lead on Joe Pasqua's 44-yard field goal that was set up on a fumble by Benny (The Fabulous) Babula, the Rams' sophomore fullback.

But in the last eight minutes Filipowicz's long, accurate passes first brought the Rams a 10-10 tie on Hudacek's placement, and then lifted them in front for good. With 38 seconds to go, the fireplug fullback from Kulpmont, Pa., dropped back and let fly another pitch. Bluemenstock cut in behind the S. M. U. left halfback, roped the ball in on the four-yard line and went on over for a scoring play that covered 36 yards.

Sports Trail

By Whitney (He's-A-Bum) Martin

EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, Oct. 4.—(The Morning World Special News Service)—Well, folks, meet the latest member of the Bum club. We came over here this afternoon quite rational and well-behaved, but after spending four hours sandwiched in between layers of perspiring humanity far out in the centerfield bleachers where your best glimpse of the game is a stern view of Joe DiMaggio and Pete Reiser we are as much Brooklyn as any guy in the joint, see how quick it gets you?

When we say sandwiched we mean sandwiched. We were packed so close out there we got plastered with mustard every time a vendor sold a hot dog four rows back. Put a roll around us and anybody would have paid a dime for us.

It was hot out there, and before the game had started some of us bums had shed our coats and shirts and it looked like Sunday morning in the backyard. No matter how the other members of the Bum club looked, however, they wanted their pictures taken, and you never saw so many lens hogs in your life. We had to shove four of them out of the way so we could get in the pictures at all.

We found the long-time members of the club quite well-behaved, which was quite a surprise as we had expected cannon crackers and ballons and other mouse-makers. Outside of a couple of off-key horns and cracked cowbell or two there wasn't much that you wouldn't find at St. Louis or Cincinnati or the Yankee stadium.

Perhaps it was because we didn't have much to yell about today. Up to the seventh inning it was just like cheering for a guy because he dodged Joe Louis' punches. Those Yanks had us in trouble all the time, and were fighting strictly a defensive battle.

A few Yankee fans had managed to sneak in some way, but side from two or three they were pretty quiet. These two or three sat down, shed their coats, rolled up their sleeves, and bellowed:

"We're Yankee fans. So what?"

Nobody said anything because these fellows looked like heavyweight weight lifters on their day off, and when one of them, after a Yankee double play, announced: "The Yankees will make six today, and the Dodgers—one," still nobody said anything.

We warmed up to our yelling before the game, chanting "hep-hep" in unison as the band marched by, and if we thought we heard a couple of "boo-hoos" in there it probably was our imagination. We got our first chance to boo when an usher escorted the straw-hatted, white-suited fellow with the red parasol who was acting silly in front of the band off the field. It seems anything silly around here won't be tolerated a minute.

We managed to work the place up into a sort of class "B" bedlam once or twice in the early innings, but but only because our Bums on the field had stymied a couple of Yankee threats. Frankly, our Bums couldn't do much with this guy Russo. Perhaps that's because he is a Brooklyn boy and the Brooklyns didn't know just how to handle one of their own kind.

We thought we were really going to town in the seventh inning, and big Dolph Camilli came up with two out and a man on third and had a chance to bust one or be a bust. He was a bust, and even we out in the suburbs of the park knew it was a third strike as it settled in Bill Dickey's glove.

We've got to find out something to do about this Joe Gordon, though. He's too much ball player for just one man. This fellow DiMaggio is pretty good, too. We couldn't even boo him with much enthusiasm.

As a new member of the Bum club, we were quite disappointed, taking it all in all. There wasn't even a good first fight and no bottles were cracked on skulls. Our new friend on the left, the side with the most mustard, apologized for the sanity.

"We're just a little over-awed today, because it's the World Series," he explained. "Just wait until tomorrow."

Where heve we heard that before?

Aroused Buckeyes Play Rock 'Em, Sock 'Em Ball For 60 Minutes.

By Robert Myers

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Heralding a possible return to gridiron greatness, Ohio State's 1941 machine smashed the victory hopes of a proud University of Southern California eleven and walked out of the Coliseum, the roar of an amazed home town crowd echoing over the rim of the huge stadium, with the first Buckeye triumph over a Pacific Coast conference team in 20 years.

Rolling up five resounding touchdowns in the first three quarters for a walloping, stunning 33-0 victory, the underrated Midwesterners handed the Trojans the worst whipping they have received since Southern California became a major collegiate football power two decades or so ago.

The aroused Buckeyes, playing for a university thrice loser in the intersectional battles with teams of this far western slope, put in 60 minutes of good sound rock 'em, sock 'em football, touched off by a few sticks of dynamite clothed in bright red uniforms, and left no doubt but that they must be considered as a tough opponent for Big Ten foes.

There was no fluke attached to any of the tallies. It was just a grand display of power and more power as the Trojans, caught unprepared for this onslaught, wilted in the ends and tackles before the rush of the Ohio State ball runners.

The Bucks stopped the first Trojan thrust in the early minutes of the game on their own 17 and drove 83 blazing yards in nine plays.

Before the quarter ended they pounded 80 yards in ten plays, and in the second period duplicated this feat, yard for yard and play for play, to blast the ardent Trojan rooters numbered in this awed crowd of 60,000 shirtsleeved fans.

Throttling the Southern California running game with consummate ease, and sweeping the passers off their feet before they could get rid of the ball, the midwestern windstorm added two more touchdowns in the third period. The second came on a repetition of those bewildering reverses and doubles reverses behind the line of scrimmage, plays hatched up by the Bucks' new coach, Paul Brown. It came on the heels of an 87-yard parade, accomplished in 11 smashes at the line.

The other touchdown was a pass, good for 48 yards, from Fullback Jack Graf to his end, Bob Shaw. That was just to show the Trojans the invader could score through the air as well as on the ground.

Graf made the first touchdown from the two. Charles Anderson, 200-pound negro end star, made the second on a shovel pass and a 16-yard sprint down the side stripe.

Dick Fisher, one of the fastest men on the field, skirted the Trojan right end for 29 yards for his touchdown and streaked slantwise off his own right tackle for five yards and his other contribution to the day's scoring spree.

Leon Schoenbaum, a substitute, trotted in each time to kick for the extra point. He succeeded in three of his five tries.

Southern California could never get going. They were held to one first down in the entire first half, and it wasn't until late in the game, when the Buckeye lineup was spotted with the 22 extra players Brown brought along, that the first down count began to climb.

FLORIDA 'GATORS BEAT TAMPA GRIDDERS, 46-6

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The Florida Gators rolled up the highest score of their 12 seasons of play in their home stadium, Florida field, tonight as they overwhelmed a badly outclassed Tampa eleven, 46-6.

Coach Tom Lieb of Florida used 36 of the 37 players he had on the bench but it didn't hold the score down as the Gators made touchdowns almost at will.

There was some measure of consolation for Coach Flucie Stewart's Spartans of Tampa, however, as they scored against Florida the first time since the two schools began football relations in 1938.

MICHIGAN WOLVERINES NOSE OUT IOWA, 6 TO 0

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Sophomore Tom Kuzma and the veteran Bob Westfall pooled their talents today to blaze the way for the lone touchdown as Michigan's Wolverines triumphed, 6-0, over Iowa's Hawkeyes in the season's first Western conference football game.

A crowd of 29,909 which braved a steady drizzle in the second half saw further scoring threats, but the punch to go over appeared to be lacking after the first-quarter march of Kuzma and Westfall.

RODEO, STOCK SHOW ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED

Rodeo officials have returned from scouting trips through the southwest, visiting various rodeos and ranches where all stock, such as vicious Brahma bulls, top bucking horses, wild Mexican bulldogging steers and white Brahma roping calves were secured for the largest rodeo ever to be held in West Monroe on October 22-26.

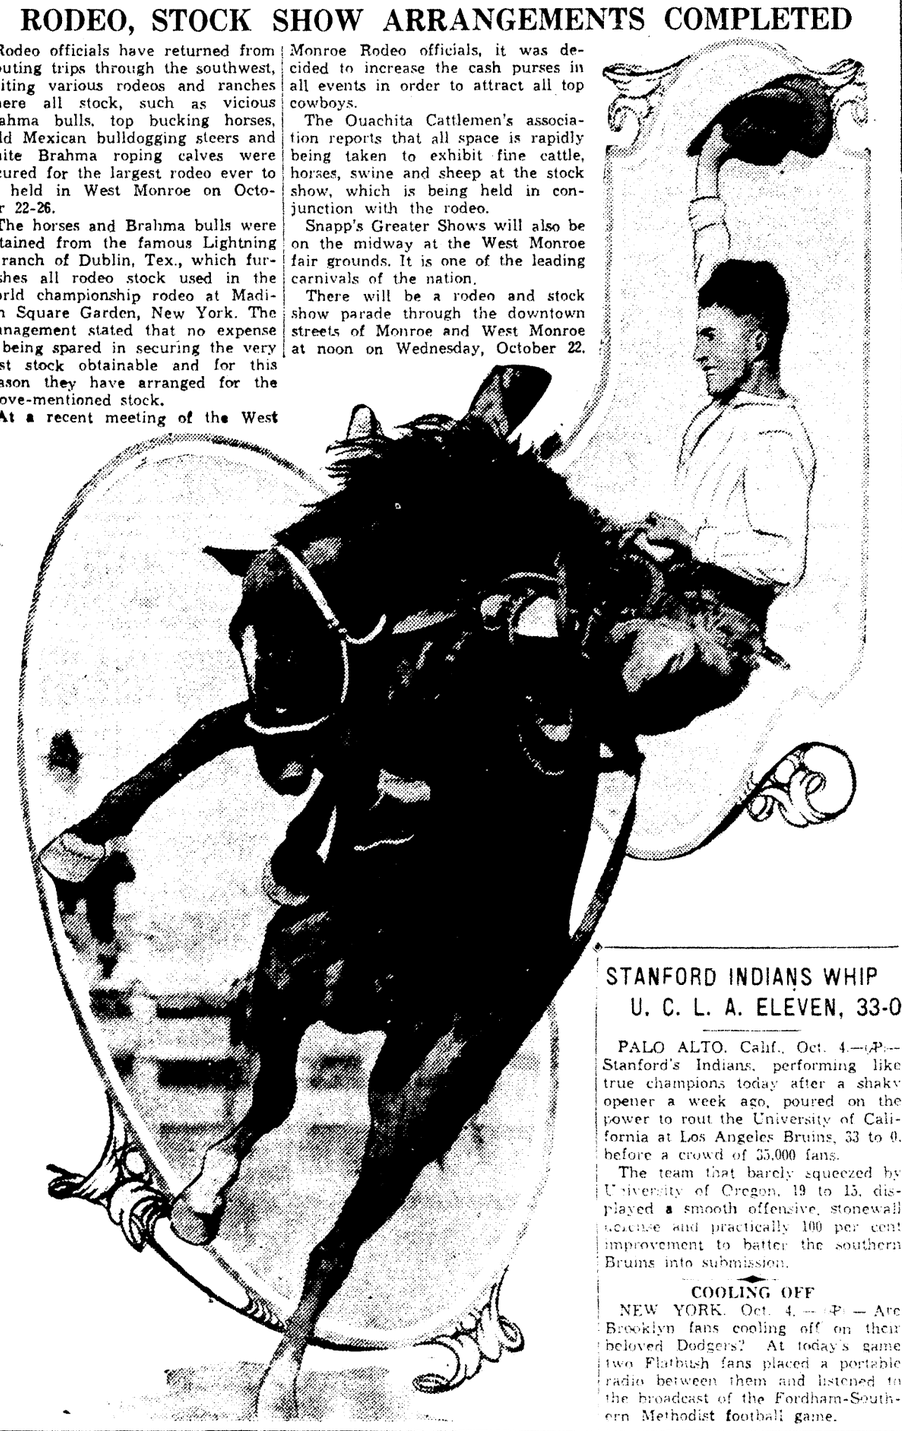

The horses and Brahma bulls were obtained from the famous Lightning C ranch of Dublin, Tex., which furnishes all rodeo stock used in the world championship rodeo at Madison Square Garden, New York. The management stated that no expense is being spared in securing the very best stock obtainable and for this reason they have arranged for the above-mentioned stock.

At a recent meeting of the West Monroe Rodeo officials, it was decided to increase the cash purses in all events in order to attract all top cowboys.

The Ouachita Cattlemen's association reports that all space is rapidly being taken to exhibit fine cattle, horses, swine and sheep at the stock show, which is being held in conjunction with the rodeo.

Snapp's Greater Shows will also be on the midway at the West Monroe fair grounds. It is one of the leading carnivals of the nation.

There will be a rodeo and stock show parade through the downtown streets of Monroe and West Monroe at noon on Wednesday, October 22.

STANFORD INDIANS WHIP U. C. L. A. ELEVEN, 33-0

PALO ALTO, Calif., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Stanford's Indians, performing like true champions today after a shaky opener a week ago, poured on the power to rout the University of California at Los Angeles Bruins, 33 to 0, before a crowd of 35,000 fans.

The team that barely squeezed by University of Oregon, 19 to 15, displayed a smooth offensive, stonewall defense and practically 100 per cent improvement to batter the southern Bruins into submission.

CLEMSON DOWNS NORTH CAROLINA

Continues Successful Defense Of Southern Crown With 27-To-6 Win

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The Tiger was better than the Wolf today as Clemson college continued a successful defense of its Southern conference crown by overpowering a game North Carolina State college football team, 27 to 6.

Approximately 16,000 persons, at least a third of them men in army uniform, witnessed Clemson's well-oiled scoring machine turn on the heat in the first, second and final quarters.

The Bengals went for a touchdown seven minutes after the kickoff, after stopping State's opening spurt, taking over on their own 30. The Tigers banged in their mixture of spinners and reverses. There, after an offside penalty, Payne went outside right tackle for the first score. Timmons converted.

Franklin, early in the second period, intercepted Dickerson's pass on the Clemson 40 and returning it to the State 30. With Timmons and Tinsley carrying most of the burden, the Bengals carried to the State seven yard line in seven rush plays. There Tinsley slashed off right tackle for a touchdown and this time Timmons failed to convert.

Then the Wolfpack's passing attack blossomed forth, carrying to the Clemson seven and a touchdown by Senter. Faircloth's attempted conversion was low.

Timmons, Butler and Tinsley carried to the Wolfpack's three where the Tigers were penalized for backfield in motion. Not to be stopped, however, Timmons picked up three and then sent Butler over an eight yard jaunt off right tackle for a tally. Timmons converted to put the Tigers ahead 20 to 6.

Two minutes later big Tom Wright, 208-pound tackle, recovered Faircloth's fumble on the State 24 and the Tigers soon scored again after Payne, in a beautiful end sweep, picked up in two line bucks Timmons was over and then he converted to give the Bengals the 27-6 win.

UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS TURNS BACK WASHINGTON

LAWRENCE, Kans., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The University of Kansas Jayhawkers defeated Washington university's Bears, 19 to 6, today on a muddy field before 5,100 spectators.

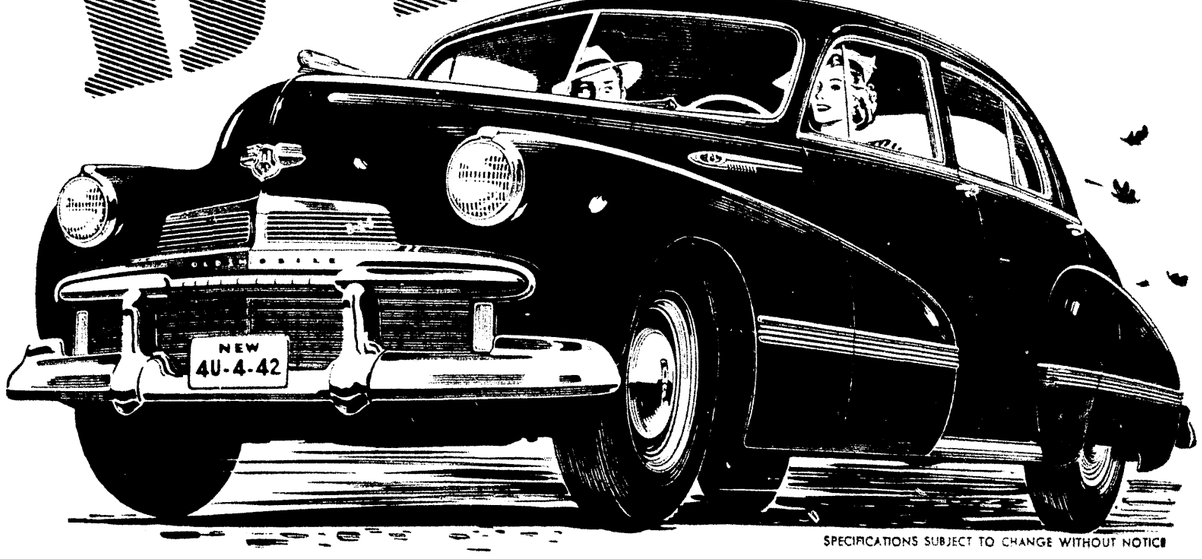

The St. Louis team tallied first, but Kansas tied the count in the first period as Ralph Miller took a pass from Ray Niblo and sprinted 49 yards for a touchdown.

Ed Linquist and Red Ettinger hit pay dirt for the Jayhawkers in the last quarter.

MAROONS SHOW AMAZING POWER TO DEFEAT TIDE

ama's Highly Rated Running Attack Bottled Up Most Of Game

By Leroy Simms

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 4.—(AP)—nderrated Mississippi State displayed mazing speed and power here today win a convincing 14 to 0 victory er the strongly favored Alabama even before 20,000 startled fans.

The victors counted in the third uarter, on a 22-yard pass from Sophmore Billy Murphy to Bob Patterson, nd again in the final minute when ubstitute Elbert Corley intercepted a t-hope, fourth down Alabama pass the Tide 34 and ran 30 yards to set n stage for Sonny Bruce's short dash ound left end.

State's victory was its second in outheastern conference circles, following a 6-0 triumph over Florida last eek, and placed the Maroons in the front rank of the conference title contenders.

Alabama's highly rated running attack was well bottled up most of the game, and was marred by frequent fumbles. The heavy Tide line was badly outplayed by the lighter and faster Mississippi forwards, and most of the Alabama gains resulted more from hard and shifty running than from holes opened in the State defense.

The first half saw Mississippi State drive deep into Alabama territory twice, but a fumble by Murphy who had run to the Tide nine spoiled one chance, and a 15-yard penalty for holding broke up the other.

Shortly after the third quarter started, Bill Arnold broke through to block a Nelson punt, and Jones fell on the ball on 'Bama's 24. A run by Bruce netted two, and two passes failed to connect. Murphy was rushed into the game, and he sent a sharp pass straight down the middle to Patterson, who grabbed it on the Alabama ve and ran across. Dees converted o make it 7-0.

Nelson was the spearhead of the rincipal Alabama threat which followed immediately. He tossed a pass o Holt Rast for nine, and then made 20 yards in three savage slashes through the line. He was hurt on the third try, and Russell Mosley replaced him.

State stopped the 'Bama attack, and Mosley had to kick.

From then on it was all Mississippi tate. Mason broke through the line or a 42-yard run, being pulled down rom behind by Salls on the Alabama

The winners battered out another irst down, but a fumble ended the rive.

After several punt exchanges, Alabama resorted to a fourth down pass deep in its own territory and Corley's interception led to the second score. Bruce added the extra point on a ash around right end.

Nelson's great punting kept the oore down. He averaged 31.1 yards er try despite having two kicks locked, and picked the ball up off he ground in his end zone to get off ne 51-yard boot.

Captain Bill Arnold, one of the few egulars left at State from last year's range Bowl champions, Patterson, ees and Mason were outstanding pen for the victors.

For Alabama, Holt Rast turned in is usual fine game at end and Babe Roberts, Dave Brown, Don Salls and Russ Mosley did yeoman service on defense.

State had a big lead in yardage. The winners also covered four Alabama fumbles.

LIONS FAVORED OVER MAGNOLIA

Ouachita Victory Over Smackover May Have Been Pretty Costly

For the first time this season the Ouachita Parish High school Lions will go into action as the favored team when they meet the Magnolia, Ark., eleven at Neville stadium here Thursday night.

Little is known here of the Magnolia aggregation except that it dropped a 27-to-0 verdict to the Haynesville Golden Tornado Friday night after the Lions had upset Smackover's Buckaroos, 12 to 0, Thursday night.

Ouachita's triumph over Smackover may have been costly, however, with Tackle Sam McInnis and Guard Charles Cain both the victims of injuries.

McInnis, one of the few veterans from last year, suffered a back injury the seriousness of which is not fully determined, and Cain is nursing a bad cut under an eye.

With McInnis on the sidelines, Rudy Eason is sure to get the call to right tackle until the veteran lineman is available once more, and Clifton O'Neal will have the right guard slot to himself. Cain and O'Neal have been battling for the starting call at guard all season and have been alternating at the post in all games.

Halfback Jack Jackson, Ouachita's candidate for all-state, looked his best of the season against Smackover and if he continues at his present pace the Lions' offense will be a definite threat over the rest of the route. Quarterback Hoyt Moncrief also showed more improvement over Smackover.

Despite the fact that the Lions' blocking and tackling was better Thursday than it had been at any other time this season, Coach Mack Avants indicated that the O. P. H. S. forces were still in for lengthy drills in those phases of play.

The work of the Lion line was one of the features of the Smackover conquest. Tackles "Sonny" Foreman and McInnis, Guard Wayne Doss and Ends Cullen Kirby and Burvon Sikes were particularly outstanding with Sikes starting the Lions on their way to victory when he intercepted a lateral in the second quarter and raced 45 yards to score.

WEST POINT GRID TEAM DEFEATS CITADEL, 19-6

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 4.—(AP)—Army marked the debut of Earl Blaik as West Point's first civilian coach in 30 years by overpowering The Citadel 19-6 today before 9,000 sun-baked fans including Major-General Edwin Watson, military aide to President Roosevelt.

Outstanding in the triumph, Army's first since Williams was nosed out in last season's opener, were Hank Mazur and Jere Maupin. Together they indirectly accounted for all three Army touchdowns and were brilliant in their passing and broken field running.

NAVY BEATS W. VA.

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Navy's gridiron juggernaut, fettered briefly by a stubborn West Virginia defense, let loose with an avalanche of touchdowns in the last half today to crush the willing but outmanned Mountaineers, 45-0, before 20,126 fans.

RAMS SHADE S. M. U. WITH GREAT FINISH

Veterans Recover Game Almost Lost By Sophs

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Fordham's football veterans recovered a game which one of its star-spangled sophomores almost lost today.

With passes by Steve Filipowicz to Blackie Blumenstock and a 28-yard field goal by Steve Hudacek—all Cotton Bowl campaigners—the Rams came from behind to shade Southern Methodist, 16 to 10, before a crowd of 28,500 that almost fell asleep through the first three quarters but never got a chance to sit down through the last one.

In the first half of that final period, the Texas Mustangs tied the score at 7-7 on a 49-yard forward passing play, and then took a 10-7 lead on Joe Pasqua's 44-yard field goal that was set up on a fumble by Benny (The Fabulous) Babula, the Rams' sophomore fullback.

But in the last eight minutes Filipowicz's long, accurate passes first brought the Rams a 10-10 tie on Hudacek's placement, and then lifted them in front for good. With 38 seconds to go, the fireplug fullback from Kulpmont, Pa., dropped back and let fly another pitch. Bluemenstock cut in behind the S. M. U. left halfback, roped the ball in on the four-yard line and went on over for a scoring play that covered 36 yards.

Sports Trail

By Whitney (He's-A-Bum) Martin

EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, Oct. 4.—(The Morning World Special News Service)—Well, folks, meet the latest member of the Bum club. We came over here this afternoon quite rational and well-behaved, but after spending four hours sandwiched in between layers of perspiring humanity far out in the centerfield bleachers where your best glimpse of the game is a stern view of Joe DiMaggio and Pete Reiser we are as much Brooklyn as any guy in the jernt-er, joint. See how quick it gets you?

When we say sandwiched we mean sandwiched. We were packed so close out there we got plastered (with mustard) every time a vendor sold a hot dog four rows back. Put a roll around us and anybody would have paid a dime for us.

It was hot out there, and before the game had started some of us bums had shed our coats and shirts and it looked like Sunday morning in the backyard. No matter how the other members of the Bum club looked, however, they wanted their pictures taken, and you never saw so many lens hogs in your life. We had to shove four of them out of the way so we could get in the pictures at all.

We found the long-time members of the club quite well-behaved, which was quite a surprise as we had expected cannon crackers and ballons and other noise-makers. Outside of a couple of off-key horns and cracked cowbell or two there wasn't much that you wouldn't find at St. Louis or Cincinnati or the Yankee stadium.

Perhaps it was because we didn't have much to yell about today. Up to the seventh inning it was just like cheering for a guy because he dodged Joe Louis' punches. Those Yanks had us in trouble all the time, and were fighting strictly a defensive battle.

A few Yankee fans had managed to sneak in some way, but side from two or three they were pretty quiet. These two or three sat down, shed their coats, rolled up their sleeves, and bellowed:

"We're Yankee fans. So what?"

Nobody said anything because these fellows looked like heavyweight weight lifters on their day off, and when one of them, after a Yankee double play, announced: "The Yankees will make six today, and the Dodgers —one," still nobody said anything.

We warmed up to our yelling before the game, chanting "hep-hep" in unison as the band marched by, and if we thought we heard a couple of "hic-hics" in there it probably was our imagination. We got our first chance to boo when an usher escorted the straw-hatted, white-suited fellow with the red parasol who was acting silly in front of the band off the field. It seems anything silly around here won't be tolerated a minute.

We managed to work the place up into a sort of class "B" bedlam once or twice in the early innings, but but only because our Bums on the field had stymied a couple of Yankee threats. Frankly, our Bums couldn't do much with this guy Russo. Perhaps that's because he is a Brooklyn boy and the Brooklyns didn't know just how to handle one of their own kind.

We thought we were really going to town in the seventh inning, and big Dolph Camilli came up with two out and a man on third and had a chance to bust one or be a bust. He was a bust, and even we out in the suburbs of the park knew it was a third strike as it settled in Bill Dickey's glove.

We've got to find out something to do about this Joe Gordon, though. He's too much ball player for just one man. This fellow DiMaggio is pretty good, too. We couldn't even boo him with much enthusiasm.

As a new member of the Bum club, we were quite disappointed, taking it all in all. There wasn't even a good first fight and no bottles were cracked on skulls. Our new friend on the left, the side with the most mustard, apologized for the sanity.

"We're just a little over-awed today, because it's the World Series," he explained. "Just wait until tomorrow."

Where heve we heard that before?

FOOT ITCH

ATHLETE'S FOOT

Beware of It Spreading

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get relief from this disease as quickly as possible because it is both contagious and infectious and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

Why Take Chances?

The germ that causes the disease is known as Tinea Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to destroy the germ, whereas, upon contact, laboratory tests show that H. F. will kill the germ Tinea Trichophyton within 15 seconds.

H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of relieving Athlete's Foot. It is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. H. F. gently peels the skin, which enables it to get to parasites existing under the outer cuticle.

Itching Often Relieved Quickly

As soon as you apply H. F. you may find that the itching is relieved. You should paint the infected part with H. F. night and morning until your feet are better. Usually this takes from three to ten days.

H. F. should leave the skin soft and smooth. You may marvel at the quick way it brings you relief.

Don't wait for Athlete's Foot to become serious. Get H. F. today.

RELIEF GUARANTEED OR MONEY BACK

According to the Government Health Bulletin No. E-28, at least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form, and the skin cracks and peels. After a while, the itching becomes intense, and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

POLL TAKEN ON NEUTRALITY LAW

fication to permit arming ships and sending them anywhere—29.

For arming ships but opposing other changes—6.

Opposed to any change in present law—20.

Desiring more time to study the question—18.

Out of Washington or unavailable—23.

Of the 41 uncommitted senators, administration leaders contended at least 30 would vote for arming merchant ships. If 30 additional members did approve arming ships the chamber would have 65 members favoring that step and 31 against it.

However, veteran senate attaches, recalling the fight against President Wilson's armed ship bill, remarked that 19 senators could block any change in the neutrality law if they were determined to filibuster. Wilson's measure was talked to death in 1917 by a dozen senators, but he later armed American merchant vessels on his own initiative.

Today's senate poll included the following alignment:

For complete repeal or modification to permit arming ships and sending them anywhere: Bilbo.

For arming ships: Doxey.

Unavailable: Ellender, Overton.

ference with senate leaders of both parties next Tuesday, after which he will decide the extent to which congress will be asked to revise the law.

The I. C. White was torpedoed in the South Atlantic on September 27. Her fate was learned yesterday when the American freighter West Nilus picked up 17 men about 450 miles east of the Brazilian coast. Today the freighter Delnorte reported rescue of 17 others, leaving four of the crew of 38 unaccounted for.

Congressional supporters of the Roosevelt foreign policy immediately seized upon the incident to bolster their case for amending or repealing the neutrality law, with the president's opponents dissenting.

DEATHS

TIPPIT RITES

The funeral of Mrs. Martha L. Tippit, widow of the late J. M. Tippit, who died at the home of her son, G. H. Tippit, 210 Connella street, West Monroe, Friday morning, was held at the residence Saturday at 3 p.m. Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church of Monroe, officiated. Interment was in the Calhoun cemetery, directed by the Kilpatrick Funeral home.

Pallbearers were all sons of Mrs. Tippit and were Adro and Raymond Bryant, Lawson Holmes, James R. Tippit, Howard and T. V. Butler.

Mrs. Tippit was a native of Alabama but had spent most of her life in North Louisiana, living for the past few years with a son, O. W. Tippit, Lufkin, Tex. She was on a visit to a son in West Monroe when she became ill.

She leaves three sons and four daughters: O. W. Tippit, Lufkin, Tex.; G. H. Tippit, West Monroe; W. H. Tippit, Escondido, Calif.; Mrs. M. I. Holmes, Sunray, Tex.; Mrs. J. R. Bryant, Delhi; Mrs. C. A. Leatherwood, Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. J. T. Adams, New Boston. Brothers and sisters are: W. D. and H. D. Carr, Monticello, Miss.; C. N. Carr, Morton, Miss.; Mrs. F. M. Floyd, Suntag, Tex., and Mrs. W. N. May, Brookhaven, Miss. She also leaves 29 grandchildren, 27 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild.

MRS. BERTHA CHAPPELL

TALLULAH, La., Oct. 4.—(Special)—Mrs. Bertha Chappel, 41, wife of Carter Chappell of Waverly, died today at the family residence. She had resided in Waverly community almost 30 years.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence, and interment will follow in the Masonic cemetery at Delhi.

Pallbearers will be Robert Williams, W. L. Taylor, J. T. Millikin, Luther Bush, Aubrey McKinnery and Ollie Chauncey.

Mrs. Chappell is survived by her husband, a son, Earl Chappell of Lake Village, Ark.; a daughter, Miss Susie Lee Chappell of Kingsville, Tex.; five brothers, Christman and Nelson Sykes of Waverly, Arthur and Wyatt Sykes of Tendal, and Horace Sykes of Lake Providence; four sisters. Mrs. John R. Frost of Delhi, Mrs. Claude Bryant and Mrs. Mike Cathey of Waverly, and Mrs. C. L. Fairchild of Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

F. E. JOHNSON

TALLULAH, La., Oct. 4.—(Special)—F. E. Johnson, 83, a native of Wisconsin, died at the home of his only son, Dave C. Chappell at Tendal community west of here Friday night.

The body was sent to Fox Lake, Wis., today and funeral services will be held there Monday. Mr. Johnson, who had resided in Wisconsin until eight years ago, leaves only his son and a granddaughter.

DEAN TREADWELL

BASTROP, Oct. 4.—(Special)—Dean Treadwell, employe of the Morehouse Enterprise, parish publication, died suddenly here of a heart attack during his sleep early Saturday morning.

Funeral services were incomplete last night pending arrival of relatives. The Robinson Funeral home will be in charge.

W. P. MOBLEY

CHOUDRANT, Oct. 4.—(Special)—Funeral services were held last Monday for W. P. Mobley who died earlier in the day after a long illness. Interment followed in the Feazell cemetery.

Mr. Mobley was born in Claiborne parish in 1875 and was a Spanish-American war veteran.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ella F. Mobley, two sons, Raymond and Roy Lee Mobley, and three grandchildren.

NEGRO SOLDIERS PRAISE MONROE

Monroe afforded negro soldiers better entertainment than any other city in this area in which they were stationed or visited, according to letters received by the negro soldiers' entertainment committee here.

Committeemen yesterday expressed appreciation to the city and parish officials, the general committee headed by Walter Kellogg, and members of the U. S. O. through parish representative Henry Bernstein for their cooperation. Morning World and News-Star, Miss Lucyle Godwin, C. R. Tidwell, the state department of revenue, and the WPA recreational division cooperated during the third week of the operation of the soldiers center at 10th and DeSiard streets.

Medical service was given to a large number at the medical clinic which was opened night and day at the Martin Temple center on Adams street. This clinic was arranged for the negro soldiers by Mayor H. H. Benoit.

The use of the large swimming pool was arranged by Fred Stovall. 2,746 negro soldiers took advantage of this donation, and 2,008 visited the center during the three weeks. Hundreds were received in the homes of the church people to eat meals on Sundays.

The following churches and their pastors cooperated: First Baptist, Rev. P. C. Keal, pastor; St. James Methodist, Rev. G. C. Hayward, pastor; Tabernacle Baptist, Rev. Keal, pastor; Mt. Nebo Baptist, Rev. Jessie Allen; Allen Chapel A. M. E., Rev. E. D. Wilson, pastor; Zion Travelers, Rev. Peyton Pierce, pastor; Martin Temple C. M. E. church.

WOMAN SLIGHTLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH HERE

An accident late last night at the intersection of DeSiard and Sterlington roads sent Mrs. Katherine Barnes, Winnsboro road, to Charity hospital where she was given first aid for a cut over her left eye and later released, Monroe police reported.

The car in which Mrs. Barnes was injured was driven by Mrs. Allen Evans who drove from a gravel street into DeSiard road where it meets the Sterlington highway, police said. The car was struck by an automobile operated by Bliven Dejournette, negro, B. B. Williams farm, Oak Grove, who was traveling east on DeSiard road, police said, adding that the negro fled the scene of the accident.

STORM REPORTED

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The weather bureau said a tropical storm "probably of full hurricane force near center"—was moving toward the Bahama Islands tonight and would be approaching the lower east coast of Florida late tomorrow afternoon if its present movement continued.

GEORGIA DOWNS SOUTH CAROLINA

Flashy Frankie Sinkwich Delivers Goods In Rough And Tumble Tilt

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 4.—(AP)—In a sluggish, rough-and-tumble football fray that saw the flashy Frankie Sinkwich deliver the telling blows, the Georgia Bulldogs overwhelmed the Gamecocks of South Carolina, 34 to 6, tonight before a nocturnal turnout of some 17,000 spectators.

Paced to an early command by the all-around performance of the highly rated Sinkwich, a junior from Youngstown, O., Georgia built up a 21-to-6 margin in the lively first two periods and then coasted on to its second win of the season in a dull second half that saw caution tossed to the wind.

The redoubtable Sinkwich, handling the ball on every occasion but thrice in the opening half, didn't score a single point himself, but his passing and all-around performance provided the highlight of the triumph over a Gamecock squad that had only a week ago startled the 1941 season with a win over North Carolina.

The 180-pound Sinkwich reeled off two beautiful 50-yard runs, one of which was turned into a touchdown. After the other, he reeled off a 25-yard touchdown sprint, but Georgia was caught offside and his scoring effort went for naught.

YANKS WIN, 2-1, TO LEAD SERIES

curve and the ball rolled tantalizingly along the third base line while the Yankees hovered over it and waited for it to go foul. Instead the ball stopped dead just inside fair territory about half way to third base and Medwick received credit for a single.

The other safety, in addition to the two that made the run in the eighth, was a tremendous double by two-gun Pete Reiser against the centerfield wall at the start of the seventh.

This brought the Brooklyn fans to their feet shouting and pleading for the Dodgers to score and win for Fitz.

But Russo was supreme, striking out Medwick and Dolph Camilli, the latter for the second time during the game. He also fanned Reiser to open the ninth and make a total of five strikeouts during the game.

Fitzsimmons matched him in effectiveness as long as he was on the mound, although he gave up four hits during his term.

The loss of Fitzsimmons was not the only body blow suffered by the Dodgers, however, and possibly in the long run not even the most important. For Billy Herman, Brooklyn's good-hitting second baseman, strained his side in batting practice and had to retire from the game in the fifth inning.

No one outside the club knew of his injury until after he had withdrawn, but it was learned later that his side was so sore that he might not be able to play tomorrow and might even miss other games.

His batting as well as his experienced keynoting for the infield are sure to be missed and if the other battles are as close as the first three, might be decisive.

Manager Leo Durocher settled upon Kirby Higbe, winner of 22 games during the regular season, to work tomorrow's fourth fracas, which, along with Monday's game, will be played in Brooklyn.

Atley Donald, a righthander who was Manager Joe McCarthy's alternate choice for today until Russo's upset stomach righted itself, was named for Sunday's session by the Yankees.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Examination of the injury Freddy Fitzsimmons received in the Yanks-Dodgers World Series game today disclosed only a painful bruise and a broken blood vessel and Dr. Frank Glenn released him from New York hospital tonight.

As soon as the examination was completed, the 40-year-old knuckle baller left the hospital for his Brooklyn hotel and a steak.

tives kept check on police broadcasts of their flight.

Turner, Atlanta youth serving 60 to 80 years for automobile thefts, who has bragged on all five of his escapes that he never would be taken alive, was bashful and silent after today's capture, Colquitt County Sheriff T. V. Beard said. He and Scarborough, serving life for a "hitch-hike" slaying and nine times escaped, made their last break from the state's "hard rock" camp for incorrigibles at Dallas. They will be imprisoned now in the new $1,500,000 state penitentiary.

When Stewart, serving 40 to 80 years for robberies, was liberated in the Hamilton gun battle, 42 other convicts fled while Turner shouted "Get going. You're free now. Get the hell out of here." Thirty-four of these returned within a few hours. Posses are seeking the other nine.

1,914 PLANES DELIVERED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The office of production management announced tonight that military aircraft manufacturers delivered 1,914 planes during September. The total was a new record, 60 above the previous high established in August when deliveries totaled 1,854. It brought the total for the first nine months of 1941 to 12,651.

In 1940 airlines carried nearly 3,000,000 passengers. For the first four months of 1941 airlines have averaged a 30 per cent increase in passenger miles and a 40 per cent increase in express-pound miles over 1940.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Stocks steady; rails, specialties higher. Bonds firm; selected issues up well over point. Cotton higher; New Orleans and local buying. Sugar mixed; new trade buying.

CHICAGO—Wheat lower; profit taking, spreading sales. Corn lower; rains stimulate recovery of most of early loss. Cattle nominally steady. Hogs steady; top $11.35.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Skies cleared for the world series today but in the stock market, with the exception of brightening rails and specialties, clouds generally continued to obscure the direction.

The list exhibited fairly steady tendencies at the start. Dealings active for a while, slowed. Liveliness of a number of low-priced issues again helped the aggregate and transfers for the two hours were around 250,000 shares.

POLL TAKEN ON NEUTRALITY LAW

fication to permit arming ships and sending them anywhere—29.

For arming ships but opposing other changes—6.

Opposed to any change in present law—20.

Desiring more time to study the question—18.

Out of Washington or unavailable—23.

Of the 41 uncommitted senators, administration leaders contended at least 30 would vote for arming merchant ships. If 30 additional members did approve arming ships the chamber would have 65 members favoring that step and 31 against it.

However, veteran senate attaches, recalling the fight against President Wilson's armed ship bill, remarked that 19 senators could block any change in the neutrality law if they were determined to filibuster. Wilson's measure was talked to death in 1917 by a dozen senators, but he later armed American merchant vessels on his own initiative.

Today's senate poll included the following alignment:

For complete repeal or modification to permit arming ships and sending them anywhere: Bilbo.

For arming ships: Doxey.

Unavailable: Ellender, Overton.

NAZI 'PIRACY' IS RAPPED BY HULL

ference with senate leaders of both parties next Tuesday, after which he will decide the extent to which congress will be asked to revise the law.

The I. C. White was torpedoed in the South Atlantic on September 27. Her fate was learned yesterday when the American freighter West Nilus picked up 17 men about 450 miles east of the Brazilian coast. Today the freighter Delnorte reported rescue of 17 others, leaving four of the crew of 38 unaccounted for.

Congressional supporters of the Roosevelt foreign policy immediately seized upon the incident to bolster their case for amending or repealing the neutrality law, with the president's opponents dissenting.

DEATHS

TIPPIT RITES

The funeral of Mrs. Martha L. Tippit, widow of the late J. M. Tippit, who died at the home of her son, G. H. Tippit, 210 Connella street, West Monroe, Friday morning, was held at the residence Saturday at 3 p.m. Rev. L. T. Hastings, pastor of the First Baptist church of Monroe, officiated. Interment was in the Calhoun cemetery, directed by the Kilpatrick Funeral home.

Pallbearers were all sons of Mrs. Tippit and were Adro and Raymond Bryant, Lawson Holmes, James R. Tippit, Howard and T. V. Butler.

Mrs. Tippit was a native of Alabama but had spent most of her life in North Louisiana, living for the past few years with a son, O. W. Tippit, Lufkin, Tex. She was on a visit to a son in West Monroe when she became ill.

She leaves three sons and four daughters: O. W. Tippit, Lufkin, Tex.; G. H. Tippit, West Monroe; W. H. Tippit, Escondido, Calif.; Mrs. M. I. Holmes, Sunray, Tex.; Mrs. J. R. Bryant, Delhi; Mrs. C. A. Leatherwood, Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. J. T. Adams, New Boston. Brothers and sisters are: W. D. and H. D. Carr, Monticello, Miss.; C. N. Carr, Morton, Miss.; Mrs. F. M. Floyd, Suntag, Tex., and Mrs. W. N. May, Brookhaven, Miss. She also leaves 29 grandchildren, 27 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild.

MRS. BERTHA CHAPPELL

TALLULAH, La., Oct. 4.—(Special)—Mrs. Bertha Chappel, 41, wife of Carter Chappell of Waverly, died today at the family residence. She had resided in Waverly community almost 30 years.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence, and interment will follow in the Masonic cemetery at Delhi.

Pallbearers will be Robert Williams, W. L. Taylor, J. T. Millikin, Luther Bush, Aubrey McKinnery and Ollie Chauncey.

Mrs. Chappell is survived by her husband, a son, Earl Chappell of Lake Village, Ark.; a daughter, Miss Susie Lee Chappell of Kingsville, Tex.; five brothers, Christman and Nelson Sykes of Waverly, Arthur and Wyatt Sykes of Tendal, and Horace Sykes of Lake Providence; four sisters, Mrs. John R. Frost of Delhi, Mrs. Claude Bryant and Mrs. Mike Cathey of Waverly, and Mrs. C. L. Fairchild of Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

F. E. JOHNSON

TALLULAH, La., Oct. 4.—(Special)—F. E. Johnson, 83, a native of Wisconsin, died at the home of his only son, Dave C. Chappell at Tendal community west of here Friday night.

The body was sent to Fox Lake, Wis., today and funeral services will be held there Monday. Mr. Johnson, who had resided in Wisconsin until eight years ago, leaves only his son and a granddaughter.

DEAN TREADWELL

BASTROP, Oct. 4.—(Special)—Dean Treadwell, employe of the Morehouse Enterprise, parish publication, died suddenly here of a heart attack during his sleep early Saturday morning.

Funeral services were incomplete last night pending arrival of relatives. The Robinson Funeral home will be in charge.

W. P. MOBLEY

CHOUDRANT, Oct. 4.—(Special)—Funeral services were held last Monday for W. P. Mobley who died earlier in the day after a long illness. Interment followed in the Feazell cemetery.

Mr. Mobley was born in Claiborne parish in 1875 and was a Spanish-American war veteran.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ella F. Mobley, two sons, Raymond and Roy Lee Mobley, and three grandchildren.

NEGRO SOLDIERS PRAISE MONROE

Monroe afforded negro soldiers better entertainment than any other city in this area in which they were stationed or visited, according to letters received by the negro soldiers' entertainment committee here.

Committeemen yesterday expressed appreciation to the city and parish officials, the general committee headed by Walter Kellogg, and members of the U. S. O. through parish representative Henry Bernstein for their cooperation. Morning World and News-Star, Miss Lucyle Godwin, C. R. Tidwell, the state department of revenue, and the WPA recreational division cooperated during the third week of the operation of the soldiers center at 10th and DeSiard streets.

Medical service was given to a large number at the medical clinic which was opened night and day at the Martin Temple center on Adams street. This clinic was arranged for the negro soldiers by Mayor H. H. Benoit.

The use of the large swimming pool was arranged by Fred Stovall. 2,746 negro soldiers took advantage of this donation, and 2,008 visited the center during the three weeks. Hundreds were received in the homes of the church people to eat meals on Sundays.

The following churches and their pastors cooperated: First Baptist, Rev. P. C. Keal, pastor; St. James Methodist, Rev. G. C. Hayward, pastor; Tabernacle Baptist, Rev. Keal, pastor; Mt. Nebo Baptist, Rev. Jessie Allen; Allen Chapel A. M. E., Rev. E. D. Wilson, pastor; Zion Travelers, Rev. Peyton Pierce, pastor; Martin Temple C. M. E. church.

WOMAN SLIGHTLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH HERE

An accident late last night at the intersection of DeSiard and Sterlington roads sent Mrs. Katherine Barnes, Winnsboro road, to Charity hospital where she was given first aid for a cut over her left eye and later released, Monroe police reported.

The car in which Mrs. Barnes was injured was driven by Mrs. Allen Evans who drove from a gravel street into DeSiard road where it meets the Sterlington highway, police said. The car was struck by an automobile operated by Bliven Dejournette, negro, B. B. Williams farm, Oak Grove, who was traveling east on DeSiard road, police said, adding that the negro fled the scene of the accident.

STORM REPORTED

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The weather bureau said a tropical storm "probably of full hurricane force near center"—was moving toward the Bahama Islands tonight and would be approaching the lower east coast of Florida late tomorrow afternoon if its present movement continued.

GEORGIA DOWNS SOUTH CAROLINA

Flashy Frankie Sinkwich Delivers Goods In Rough And Tumble Tilt

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 4.—(AP)—In a sluggish, rough-and-tumble football fray that saw the flashy Frankie Sinkwich deliver the telling blows, the Georgia Bulldogs overwhelmed the Gamecocks of South Carolina, 34 to 6, tonight before a nocturnal turnout of some 17,000 spectators.

Paced to an early command by the all-around performance of the highly rated Sinkwich, a junior from Youngstown, O., Georgia built up a 21-to-6 margin in the lively first two periods and then coasted on to its second win of the season in a dull second half that saw caution tossed to the wind.

The redoubtable Sinkwich, handling the ball on every occasion but thrice in the opening half, didn't score a single point himself, but his passing and all-around performance provided the highlight of the triumph over a Gamecock squad that had only a week ago startled the 1941 season with a win over North Carolina.

The 180-pound Sinkwich reeled off two beautiful 50-yard runs, one of which was turned into a touchdown. After the other, he reeled off a 25-yard touchdown sprint, but Georgia was caught offside and his scoring effort went for naught.

YANKS WIN, 2-1, TO LEAD SERIES

curve and the eball rolled tantalizingly along the third base line while the Yankees hovered over it and waited for it to go foul. Instead the ball stopped dead just inside fair territory about half way to third base and Medwick received credit for a single.

The other safety, in addition to the two that made the run in the eighth, was a tremendous double by two-gun Pete Reiser against the centerfield wall at the start of the seventh.

This brought the Brooklyn fans to their feet shouting and pleading for the Dodgers to score and win for Fitz.

But Russo was supreme, striking out Medwick and Dolph Camilli, the latter for the second time during the game. He also fanned Reiser to open the ninth and make a total of five strikeouts during the game.

Fitzsimmons matched him in effectiveness as long as he was on the mound, although he gave up four hits during his term.

The loss of Fitzsimmons was not the only body blow suffered by the Dodgers, however, and possibly in the long run not even the most important. For Billy Herman, Brooklyn's good-hitting second baseman, strained his side in batting practice and had to retire from the game in the fifth inning.

No one outside the club knew of his injury until after he had withdrawn, but it was learned later that his side was so sore that he might not be able to play tomorrow and might even miss other games.

His batting as well as his experienced keynoting for the infield are sure to be missed and if the other battles are as close as the first three, might be decisive.

Manager Leo Durocher settled upon Kirby Higbe, winner of 22 games during the regular season, to work tomorrow's fourth fracas, which, along with Monday's game, will be played in Brooklyn.

Atley Donald, a righthander who was Manager Joe McCarthy's alternate choice for today until Russo's upset stomach righted itself, was named for Sunday's session by the Yankees.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Examination of the injury Freddy Fitzsimmons received in the Yanks-Dodgers World Series game today disclosed only a painful bruise and a broken blood vessel and Dr. Frank Glenn released him from New York hospital tonight.

As soon as the examination was completed, the 40-year-old knuckle baller left the hospital for his Brooklyn hotel and a steak.

tives kept check on police broadcasts of their flight.

Turner, Atlanta youth serving 60 to 80 years for automobile thefts, who has bragged on all five of his escapes that he never would be taken alive, was bashful and silent after today's capture, Colquitt County Sheriff T. V. Beard said. He and Scarborough, serving life for a "hitch-hike" slaying and nine times escaped, made their last break from the state's "hard rock" camp for incorrigibles at Dallas. They will be imprisoned now in the new $1,500,000 state penitentiary.

When Stewart, serving 40 to 80 years for robberies, was liberated in the Hamilton gun battle, 42 other convicts fled while Turner shouted "Get going. You're free now. Get the hell out of here." Thirty-four of these returned within a few hours. Posses are seeking the other nine.

1,914 PLANES DELIVERED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The office of production management announced tonight that military aircraft manufacturers delivered 1,914 planes during September. The total was a new record, 60 above the previous high established in August when deliveries totaled 1,854. It brought the total for the first nine months of 1941 to 12,651.

In 1940 airlines carried nearly 3,000,000 passengers. For the first four months of 1941 airlines have averaged a 30 per cent increase in passenger miles and a 40 per cent increase in express-pound miles over 1940.

World's Latest Market News

COTTON

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Further advances were shown in cotton futures here today, attributed to unfavorable weather in the belt, crop deterioration and a continued heavy demand for spot. The market closed steady 15 to 25 points net higher.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths inch cotton today at 10 designated southern spot markets was 14 points higer at 17.13 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 17.04; middling 7-8ths inch average 16.92.

New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Spot house transactions dominated the cotton futures market today as prices preserved their higher tendencies.

A good demand from mill interests, New Orleans and Wall Street was motivated by the favorable interpretation given the sliding scale ceilings on cottor carded yarns and reports of unfavorable weather in the south.

Increased hedge selling on the advance caused only momentary setbacks.

Futures closed 14-25 higher.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Skies cleared for the world series today but in the stock market, with the exception of brightening rails and specialties, clouds generally continued to obscure the direction.

The list exhibited fairly steady tendencies at the start. Dealings, active for a while, slowed. Liveliness of a number of low-priced issues again helped the aggregate and transfers for the two hours were around 250,000 shares.

LOCAL CHEST TO START CAMPAIGN

Sum Of $27,500 Is Goal; Same As That Of Last Year

Final plans are being formulated for the holding of the 1941-1942 Twin City Community Chest campaign which will be opened here on Sunday, October 12, and will end October 24.

On the opening day, well known speakers will deliver short talks over KMLB in behalf of the chest which seeks to raise a sum of $27,500, which was last year's goal.

Actual solicitations of subscriptions will be started Monday, October 13.

President M. S. Biedenharn has selected W. W. Kellogg, well-known local business man, as campaign chairman.

The advisory committee of the Community Chest has been named as follows: W. W. Kellogg, C. D. Oakley, D. C. Silverstein, Sam Rubin, J. G. Hicks, R. D. Kellogg, R. L. Davis, A. Blumenthal, Ben Downing, H. A. McDonald, M. C. McDonald, T. W. Davenport, Clyde Brown, C. M. Strauss, Ira Cagle, Fagan Cox, John Gordan, John Sherrouse, J. L. Keenan, R. A. Wisenbaker, Murray Hudson and P. E. Massey.

Mayor Benoit To Proclaim Oct. 17 'Navy Band Day'

Appearance Of Famed Musical Group Here Given Added Emphasis

"Navy Band day," October 17, when the world's greatest band will appear for two performances in Monroe, will be given added emphasis by Mayor H. H. Benoit, who has announced that he will issue a special proclamation calling upon the people here to make every possible effort to hear this great group perform. The afternoon performance, stated members of Teflis Grotto, which is sponsor of the concerts, will be at Brown field at 3 p.m. The night performance will be in Neville High school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Announcement of the concerts will be made at all dinner clubs in the Twin Cities so that the importance of the events will be properly emphasized. Throughout the cities and towns of the Fifth district, large roadside sign boards are proclaiming that Monroe will have a great "Navy Band day." School teachers in this area are to announce to their pupils that an unusual opportunity exists to add to one's musical education.

In order to enable a vast throng to attend, the prices have been made extremely modest. For the matinee, students will be admitted for 27 cents plus a tax of three cents. Adults will pay 68 cents plus a seven-cent tax at the matinee. The night admission fee will be uniform and will be 99 cents for every one.

One of the most interesting players in the Navy band is Homer Phillips, trombone soloist who attended grade and high school in his home city of Aurora, Ill. A trombone enthusiast, he studied with Jerosiav Cimera and Carrol Martin, two of America's leading exponents of this versatile instrument. In 1929, at the age of 17, he won the national trombone solo contest held at Denver, Colo.

The following year found him enrolled for a course in civil engineering at North Central college of Naperville, Ill., but he later changed to music and graduated from Northwestern university music school in 1934 with the honor of being elected to the national honorary music fraternity, Pi Kappa Lambda. During his senior year he was president of Phi Mu Alpha national honorary and professional music fraternity.

Phillips has been heard throughout the United States and Canada during the four seasons in which he appeared as trombone soloist with the White Hussar Concert company. He has also held the position of soloist with the Armin Hand and Glen Cliff Bainum bands, and later had the distinction of being trombone soloist with the well known Bachman million-dollar band.

In Chicago he became known as a successful trombone instructor, having developed several national high school champions and many fine soloists in the professional field.

His love for mechanics and engineering has never entirely left him, so his leisure moments are divided between sports, chiefly tennis and golf, and his work bench, where he enjoys designing furniture and doing other woodwork.

FEDERAL COURT VENIRES NAMED

Fall Term Of United States Tribunal Will Begin October 13

Grand and petit juror lists for the October term of the Fifth district federal court, which begins here October 13, were announced here yesterday by court officials. The jurors' names were drawn yesterday by Jury Commissioner O. G. Elliott, Merrill F. Bush, deputy clerk of court, and E. Bailey Grant, deputy marshal for the district.

MUSIC CAMPAIGN STARTS MONDAY

'Kick-off' Banquet Will Be Held By Civic Group Here

The kick-off banquet of the Monroe Civic Music Association will be held on the Hotel Frances terrace, Monday at 8 p.m. when definite plans for the campaign for members will be outlined for the group leaders who will attend, together with their assistants.

The new officers this year are: Sid A. Moss, president; J. Norman Coon, first vice-president; Lowery Jefferson, second vice-president; Dallas Goss, treasurer; Mrs. C. C. Colvert, secretary. All are optimistic regarding the outcome this year and they are resolved to enroll a far greater number than ever before as, with a greater membership, there is more money available and better talent is thereby secured.

Starting Monday night, the campaign will be in full force for the next few days and all residents and especially music lovers will be given an opportunity to enroll.

MRS. BROWN DIES IN ORANGE, TEX.

Mrs. E. W. Brown, mother of Lutcher and Edgar Brown, founders and officials of the Brown Paper Mill in West Monroe and of extensive paper interests in Orange, Tex., and other cities, died Saturday at her home in Orange.

The funeral will be held at the First Presbyterian church in Orange, Tex., Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. McDonald and Mr. and Mrs. B. Beasley from Monroe left Saturday for Orange to attend the services.

NOTED SPEAKER

Dr. Henry McLaughlin, above, head of Sunday school extension in the southern Presbyterian churches, will speak at the First Presbyterian church here tonight at 7:30 o'clock. He is a leader in the movement instituted to "Discover the Unreached." Through his efforts Sunday schools are being expanded as a feeder for active church membership. New Sunday schools are being organized in communities where they are lacking and those already established are being built up to larger numbers through the stimulus that is being afforded.

N. J. C. WILL ENTER NATIONAL CONTEST

Northeast Junior college has been invited to participate in a special nationwide contest on current affairs, according to W. R. Hammond, head of the department of social sciences at the college.

The contest is sponsored by the American Association of Junior colleges as part of junior college training for intelligent citizenship in a democracy. The editors of "Time" are cooperating with the association in carrying out the project.

The contest probably will take place during the latter part of next January. Prizes, consisting of books selected by the winners, will be awarded by the editors of "Time" to the freshman, the sophomore, and the faculty member in each junior college making the best score.

The contest will involve a test covering important events in national and international affairs from September through December, 1941. It will consist of over 100 questions concerning significant developments in peace and war, and also in the fields of business, science, literature and the arts.

LOCAL CHEST TO START CAMPAIGN

Sum Of $27,500 Is Goal; Same As That Of Last Year

Final plans are being formulated for the holding of the 1941-1942 Twin City Community Chest campaign which will be opened here on Sunday, October 12, and will end October 24.

On the opening day, well known speakers will deliver short talks over KMLB in behalf of the chest which seeks to raise a sum of $27,500, which was last year's goal.

Actual solicitations of subscriptions will be started Monday, October 13.

President M. S. Biedenhain has selected W. W. Kellogg, well-known local business man, as campaign chairman.

The advisory committee of the Community Chest has been named as follows: W. W. Kellogg, C. D. Oakley, D. C. Silverstein, Sam Rubin, J. G. Hicks, R. D. Kellogg, R. L. Davis, A. Blumenthal, Ben Downing, H. A. McDonald, M. C. McDonald, T. W. Davenport, Clyde Brown, C. M. Strauss, Ira Cagle, Fagan Cox, John Gordan, John Sherrouse, J. L. Keenan, R. A. Wisenbaker, Murray Hudson and P. E. Massey.

Appearance Of Famed Musical Group Here Given Added Emphasis

"Navy Band day," October 17, when the world's greatest band will appear for two performances in Monroe, will be given added emphasis by Mayor H. H. Benoit, who has announced that he will issue a special proclamation calling upon the people here to make every possible effort to hear this great group perform. The afternoon performance, stated members of Teflis Grotto, which is sponsor of the concerts, will be at Brown field at 3 p.m. The night performance will be in Neville High school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Announcement of the concerts will be made at all dinner clubs in the Twin Cities so that the importance of the events will be properly emphasized. Throughout the cities and towns of the Fifth district, large roadside sign boards are proclaiming that Monroe will have a great "Navy Band day." School teachers in this area are to announce to their pupils that an unusual opportunity exists to add to one's musical education.

In order to enable a vast throng to attend, the prices have been made extremely modest. For the matinee, students will be admitted for 27 cents plus a tax of three cents. Adults will pay 68 cents plus a seven-cent tax at the matinee. The night admission fee will be uniform and will be 99 cents for every one.

One of the most interesting players in the Navy band is Homer Phillips, trombone soloist who attended grade and high school in his home city of Aurora, Ill. A trombone enthusiast, he studied with Jerosiav Cimera and Carrol Martin, two of America's leading exponents of this versatile instrument. In 1929, at the age of 17, he won the national trombone solo contest held at Denver, Colo.

The following year found him enrolled for a course in civil engineering at North Central college of Naperville, Ill., but he later changed to music and graduated from Northwestern university music school in 1934 with the honor of being elected to the national honorary music fraternity, Pi Kappa Lambda. During his senior year he was president of Phi Mu Alpha national honorary and professional music fraternity.

Phillips has been heard throughout the United States and Canada during the four seasons in which he appeared as trombone soloist with the White Hussar Concert company. He has also held the position of soloist with the Armin Hand and Glen Cliff Bainum bands, and later had the distinction of being trombone soloist with the well known Bachman million-dollar band.

In Chicago he became known as a successful trombone instructor, having developed several national high school champions and many fine soloists in the professional field.

His love for mechanics and engineering has never entirely left him, so his leisure moments are divided between sports, chiefly tennis and golf, and his work bench, where he enjoys designing furniture and doing other woodwork.

Eve Bradford's CHAT COLUMN

SUMMER, refusing to be left behind, trotted right along by the side of October, the golden month of the year, when she bowed herself in. Even though summer lingers, the month of October has a way of inspiring one to all manner of ambitious undertakings.

Always when October arrives we decide to do all the things we have wanted to do for years. We are suddenly seized with the desire to read the best books, to reread the favorites among the classics, to give more attention to music, to see more of our friends, to enroll in French and Spanish classes, to whip up new draperies for the living room and relieve the dull monotony of things by shifting the furniture from its accustomed place.

For the peace-loving soul who wants to forget the sad state of the world for awhile, late October affords an opportunity to sit beside the home fire with a good book for a companion.

However, the very last thing the average person wants to do when October sets the gypsy blood astir, is to sit by the fire. The urge is strong to strut forth in shining new raiment as colorful as Joseph's coat of Biblical fame. Such an opportunity will be offered every femme next Wednesday when Junior Charity league members greet feminine Monroe on the roof of the Virginia hotel during the fashionable tea hour—5 o'clock. A style revue will hold the audience enthralled for an hour or more. The stunning new gown, the smart little hat and the handsome new furs purchased against just such an occasion, can be worn on Wednesday. In fact the more smartly dressed the audience the better the hostesses will like it. Sartorial splendor at these fashionable events is something they are really striving for.

Walking the plank for sweet charity will be Roberta Neal, Nan Buckner, Clara Virginia Terzia, Dorothy Calvert, Dorothy Graves, Mildred Breard, Mrs. Foster Wallace, Mrs. Douglas Parkes, Mrs. Hillyer Parker and Mrs. James Standley.

The price of admission is so very small we wonder if the league members overlooked the fact that everyone expects to pay liberally for their amusements these days. It is the day of high prices and no one seems to be complaining—even the profiteers are "getting away with murder," it seems.

Along about this time every year members of the Civic Music association resolve to make Monroe more appreciative of good music than ever before. Working with the regularity of a clock they gather their forces, launch their membership drive, plan their program and then sit back and enjoy an anticipatory thrill over the appearance of artists who will entertain them during the winter months.

Last year's presentation of the Houston Symphony orchestra was an artistic triumph. Music lovers who failed to become members of the Civic Music association during the membership drive wept bitter tears and were deeply chagrined when the night of the concert arrived and they were denied the privilege of attending. Those present will never forget the thrill that went through the audience when the lights died down, the conversation ceased and the conductor lifted his baton.

The orchestra will return to Monroe this year for another engagement with the Civic Music association. Do not, we pray thee, be foolish enough to make the same mistake twice. Get in touch immediately with Stella Hullum, membership chairman, and see that your name appears with the list of members.

Curtain going up! In Little Theater circles excitement runs wild on the opening night when the season is brilliantly launched. Very soon now we will be walking down the aisle at Northeast Junior college auditorium to witness the first show of the season "Ladies of the Jury."

Once again the apartment of Lorenzo Smith, director, and his vivacious young wife, Elroy, has been turned into a Little Theater workshop. Members simply love the Bohemian atmosphere created by Mr. and Mrs. Smith. The coffee pot is never cold and the larder can always be depended upon to offer up a midnight snack. There really is no need for a clock at the Smiths—no one ever asks the time, and no one ever wants to go home.

Elroy Smith simply exudes vitality, vim and vigor. She is brimming with ideas and can whip up a costume in the twinkling of an eye. A yard or more of material, a few deft touches and behold—a costume has been created.

The fashionable side of life is going to be stressed at Little Theater performances this season. Members are urged to step out like "Solomon in all his glory." The time between the acts can be spent to splendid advantage by admiring our neighbor's beautiful hat; her gown and her becoming new coiffure. No doubt we will find ourselves saying "from the top of your head to the tips of your toes you're wonderful." After all there is nothing we can do to send our spirits soaring more than to dress up in those glamorous winter clothes the merchants are displaying so temptingly. This is the season to do something different—to be really lavish in our attire—to be dramatic from the top of our head to the tips of our toes.

Mary Lee Saunders told us that she read what we had to say about our visit in New York City and was immediately seized with a desire for the bright lights. She dusted off her wardrobe trunk, packed away her best gowns and headed for Broadway. She engaged a room at the McAlpin hotel in the heart of the theatrical and shopping districts, and made reservations at the theaters. We supplied her with all the necessary information regarding a visit to the Cloisters, the Little Church Around the Corner, the Battery, the Hudson river trips and the procedure necessary to obtain tickets for the broadcasts. We hope that her visit will be as wonderful as ours was.

Romance is brewing in Little Theater circles. It was a case of propinquity that sent Christine Frost and Aylmer Crow altarward last week. Following rehearsals of "Ladies of the Jury" they decided to get married and in company with the Little Theater director, Lorenzo Smith, and Mrs Smith, they motored over to Rayville to have the knot tied. They both took prominent parts in Little Theater productions and the close association, no doubt, resulted in a case of real love.

When Mr. and Mrs. Haakon Nelson returned from Minnesota, where they spent their vacation and incidentally celebrated their first wedding anniversary, they brought back a set of beautiful spoons, a tea service, and many other articles fashioned by hand of Norwegian silver. They were brought from Norway by Mr. Nelson's mother and given to him and his wife as anniversary gifts. Another beautiful and valuable gift brought from Norway and presented to Mr. and Mrs. Nelson is a tablecloth of Hardanger embroidery.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson's visit in Minnesota was highlighted by ice-skating festivals in St. Paul and dining with their good friends, Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Barber, in the Coffman Memorial building on the campus of the University of Minnesota.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED . . .

Mrs. Robert Sale, formerly Miss Louise Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Duncan, whose marriage took place September 19 at the Baptist parsonage in Rayville. Mr. and Mrs. Sale are now at home at 604 Pine street, this city.

Houston Symphony To Play In Monroe Again

Outstanding Orchestra Booked To Appear Here Under Auspices Of Civic Music Association

Desiring to satisfy the many requests made by members of the Civic Music association for the return this year of the Houston Symphony orchestra, members of the board take pleasure in announcing that arrangements have been completed for the presentation of this orchestra during the coming season.

The appearance of this orchestra in Monroe last winter created much interest in Civic Music association circles. Miss Kathryn Barnette Marries Norman Many

Of interest to many friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Kathryn Elizabeth Barette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Barnette of this city and Mr. Norman Francis Many of Geismar, Louisiana.

The wedding took place Saturday October 4 in the Catholic Rectory, West Monroe, in the presence of the family and a few intimate friends, with Father Henry Frieburg reading the ceremony. Miss Barnette wore a fall model of Romance Crepe in beaver brown, with matching accessories. Her corsage was of talisman roses. Mr. and Mrs. Many left immediately following the ceremony for Natchez, and Baton Rouge.

The bride is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High school and Monroe Commercial school and is now associated with the Letter Service bureau. Mr. Many is stationed at Barksdale Field, Shreveport, where he is enlisted with the 383rd school squadron, air corps. He was formerly associated with the Monroe Furniture company.

Eve Bradford's CHAT COLUMN

SUMMER, refusing to be left behind, trotted right along by the side of October, the golden month of the year, when she bowed herself in. Even though summer lingers, the month of October has a way of inspiring one to all manner of ambitious undertakings.

Always when October arrives we decide to do all the things we have wanted to do for years. We are suddenly seized with the desire to read the best books, to reread the favorites among the classics, to give more attention to music, to see more of our friends, to enroll in French and Spanish classes, to whip up new draperies for the living room and relieve the dull monotony of things by shifting the furniture from its accustomed place.

For the peace-loving soul who wants to forget the sad state of the world for awhile, late October affords an opportunity to sit beside the home fire with a good book for a companion.

However, the very last thing the average person wants to do when October sets the gypsy blood astir, is to sit by the fire. The urge is strong to strut forth in shining new raiment as colorful as Joseph's coat of Biblical fame. Such an opportunity will be offered every femme next Wednesday when Junior Charity league members greet feminine Monroe on the roof of the Virginia hotel during the fashionable tea hour—5 o'clock. A style revue will hold the audience enthralled for an hour or more. The stunning new gown, the smart little hat and the handsome new furs purchased against just such an occasion, can be worn on Wednesday. In fact the more smartly dressed the audience the better the hostesses will like it. Sartorial splendor at these fashionable events is something they are really striving for.

Walking the plank for sweet charity will be Roberta Neal, Nan Buckner, Clara Virginia Terzia, Dorothy Calvert, Dorothy Graves, Mildred Breard, Mrs. Foster Wallace, Mrs. Douglas Parkes, Mrs. Hillyer Parker and Mrs. James Standley.

The price of admission is so very small we wonder if the league members overlooked the fact that everyone expects to pay liberally for their amusements these days. It is the day of high prices and no one seems to be complaining—even the profiteers are "getting away with murder," it seems.

Along about this time every year members of the Civic Music association resolve to make Monroe more appreciative of good music than ever before. Working with the regularity of a clock they gather their forces, launch their membership drive, plan their program and then sit back and enjoy an anticipatory thrill over the appearance of artists who will entertain them during the winter months.

Last year's presentation of the Houston Symphony orchestra was an artistic triumph. Music lovers who failed to become members of the Civic Music association during the membership drive wept bitter tears and were deeply chagrined when the night of the concert arrived and they were denied the privilege of attending. Those present will never forget the thrill that went through the audience when the lights died down, the conversation ceased and the conductor lifted his baton.

The orchestra will return to Monroe this year for another engagement with the Civic Music association. Do not, we pray thee, be foolish enough to make the same mistake twice. Get in touch immediately with Stella Hullum, membership chairman, and see that your name appears with the list of members.

Curtain going up! In Little Theater circles excitement runs wild on the opening night when the season is brilliantly launched. Very soon now we will be walking down the aisle at Northeast Junior college auditorium to witness the first show of the season "Ladies of the Jury."

Once again the apartment of Lorenzo Smith, director, and his vivacious young wife, Elroy, has been turned into a Little Theater workshop. Members simply love the Bohemian atmosphere created by Mr. and Mrs. Smith. The coffee pot is never cold and the larder can always be depended upon to offer up a midnight snack. There really is no need for a clock at the Smiths—no one ever asks the time, and no one ever wants to go home.

Elroy Smith simply exudes vitality, vim and vigor. She is brimming with ideas and can whip up a costume in the twinkling of an eye. A yard or more of material, a few deft touches and behold—a costume has been created.

The fashionable side of life is going to be stressed at Little Theater performances this season. Members are urged to step out like "Solomon in all his glory." The time between the acts can be spent to splendid advantage by admiring our neighbor's beautiful hat; her gown and her becoming new coiffure. No doubt we will find ourselves saying "from the top of your head to the tips of your toes you're wonderful." After all there is nothing we can do to send our spirits soaring more than to dress up in those glamorous winter clothes the merchants are displaying so temptingly. This is the season to do something different—to be really lavish in our attire—to be dramatic from the top of our head to the tips of our toes.

Mary Lee Saunders told us that she read what we had to say about our visit in New York City and was immediately seized with a desire for the bright lights. She dusted off her wardrobe trunk, packed away her best gowns and headed for Broadway. She engaged a room at the McAlpin hotel in the heart of the theatrical and shopping districts, and made reservations at the theaters. We supplied her with all the necessary information regarding a visit to the Cloisters, the Little Church Around the Corner, the Battery, the Hudson river trips and the procedure necessary to obtain tickets for the broadcasts. We hope that her visit will be as wonderful as ours was.

Romance is brewing in Little Theater circles. It was a case of propinquity that sent Christine Frost and Aylmer Crow afterward last week. Following rehearsals of "Ladies of the Jury" they decided to get married and in company with the Little Theater director, Lorenzo Smith, and Mrs Smith, they motored over to Rayville to have the knot tied. They both took prominent parts in Little Theater productions and the close association, no doubt, resulted in a case of real love.

When Mr. and Mrs. Haakon Nelson returned from Minnesota, where they spent their vacation and incidentally celebrated their first wedding anniversary, they brought back a set of beautiful spoons, a tea service, and many other articles fashioned by hand of Norwegian silver. They were brought from Norway by Mr. Nelson's mother and given to him and his wife as anniversary gifts. Another beautiful and valuable gift brought from Norway and presented to Mr. and Mrs. Nelson is a tablecloth of Hardanger embroidery.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson's visit in Minnesota was highlighted by ice-skating festivals in St. Paul and dining with their good friends, Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Barber, in the Coffman Memorial building on the campus of the University of Minnesota.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED . . .

Mrs. Robert Sale, formerly Miss Louise Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Duncan, whose marriage took place September 19 at the Baptist parsonage in Rayville. Mr. and Mrs. Sale are now at home at 604 Pine street, this city.

Houston Symphony To Play In Monroe Again

Outstanding Orchestra Booked To Appear Here Under Auspices Of Civic Music Association

Desiring to satisfy the many requests made by members of the Civic Music association for the return this year of the Houston Symphony orchestra, members of the board take pleasure in announcing that arrangements have been completed for the presentation of this orchestra during the coming season.

The appearance of this orchestra in Monroe last winter created much interest in Civic Music association circles. The event was one of the most brilliant from a musical and social standpoint in the history of the association. Non-members of the association, many of whom are identified with the musical world of Monroe, were unable to attend the concert last year and consequently suffered great disappointment.

Under the leadership of Ernst Hoffmann the Houston Symphony orchestra has progressed brilliantly until it is now a leader in its field, with increasing national recognition.

Conductor Hoffmann was born in Boston, where his father, Jacques Hoffmann was a member of the Boston Symphony for thirty-six years. Later he was professor at Boston university and Wellesley college.

ommission Will Award eading Certificates

During Book week, November 2-8, e Louisiana Library commission will ward reading certificates to any in- ividual who within the year from October, 1940, to October, 1941, has read 12 books on a variety of subjects.

For the past year book lists issued by the Louisiana Library commission have been available at the public library. Many patrons have obtained these suggestive reading lists and have already read the quota of 12 outstanding works. All lists must be submitted to Miss Frances Michie at the library by October 25, 1941.

Some of the recommended books appearing on the list are: "How to Read a Book," M. J. Adler; "Good Health and Bad Medicine," Aaron; "American White Paper, the Story of American Diplomacy and the Second World War," Alsop and Kintner; "My Ten Years in the Studios," George Artiss; "Trelawny," Armstrong; "Period Piece, Ella Wheeler Wilcox and Her Times," Jenny Ballou; "Europe in the Spring," Clare Boothe; "New England Indian Summer, 1865-1915," Van Wyck Brooks; "This Is On Me," Katharine Brush; "Idle Money, Idle Men," Stuart Chase; "M-Day and What It Means to You," Sherne; "Rulers of the World," Maurice Crain.

"A Southerner Discovers New England," Daniels; "Country Squire in the White House," Flynn; "Richard Halliburton," autobiography; "I Married Adventure," Osa Johnson; "Land Below the Wind," Keith; "Smattering of Ignorance," Oscar Levant; "McKenney's Carry On," Ruth McKenney; "Art of Living," Maurois; "J'Accuse," Simone; "Burma Road," Smith; "Well-tempered Listener," Deems Taylor; "Strategy of Terror," Edmond Taylor; "Defense for America," White; "Five and Ten, the Fabulous Life of F. W. Woolworth," J. K. Winklers, and "As I Remember Him," Hans Zinsser

The next time you visit the library, ask to see the suggested lists and you may discover that you have read enough non-fiction during the year to secure a reading certificate from the library commission.

Miss Peggy McCrary Married To Henry Allen Buie, Jr., In Ceremony Her

John Guerriero Home Is Scene Of Marriage

Rites, Characterized By Simplicity, Performed By Rev. Holloway; Will Live In Rayville

Claiming prominence among the many interesting nuptial events of the early fall season was the wedding of Miss Peggy McCrary, daughter of Mrs. Pauline McCrary of this city, and Henry Allen Buie, Jr., son of Mrs. Annie Buie and the late H. A. Buie of Rayville.

The ceremony, characterized by charming simplicity, took place at nine o'clock in the morning, September 28, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Guerriero, with Rev. Ernest Holloway, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating in the presence of members of the family and a few close friends.

An improvised altar reared in the living room was encircled with golden-hued chrysanthemums overflowing from tall, white, wrought iron urns. Chrysanthemums also banked the mantel along which southern smilax was gracefully entwined.

While guests were assembling, Leon Hammond rendered a medley of nuptial melodies, all of which were the bride's favorite airs.

The bride's attendant, Miss Jo Ann Guerriero, wore a lovely R. A. F. blue ensemble with a wide-brimmed hat of the same shade of blue and a corsage of shell pink chrysanthemums.

Harold Cochran served in the capacity of best man.

The bride wore a beautiful costume suit of pecan brown with harmonizing accessories and a wide-brimmed hat of the same shade of brown. A corsage of mauve and green orchids was effectively worn. For something old, she wore a handsome diamond pin that has been in the bridegroom's family for generations.

During the informal reception following the ceremony, the bride and bridegroom cut the beautifully-embossed wedding cake. It adorned the lace-covered bride's table in the dining room, where confections were served by Mrs. Guerriero, assisted by Mrs. McCrary.

Following a honeymoon on the gulf coast, Mr. and Mrs. Buie will make their home in Rayville, where Mr. Buie is a prominent young businessman.

Mrs. Buie, a popular member of the younger set, is a graduate of Neville High school and active in Beta Delta sorority circles. Mr. Buie attended Chamberlain Military academy and Soule college, New Orleans.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jarman of Rayville, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Cochran, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fairleigh of Holly Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Watson of Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Self of Birmingham, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schooler of Ferriday.

Bobashelas Book Club Meets In Russell Home

The October meeting of the Bobashelas Book club was held in the J. V. Russell home, with Mrs. Russell and Mrs. O. N. Reynolds, co-hostesses. Lovely arrangements of pink roses and gladioli were placed in the reception suite.

Mrs. George Austin, president, outlined plans for the interesting year's work in addition to the comprehensive program planned by the year-book committee. During the business session, Mrs. D. C. Harper gave a report of the state convention, urging cooperation and attendance. Mrs. Herbert Rinehart was appointed to aid in convention affairs. It was announced that the club approved joining the national federation.

An announcement of paramount interest was that the Ouachita parish library will establish a branch in the Civic league room in West Monroe. This has long been an aim of the club. As a gesture of appreciation, Bobashelas voted to present $20 as a gift to be used for new books. Plans were made to join other clubs in West Monroe in a benefit bridge-tea to take place October 25.

Chairmen for the different departments were named as follows: American citizenship, Miss Lallage Feazel; public welfare, Mrs. D. C. Harper; education, Mrs. O. N. Reynolds. National defense chairmen: recreation, Mrs. Malcolm LeFevre; nursing, Mrs. H. A. Gentry; stamps and bonds, Mrs. Lester Waddell; and agriculture, Mrs. O. N. Reynolds.

Mrs. J. O. Miller handled a difficult subject, "Louisiana Government," with skill. She gave the history in brief from the origin to the present day.

In the absence of Mrs. W. D Clark, parliamentarian, Mrs. Malcolm LeFevre conducted an interesting drill in parliamentary law.

Delicious refreshments were served to Mrs. Jack McClendon, a new member, Mrs. George Austin, Mrs. C. C. Eby, Mrs. H. A. Gentry, Mrs. K. D. Hayes, Mrs. Malcolm LeFevre, Mrs. L. N. Waddell, Mrs. D. C. Harper, Mrs. J. O. Miller, Mrs. Herbert Rinehart, and Mrs. R. G. Taylor.

MR. AND MRS. PHILLIP TICHELI . . .

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Ticheli took place recently at St. Matthew's Catholic church. The bride was formerly Miss Josephine Danna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Danna. Mr. and Mrs. Ticheli are now at home to their friends in this city.

Fay Lynn Guerriero Celebrates Birthday

Fay Lynn Guerriero, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Guerriero, 1015 North Sixth street, celebrated her fourth birthday on Wednesday, September 24, between the hours of 3:30 and 5:30 p.m. The birthday cake was a three tier white cake with trimmings of blue and pink. The top tier consisted of five candles.

The table was beautifully decorated with a table cloth with happy birthday all around the border and napkins to match. Fay Lynn wore a miniature corsage of pink rosebuds and blue baby breath.

Those who attended were little friends of Fay Lynn's: Nancy Ledbetter, Joe D. Guerriero, Sara Lou Hudson, W. J. Haddad, Prentice Massey, Jane Overton Williams, Jo Ann Carso, Catherine Carso, Judy Stewart, Judy Lynn Fowler, Lela Bess Kite, Larry McCarthy, Joy Sutton, Ida Lee Anzelmo, Terry Takewell, Robert Fennell.

They were entertained with different kind of games. Nancy Ledbetter won the first prize in the first game. The second prize went to Lela Bess Kite. After the games were played ice cream and cake were served, then colorful hats and horns were presented to the children.

Mrs. Bob Ledbetter and Mrs. Joe Carso assisted Mrs. E. Thomas in making Fay Lynn's birthday a colorful event.

Business And Professional Women Play Important Part In City's Growth

Organization Exerts Much Influence Here

Monroe Club Boasts Many Outstanding Members; Great Community Service Is Rendered

The impacts of feminine influence has been felt from the very beginning in every phase of Monroe's growth. Among the women who have played an important part in the city's growth are members of the Business and Professional Women's club. In fact, when women were not as civic-spirited and as club-minded as they are today, this group of women were maintaining their own club house in Monroe and delving deep into the affairs of state and government. They put their heads together and devised ways and means of serving their community, their state, and their country.

The greatest desire of members of the Business and Professional Women's club the world over, at this moment, is to be alert about politics—to strive to keep it clean in every way, to support women in office and to see that at least one woman is on every board of education and health.

The Monroe club claims the distinction of having one of its members serve on the petit jury of the fourth district court for the first time in history.

Today members of the business and professional Women's clubs are planning a definite schedule for women's work that can be put into instant use in case war comes. Their desire is to work actively against the fifth column. A member has suggested that report be made to the F. B. I. of anyone in her town who it putting out subversive propaganda. The desire of every club member is to develop a sense of personal responsibility to our country and, above all, to teach patriotism to children and prepare them to distinguish truth from propaganda.

The local Business and Professional Women's club boasts of many splendid women, outstanding among them being Mrs. Lizzie Morris. Mrs. Morris has an abiding faith in mankind and has developed an understanding of people. Tolerance is one of her greatest virtues. Her work among the poor, the sick and the needy has developed a sympathetic understanding that is most necessary in the work she is doing as executive chairman of the Louisiana Cripple Children's society, member of the board of the Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis society, and St. Francis auxiliary. A children's free clinic at St. Francis sanitarium was made possible through the efforts of Mrs. Morris and her co-workers.

Mrs. Morris is also a member of the board of the Community Chest, the Y. W. C. A., the Garden club and St. Matthew's Altar society.

Another outstanding member of the local club is Mrs. Jennie L. Thornton, who was unanimously elected president of the club for the second consecutive year. She represented Monroe at the biennial convention of the national federation in Los Angeles last summer. She has been an active member of the Monroe club for many years. Mrs. Thornton has held various offices, and has advanced the local club in the service club class. Busy every moment of the day, she finds time to attend other service clubs, and is an active member of the Louisiana Society for Crippled Children, the Community Chest, Red Cross and the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Thornton is president of Watson-Aven Company of Louisiana (real estate) and vice-president of the Watson-Aven Ice Cream company.

Mrs. Laura L. Slator, state auditor, Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, is a charter member of the Monroe club. She has served her club as treasurer and president and in other official capacities.

In addition to the local offices, Mrs. Slator has also served as state treasurer, state emblem chairman, second vice-president and has been a member of various committees. She was treasurer of the regional conference.

A native of Donaldsonville, Mrs. Slator was educated in the private and public schools of Ascension parish and was one of the first graduates of the Donaldsonville high school, then known as Ascension academy. Mrs. Slator is the wife of R. N. Slator, and together they operate an insurance business.

Miss Mary Hester is first vice-president of the Monroe Business and Professional Women's club. Miss Hester is a member of the American Association of University Women; past president of the Monroe chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, member of the Louisiana Teachers' association and the Monroe City Teachers' association. She received her B. A. degree from Tulane university and M. A. degree from Columbia university. She is a member of the faculty of Neville High school.

Miss Eleanor Faulk, legislation chairman of the local Business and Professional Women's club, urges business and professional women to learn how to interpret Louisiana laws. Miss Faulk says, "Louisiana has one of the most unique set of laws of any state in the nation, and it is sometimes hard to know how to interpret them. Often the laws that seem discriminatory to women in our state are, in reality, designed for their protection, and when one gets down to their full interpretation, an entirely different light is thrown on them."

Miss Faulk is at present working toward the passage of a jury bill for women at the next session of the legislature that will eliminate the necessity of women having to register for jury service in order that their names might be drawn.

Miss Bernice Wright, one of Monroe's outstanding civic-spirited young women, prominent in club, social and cultural circles, is state health chairman of the Business and Professional Women's club. She is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High school, Northeast Junior college and Bowling Green Business university. She also has done extensive studying at the Institute for Tuberculosis Workers, Indiana State university. She is executive secretary of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health association. She has served two years as president of the Monroe club and was recently elected vice-president of the Southern conference, Tuberculosis league.

Mrs. Eunice Thompson Stuckey, who was elected the 12th president of the Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, at the 22nd annual convention in Shreveport, was born in Harrisonburg, La., moving with her family to Jena, La., at an early age.

She graduated from Jena High school and attended Louisiana Tech and Louisiana Normal, where she took a math-science course. She later taught in the Lincoln parish schools before accepting a position with the Leader Publishing company as bookkeeper. Soon she took on additional duties with the firm, earning the title of office manager, all the while working into the display advertising department as assistant, until the spring of 1938, when she was made advertising manager, a position which she continues to hold.

Mrs. Stuckey has been an ardent member of the Business and Professional Women's clubs since 1929 and has held various offices, her most outstanding work being done as editor of the Pelican, bringing that publication from a mimeographed sheet to an attractive, readable, 20-page magazine.

In addition to being president of the Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, Mrs. Stuckey is the first president of the Wesleyan Service guild of the Methodist church, a member of the advisory committee of the Lincoln parish welfare board; is the Eastland P.-T. A.'s publicity chairman, is a member of the Woman's Department club, and of Magi Chapter No. 85, Eastern Star.

Mrs. Stuckey is the wife of Savery L. Stuckey, a prominent business man of Ruston, and the mother of a 7-year-old son, Savery Glen. Her chief hobby is flowers and aviation. Mr. and Mrs. Stuckey own their own plane.

Mrs. R. N. Slator, outstanding member of the Monroe Business and Professional Women's club and prominent in affairs of the state federation, is one of Monroe's most civic-spirited and progressive minded citizens.

Six prominent members of the Monroe Business and Professional Women's club who have been in a measure responsible for the place this club occupies in the civic, social and cultural life of the city are, reading from left to right at the top, Miss Harriet Hirsch, Miss Mary Hester and Miss Bernice Wright. Mrs. Mae McIntosh Modes, center, Mrs. Fay Heard, lower left, and Mrs. R. B. Arant, lower right. Mrs. Arant is the oldest member of the club and continues to hold office and appear on committees.

To wind up the activities of the Ouachita Parish P.-T. A. at the Monroe USO Soldier's Center open house was held last Thursday night at which time iced drinks and homemade cookies were served to all service men.

During the evening "Tut" Whittington entertained at the piano with several selections.

Mrs. S. E. Morris, Mrs John Young and Mrs. R. W. Church are to be commended for their untiring and unselfish efforts in making this farewell "open house" a success.

Tallulah

Mrs. Leander Grace was a bridge hostess on Tuesday afternoon entertaining the members of her club. The high score prize was won by Mrs. L. G. Storey and low score by Mrs. J. B. O'Shea. THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF MONROE

ANNOUNCES

To Its Members, Its Second Big Challenge, a

PAY UP EXPANSION PROGRAM

OCTOBER 6-11, 1941

Designed to meet certain indebtedness incurred in building the Church Auditorium last year and to make needed improvements in the Educational Building.

Why This Campaign Is Justified

It is the considered judgment of the Board of Deacons of the First Baptist Church that this campaign is needed and justified, for the following reasons:

1. Of the total $8,000.00 to be raised in the campaign, $4,000.00 will be dedicated to the payment of an outstanding note incurred to pay for our magnificent auditorium. We must pay this note to maintain the credit standing of our great church, and to keep faith with our Board of Deacons who have been wisely chosen to direct and administer the fiscal affairs of our church.
2. The remaining $4,000.00 to provide needed facilities in our Educational Building represent funds that are necessary.
3. Not one penny of the proposed $8,000.00 to be raised will be unwisely spent. To the contrary every penny of it will go to obvious necessities. All of it is dedicated to accomplish the one laudable and worthy objective of our great church, namely to build for ourselves a place of worship worthy of the Lord whom we worship and serve.
4. To maintain the good name of Baptists in our community, to maintain the high credit standing of our beloved church, and to meet the challenge of a wise and aggressive leadership provided by our Pastor and Board of Deacons.
5. To go forward and to keep building.

In Retrospection

We members of the First Baptist Church can well afford to roll back the curtain of time and recall the Auditorium Enlargement Program of fifteen months ago, and, in retrospection, review again the magnificent manner in which we discharged our responsibility to our church. We did a splendid job. We performed a magnanimous task! We—many of us—worked and gave sacrificially to our church. And just look at the results of that effort. We have a church auditorium, a place of worship that is a fitting tribute to our worthy efforts. It is the pride of our community. When we enter the portals of this magnificent edifice we can do so with pride, humility and profound thanksgiving. We can breathe a prayer, "Lord we thank Thee that Thou hast permitted us to so honor Thee!"

Our Second Big Challenge

Our first big challenge came to us through our Auditorium Enlargement Program. And now, through the mercy of our Lord, we still live and are still permitted to serve—to give. He, through the leadership of our Pastor and Board of Deacons, has provided us with our Second Big Challenge. How shall we meet this second challenge? Shall we meet it with niggardly selfishnness—with grumbling and with superficial and groundless reservations, or shall we meet it with joy and thanksgiving—with an overflowing of our hearts' devotion to our church and to our Lord? Your Campaign Committee believes that you dear people, who comprise the rank and file of our church membership, will meet this Second Big Challenge with boundless enthusiasm, and with a determination to meet this worthy challenge. We have confidence in your appreciation of the merit of this challenge.

Task Not An Easy One

The task before us is not an easy one. Scores of our faithful members will serve on soliciting teams. All will work and pray and give. Let's covenant together, here and now, to join our hands and hearts together, and dedicate them to carrying on the great work that we have started, to build a great church, with a great spirit, that will reflect with some measure our appreciation for the blessings which we enjoy from our sacred church life.

Let's Not Forget

Let's not forget that we are members of a great church. Do you realize that in addition to the more than $20,000.00 which we raised in our Auditorium Enlargement Program last year, that we raised $33,000.00 in our regular church program. Of this total, more than $11,000.00 went to outside denominational enterprises. No one can justly point the finger of accusation against us and say that we are a selfish people. While we are meeting our own needs, we are not forgetting the needs of others!

With this comforting assurance, let us continue in solid phalanx on the road to progress and achievement! Let us continue to build!

Earnestly and prayerfully submitted,

Why This Campaign Is Justified

It is the considered judgment of the Board of Deacons of the First Baptist Church that this campaign is needed and justified, for the following reasons:

1. Of the total $8,000.00 to be raised in the campaign, $4,000.00 will be dedicated to the payment of an outstanding note incurred to pay for our magnificent auditorium. We must pay this note to maintain the credit standing of our great church, and to keep faith with our Board of Deacons who have been wisely chosen to direct and administer the fiscal affairs of our church.
2. The remaining $4,000.00 to provide needed facilities in our Educational Building represent funds that are necessary.
3. Not one penny of the proposed $8,000.00 to be raised will be unwisely spent. To the contrary every penny of it will go to obvious necessities. All of it is dedicated to accomplish the one laudable and worthy objective of our great church, namely to build for ourselves a place of worship worthy of the Lord whom we worship and serve.
4. To maintain the good name of Baptists in our community, to maintain the high credit standing of our beloved church, and to meet the challenge of a wise and aggressive leadership provided by our Pastor and Board of Deacons.
5. To go forward and to keep building.

In Retrospection

We members of the First Baptist Church can well afford to roll back the curtain of time and recall the Auditorium Enlargement Program of fifteen months ago, and, in retrospection, review again the magnificent manner in which we discharged our responsibility to our church. We did a splendid job. We performed a magnanimous task! We—many of us—worked and gave sacrificially to our church. And just look at the results of that effort. We have a church auditorium, a place of worship that is a fitting tribute to our worthy efforts. It is the pride of our community. When we enter the portals of this magnificent edifice we can do so with pride, humility and profound thanksgiving. We can breathe a prayer, "Lord we thank Thee that Thou hast permitted us to so honor Thee!"

Our Second Big Challenge

Our first big challenge came to us through our Auditorium Enlargement Program. And now, through the mercy of our Lord, we still live and are still permitted to serve—to give. He, through the leadership of our Pastor and Board of Deacons, has provided us with our Second Big Challenge. How shall we meet this second challenge? Shall we meet it with niggardly selfishnness—with grumbling and with superficial and groundless reservations, or shall we meet it with joy and thanksgiving—with an overflowing of our hearts' devotion to our church and to our Lord? Your Campaign Committee believes that you dear people, who comprise the rank and file of our church membership, will meet this Second Big Challenge with boundless enthusiasm, and with a determination to meet this worthy challenge. We have confidence in your appreciation of the merit of this challenge.

Task Not An Easy One

The task before us is not an easy one. Scores of our faithful members will serve on soliciting teams. All will work and pray and give. Let's covenant together, here and now, to join our hands and hearts together, and dedicate them to carrying on the great work that we have started, to build a great church, with a great spirit, that will reflect with some measure our appreciation for the blessings which we enjoy from our sacred church life.

Let's Not Forget

Let's not forget that we are members of a great church. Do you realize that in addition to the more than $20,000.00 which we raised in our Auditorium Enlargement Program last year, that we raised $33,000.00 in our regular church program. Of this total, more than $11,000.00 went to outside denominational enterprises. No one can justly point the finger of accusation against us and say that we are a selfish people. While we are meeting our own needs, we are not forgetting the needs of others!

With this comforting assurance, let us continue in solid phalanx on the road to progress and achievement! Let us continue to build!

Earnestly and prayerfully submitted,

SECOND BIG CHALLENGE COMMITTEE

Club Looks Forward To Busy Season This Year

General Topic For Monroe Business And Professional Women's Group Concerns Defense

In an effort to keep abreast of swiftly moving events, Members of the Monroe Business and Professional Women's Club are strengthening their forces and looking forward to a season of unprecedented activity.

The general topic, outlined by the national federation, is "Strengthening Democracy for Defense." It relates to military activities; to civil defense; to the Red Cross work, and to efforts to preserve and strengthen the democratic way of life.

The program for the entire club year has been outlined with the first complete week during the month of October designated as Business and Professional Women's week. During the month of November the topic for discussion will be "Our Country in a War-Torn World." The December program will be "Faith for Living"; the January program will feature "Lobbying for Democracy."

Other topics featuring the programs for February, March, April, and May, will be: "Training for Defense"; "Keeping Fit for Defense"; "Our Contribution for Democracy"; and "The Cost of Defense."

Never in the history of this vast organization has so much interest been centered as that in the national convention, to be held next year in New Orleans during the month of May. There will be more widely attended than ever before and greater enthusiasm will be manifested in the program than in any previous year.

Observance of National Business Women's week in Monroe will bring club members together this morning at the Presbyterian church, where the pastor, Rev. Ernest Holloway, will speak on a subject of great importance to this particular group of women. Radio talks each day by prominent club members will feature the week's program. The banquet Thursday night at the Virginia hotel will, as custom-ary each year, be a brilliant event, with all members in formal evening dress.

National Business Women's week has been observed every year since 1928. It was originated with the view of dramatizing the contribution of women in the business and professional life of the country, but, modified somewhat with the passing years, it has grown to their recognition of the contribution they can make as citizens.

The theme of the 1941 National Business Women's week coincides with that of the national program "Strengthen Democracy for Defense." Attractive posters have been placed in downtown stores and offices depicting women of three ages, young, middle-aged, and elderly, looking onward toward the Stars of Liberty. The most popular slogan used by the national federation, has been "Better Business Women for a Better Business World," the 1932 theme, which seems to have become part of the creed of that organization. Members of the local club are asking, "What can we, the citizens of our town, do to advance democracy?"

Mrs. Robert Calvert and young son, Bobbie, accompanied her mother, Mrs. Morgan, and Mrs. Johnson home for a visit of several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Eloi Girard of Lafayette, La., spent two days last week with Mrs. Girard's mother, Mrs. E. E. Stodghill.

Miss Ruth Whatley and brother, John Whatley of Sulphur, La., spent the past week-end in Farmerville with their mother, Mrs. Deas Whatley.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Lipscomb, Jr., returned to their home in Vicksburg Sunday following a two weeks' visit to Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Lipscomb.

Lieutenant Jon D. Coenen of Langley field, Hampton, Va., is at home on ten-day furlough for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Coenen.

Mrs. R. C. Windham was hostess to circle 2 of the Baptist W. M. S. on Monday afternoon, September 28. Mrs. B. D. White presided over the meeting. The business dispensed with, one new member, Mrs. F. P. Scoggins, was welcomed into the circle.

Mrs. White gave the devotional and Mrs. C. S. Aycock very interestingly led the mission study on "Personal Service Guide." Visiting in our community was stressed as one of the most important phases of personal service and the most likely method of soul winning.

Mrs. George Downes dismissed the group with prayer.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. E. H. Chadderdon, Mrs. Dave Sweetman, Mrs. W. O. Boughton, Mrs. J. H. Hooks, Mrs. G. B. Brooks, Mrs. J. W. Sligh, Mrs. B. I. Andrews, Mrs. F. P. Frank Buck's 'Jungle Cavalcade' Plays Today At Capito

James Stephenson and Geraldine Fitzgerald, above, are starred in "A Shining Victory," playing Wednesday and Thursday at the Paramount. Featured in the cast are Donald Crisp and Barbara O'Neill.

Wild Animal Hit Showing Today Only

Film Of Actual Jungle Scenes Said To Provide Many Thrills

AN unforgettable feature motion picture of jungle savage beasts in action plays today only at the Capitol theater. It is Frank Buck's "Jungle Cavalcade," visualizing his adventures in fetching the largest and most ferocious wild beasts from the depths of tropical Malay jungles to the zoos of the world.

Frank Buck's "Jungle Cavalcade" shows, among other events, a stalking, preying, frothing female tiger cut a tiny baby elephant off from its mother. The baby pachyderm is no higher from the ground than a medium-sized police dog. Still whimpering for its mother's milk, it senses danger. Its miniature trunk trumpets an SOS for mama. The tiger, relentless, tireless, intent on the kill, lopes along. The wee elephant runs this way and that. It turns . . . it scampers to the brush wild with terror while the tiger enemy trails it with drooling tongue and bared fangs.

But Frank Buck is there with a long-barrelled rifle. A careful, easy, well-timed shot brings the tiger down. And then follows a wild chase to capture the baby elephant with Buck's bare hands.

Again, a little black honey-bear ambles into camp. It is so young its eyes are still unopened. Buck places it in a rough-hewn cabin built six feet off the ground. Dinnertime, and a hungry cub, missing its mother, lifts the simple latch, purely by accident. By instinct it rolls off to the jungle. There's heart interest! Now comes the villain of the piece . . . a long, lithe, forked-tongued snake coiled in the sun . . . every ear and sense alive with hungry hope. And there's the little bear. Innocent, ambling, trusting. The forked tongue leaps out . . . the coiled body uncoils . . . dinner time for Mr. Snake. Lights out for Master Bear? But no. Kindly providence, in the guise of Frank Buck's native boy, momentarily stops the snake and a little black honey-bear comes back home.

Other dynamic portions of Frank Buck's "Jungle Cavalcade" show actual combats between tigers and pythons, crocodiles, panthers and water buffalos.

Three of the hundreds of pretty girl performers and Lou Jacobs, top flight clown, strike a pose for the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus photographer. "The big show" comes to Monroe on October 15.

To catch wild elephants in the heart of the jungle, Frank Buck had to build a giant stockade, and only with the aid of tamed, trained elephants could this be done. This scene is from Buck's "Jungle Cavalcade," playing today only at the Capitol.

Astonished looks meet Harry Carey, "The Shepherd of the Hills," as he tries to cash a check in an Ozarks country store. This is Harold Bell Wright's film story playing Monday at the Capitol, starring John Wayne, Betty Field and Harry Carey.

Ringling To Show Here On Oct. 15

Streamlined Edition Of 'Big Show' To Present Fine Program

THERE'S an ancient tie between pretty girl performers and clowns, and that is one of the reasons why they are often seen together in the photographs published of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus, coming to Monroe, Wednesday, October 15, with its all-new 1941 performance, its brilliant blue big top; its surpassingly magnificent fairyland fantasy, "Old King Cole and Mother Goose"; its three Alfred Court mixed groups of performing wild animals; its 800 renowned stars and its multitude of refreshingly new features and innovations.

Since the circus began (and that goes back, at least, to the Rome of the Caesars) clowns have "worked the stops" in what is known as "lady principal" riding acts; that is, girls who ride solo atop the cantering white ring horses bringing their steeds to a stop for a moment's rest. Then the clowns broke into a flurry of buffoonery. In a way, they thus became part of the acts to which they were assigned.

However, pursuing its policy of novelty presentation, freshening and enhancing, the greatest show on earth has, in recent years, massed its clown sallies, taking the funmakers out of the "stops," although they still swing the flying ladders of the girls in the aerial ballet.

The Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus, this season radically restyled by Norman Bel Geddes, world celebrated designer, will give performances at 2:15 and 8:15 p.m.

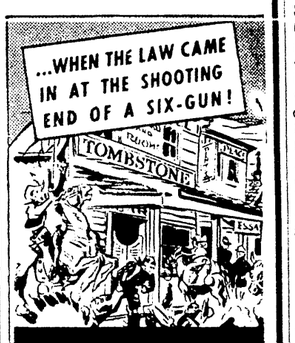

The doors will open at 1 and 7 p.m. for the public inspection of the huge, redesigned menagerie, where Mr. and Mrs. Gargantua, the great, famous giant gorillas and more than a thousand other rare animals will be displayed in colorful surroundings resembling their natural habitats.

JOURNEY TO ADVENTURE

LOUIS ARMSTRONG BAND AT TALLULAH ON MONDAY

Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, the international "trumpet king of swing," says that his success in the music business is due to the fact that whenever he makes a personal appearance with his band he tries to give the people a great show. "I like to feel as though I am giving all I've got. When I 'swing out' I give both barrels and I get a great kick out of blasting those high 'Cs' and 'Gs' so that my fans get a thrill," says Louis.

When Louis Armstrong comes to the Shamrock club, Tallulah, on October 6, he will bring along one of the greatest and most unusual group of entertainers in any orchestra. There is Sonny Woods, who has been heard with the Armstrong band on many of their coast-to-coast broadcasts, singing those romantic songs everyone loves to hear. Then too, there is Ann Baker the petite song stylist, plus, of course, Luis Russell, Jay C. Higginbotham and Joe Garland.

'Kane' At Paramount For 3 Days

Orson Welles' First Motion Picture Features Century Players

RKO Radio's "Citizen Kane," will be presented at the Paramount theater, starting today, following its success as a roadshow in the country's greatest cities. This is the picture produced, directed and acted in by that storm center of the entertainment world, Orson Welles.

Orson Welles has become a legend at the age of 26, and his first motion picture, created with no previous experience on Welles' part in the celluloid industry, sets standards, introduces bold innovations, disregards sacred traditions to the extent that critics nationally have praised it lavishly.

"A revolutionary screen achievement," says the New York Herald Tribune. "A superb production, one of the most interesting films that has ever come out of Hollywood. Welles shines as one of the outstanding actors of the screen," proclaimed the New York Daily News.

The New York Times says: "Far and away the most surprising and exciting motion picture seen here in many a moon, comes close to being the most sensational film ever made, a picture of tremendous and overpowering scope."

Time Magazine wrote simply that "Citizen Kane" is "the most sensational product of the United States movie industry," while Life states that "Orson Welles breaks all Hollywood's taboos. 'Citizen Kane' is good, and then some."

Welles' Mercury production "Citizen Kane" tells the story of a man with a passionate temperament, who craved power, power over lives, money and loves, and who tried to live as a god through the power his fortune gave him. Bold in concept, ruthless in portrayal, this character, Charles Foster Kane, could never humble himself even before the beauty of the two women he married. The love of one woman he cast aside; the other gave him back his own love when she could no longer tolerate its fierce possessiveness.

In support of Orson Welles are the actors of the renowned Mercury theater, Welles' own group which he presented to startling acclaim on the New York stage.

Herman J. Mankiewicz collaborated with Welles on the screen play. Gregg Toland was responsible for the unprecedented camera work. A special music score was composed and conducted by Bernard Herrmann.

But "Citizen Kane" is Orson Welles' picture, and for its unequalled success he endured the jibes of doubting Hollywood for more than a year. Now the picture comes to "stand trial" before local citizens, who are assured, on the basis of experience with "Citizen Kane" in other communities, of never a moment lacking in excitement while the story unfolds.

STYLE SHOP BUYS LARGE FUR STOCK

A very unusual and opportune purchase of furs was announced today by Harry Silverstein, manager of the Style Shop here. The Style Shop has bought the entire fur stock of a distinguished New York furrier, the Goldman Brothers, including hundreds of fine skins and making one of the most outstanding selections of fine furs in this part of the country. Due to the fact that Goldman Brothers, retiring from business, the Style Shop was able to obtain this stock at costs far below the present high levels of prices in the fur market.

"We feel very fortunate," said Mr. Silverstein, "that we can bring so fine a stock of furs to Monroe, and make them available to our patrons at low costs in spite of troubled world conditions today which make the purchasing of furs extremely difficult and expensive if one is forced to buy at present market prices."

The stock, newly arrived at the Style Shop, consists of an endless variety of furs—especially selected to appeal to a wide range of tastes and income brackets. Choicest pelts of silver fox, raccoon, Mouton lamb, skunk, Persian paw mink, blended muskrat, squirrel sable-dyed marmot, mink-muskrats seal-dyed coney, kid skin, and other popular furs are included. Full-length coats, fur chubbies, new finger-tip jackets in newest style details are featured—all of remarkable workmanship and ultra-smart in design. The Style Shop bought only new 1941 and 1942 models, and the new soft silhouettes, loose sleeves, and simple, graceful lines are features of the fur coats in this special purchase.

Due to the fact that Goldman Brothers is retiring from business, the Style Shop was able to obtain this stock at costs far below the present high levels of prices in the fur market.

"We feel very fortunate," said Mr. Silverstein, "that we can bring so fine a stock of furs to Monroe, and make them available to our patrons at low costs in spite of troubled world conditions today which make the importing of furs extremely difficult and expensive if one is forced to buy at present market prices."

The stock, newly arrived at the Style Shop, consists of an endless variety of furs—especially selected to appeal to a wide range of tastes and income brackets. Choicest pelts of silver fox, raccoon, Mouton lamb skunk, Persian paw, mink, blended muskrat, squirrel, sable-dyed marmot, mink-muskrats, seal-dyed coney, kidskin, and other popular furs are included. Full-length coats, fur chubbies, new finger-tip jackets in newest style details are featured—all of remarkable workmanship and ultra-smart in design. The Style Shop bought only new 1941 and 1942 models, and the new soft silhouettes, loose sleeves, and simple, graceful lines are features of the fur coats in this special purchase.

You Can Laugh at the Landlord In A Home of Your Own

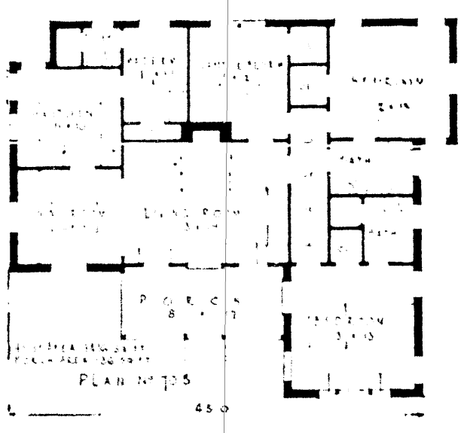

Seriously now, it isn't only the pride of living in a home that really is your own. . . . It has definite advantages for you and your family. Sending the children back to school is a reminder that all year around you will be enjoying that home.

With real estate values rising rapidly to new high levels, with the housing shortage acute and bringing its attendant threat of increased living costs, there can be no doubt a home is the safest and soundest investment.

Fill out the coupon at the bottom of the page and let's see if we can put you in a home of your own.

This lovely 3-bedroom home also has a maid's room with shower and lavatory facilities provided immediately off of the kitchen. There is ample space provided in every room with large closets and a game room that can be converted into a bedroom if desired. This is truly a home designed for the all-American family, but the cost is not prohibitive. Any of the firms listed on this page will be glad to give you an estimate of the exact cost of building this house. Consult with them . . . you'll be under no obligation.

WELL, I'M BACK FROM LUNCH, JERRY. I'LL TAKE OVER NOW!

CHESTER GOULD

WELL, DID YOU TURN THAT LITTLE CROOK, DUKE, OVER TO THE PARK COPS?

NO! I HAD A LITTLE TOUGH LUCK, STEVE. HE BROKE AWAY FROM ME AND MADE A GET-AWAY THROUGH THE CRAZY HOUSE.

FREAK

WHAT DID YOU DO WITH THE POCKETBOOK?

I'M KEEPING THAT. I PUT IT AWAY. WE MAY FIND THE OWNER SOME DAY.

MEANWHILE, OUT IN FRONT —

WELL, TESS, WE DIDN'T HAVE MUCH SUCCESS IN LOCATING YOUR POCKETBOOK OR THE CROOK.

I GUESS IT'S LIKE FINDING THE NEEDLE IN A HAYSTACK.

HEY, LOOK! THE FREAKS! I'VE NEVER BEEN THERE. LETS GO IN BEFORE WE GO HOME.

FREAKS

THREE!

GOSH! I'VE ALWAYS WANTED TO SEE THAT CALF WITH THE DONKEY'S HEAD.

THE LAST TIME I WAS IN ONE OF THESE PLACES I WAS A KID ABOUT FOURTEEN.

--WHO?

MR. TRACY!

STEVE! WE HEARD YOUR BROADCAST AND WE'RE ALL FOR YOU, STEVE! YOU'RE LOOKING GOOD, MIGHTY GOOD!

I'M A NEW MAN, MR. TRACY, AND I'M MIGHTY HAPPY FOR THE FIRST TIME IN MY LIFE!

YOU'RE LOOKIN' WELL, MISS TRUEHEART. AND YOU, LAD- YOU'RE A SIGHT FOR SORE EYES! CAN I SHAKE HANDS WITH YOU?

SURE, STEVE! HOW ARE YOU?

CAN YOU GET AWAY FOR A FEW MINUTES, STEVE? WE'LL ALL GO SOMEWHERE AND TALK AND HAVE A SODA TOGETHER.

IT WOULD BE A PLEASURE. I'LL TELL THE BOSS.

I'M GOING TO MAKE YOU PROUD OF ME, MR. TRACY. I'LL PROVE TO YOU THAT I'M CHANGED.

THE GUMPS

CHESTER'S DECISION!
BULL MOOSE IS INJURED AND AT THE MERCY OF THE HUGE PREHISTORIC ANIMALS! CHESTER, REALIZING HIS OWN INABILITY TO DRAG HIS FRIEND BACK TO THE SAFETY OF THE CAVE, DECIDES TO RELEASE THE CAVE MAN!

G-GOSH — SUPPOSE HE TRIES TO KILL BULL MOOSE — BUT I'VE GOT TO RISK IT!!

LISTEN, MR. CAVE MAN - YOU'VE GOT TO UNDERSTAND! BULL MOOSE IS IN GREAT DANGER!

HIS LEG IS INJURED. SEE - YOU'VE GOT TO UNDERSTAND - HIS LEG - WE MUST DRAG HIM INTO THE CAVE -

HE DOESN'T KNOW WHAT I'M TALKING ABOUT! GEE - WHAT'LL I DO? MAYBE IF I GO OUT OF THE CAVE, HE'LL FOLLOW ME - C'MON, CAVE MAN - C'MON, PLEASE!

HOORAY! HE'S FOLLOWING ME - THAT'S RIGHT!! THIS WAY, MR. CAVE MAN!

BULL MOOSE! BULL MOOSE!! ARE YOU ALL RIGHT?! WE'RE COMING TO HELP YOU!

BULL MOOSE! CAN'T YOU HEAR ME? IT'S CHESTER!

NO! NO! DON'T KILL HIM! HE'S BULL MOOSE! A MAN - JUST LIKE YOU! WE'VE GOT TO GET HIM INTO THE CAVE - WH-WHAT'S THAT RUMBLING NOISE OVER THERE?!

HELP! HERE COMES THE MOST TERRIBLE LOOKING MONSTER OF THEM ALL!!!! BULL MOOSE! WAKE UP!

MEANWHILE - BACK HOME -

I KNOW IT'S SILLY OF ME, BUT I CAN'T HELP FEELING A LITTLE UNEASY ABOUT CHESTER - WE HAVEN'T HEARD FROM HIM SINCE HE WENT ON HIS TRIP!

YOU'VE NOTHING TO FEAR, MIN —

CHESTER IS FORTUNATE TO BE IN THE CARE OF THAT GIANT WOODSMAN - WHY, HE'S THE WORLD'S STRONGEST AND MOST RESOURCEFUL MAN - HA-HA - NOTHING SHORT OF AN ANGRY PREHISTORIC MONSTER CAN TAKE HIS MEASURE!

YOU'RE SO REASSURING, UNCLE BIM —

HA! I WONDER IF WILLIE THINKS I FELL FOR THAT BUNK.

WELL, BLESS HIS HEART! HE REALLY IS.

AND OF ALL THINGS! WILLIE'S SITTING ON THE PLATFORM!

OW! GET OFF OF MY FOOT!

EXCUSE ME.

OW! WILL YOU PLEASE GET YOUR ELBOW OUT OF MY EYE.

MOVE OVER, WILLIE!

PARDON ME, MADAM, BUT PERHAPS IT WOULD BE BETTER IF YOU TOOK A SEAT IN THE AUDIENCE.

MY HUSBAND'S APPEARING ON THIS PROGRAM, AIN'T HE?

ER-AH- YES, BUT-

WELL, IF HE CAN ADD ANYTHING TO IT, I CERTAIN'Y CAN ADD PLENTY MORE.

-AND NOW, MY DEAR FRIENDS, MY SUBJECT TO NIGHT IS- "THE DEMON RUM, AND ITS HORRIBLE EXAMPLES"-

PSST- WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO TALK ABOUT, WILLIE?

ME? I DON'T TALK ABOUT NOTHING- I'M ONE OF THE HORRIBLE EXAMPLES.

S-SOMETHIN' STRANGE AN' TERRIBLE DONE HAPPENED IN DOGPATCH!

EV'RY SOUL O' US REMEMBERS GOIN' T' SLEEP AS USUAL ON SATURDAY NIGHT. TH' ONUSUAL THING WERE THET WHEN WE WAKED UP—'TWERE MONDAY MAWNIN'!

WHUT HAPPENED TO SUNDAY?

EV'RYONE'S SUNDAY DINNAH WAS ALL ET— EV'RYONE'S SUNDAY CLO'ES WAS ALL WORE—

SUNDAY MUSTA COME 'ROUND ALL RIGHT—BUT NARY A SOUL REMEMBERS NARY A THING ABOUT IT!!

MEANWHILE: A GREAT LABORATORY IN NEW YORK CITY—

NO WORD FROM ANY PART OF THE WORLD! —SIGH!!

AND YET OUR INSTRUMENTS REPORT THAT "IT" HAPPENED!!

"IT" MUST HAVE OCCURRED IN SOME UNCIVILIZED PART OF THE EARTH, NO DOUBT!

FOR 300 YEARS ASTRONOMERS HAVE KNOWN "IT" WAS GOIN' TO HAPPEN!!

YES INDEED!—WHEN THE PLANET "L'AMOUR" MOVED ACROSS THE PATH OF THE SUN, 24 HOURS AGO, A SOLAR INGREDIENT WAS FORMED, WHICH UPON HITTING THE EARTH, WOULD CREATE IN ALL LIVING THINGS A COMPLETE LOSS OF MEMORY—A SORT OF COSMIC AMNESIA!

AND IN ADDITION, ALL LIVING THINGS IN THE AFFECTED AREA WOULD BEHAVE IN A PECULIAR MANNER AND RETAIN NO MEMORY OF THEIR BEHAVIOR FOR THAT DAY!!

WHAT A GREAT LOSS TO SCIENCE THAT WE'LL NEVER KNOW WHERE ON EARTH THE EVENT OCCURRED!

WHILE ALL DOGPATCH IS BEATING ITS BRAINS OUT TRYING TO LOCATE THE MISSING SUNDAY— THE SCENE SHIFTS TO A RENTED ROOM ABOVE "SOFT-HEARTED" JOHN'S GENERAL STORE IN DOGPATCH—

EDDIE!!—WE'VE ALL BEEN WAITING FOR YOU AT PINEAPPLE JUNCTION TO SEE THE PICTURES YOU TOOK SUNDAY!!

I'M JUST STARTING TO TAKE THE PICTURES NOW!!—THIS IS SUNDAY!!!!

U.S POST

YOU DOPE!!—THIS IS MONDAY!!— AND—YOU MUST'VE TAKEN PICTURES ON SUNDAY— LOOK!!—ALL YOUR FILMS ARE USED UP!!

S-SO THEY ARE!!! ??

I D-DON'T GET IT!!—IF TODAY IS MONDAY —WHAT HAPPENED TO SUNDAY?

HA—HA!—YOU OUGHTA LAY OFF THE MOUNTAIN DEW, EDDIE!! THE CHIEF IS WAITING TO SEE THESE PICTURES!!

WHERE'S EDDIE!!— HE WAS CONCEALED IN A ROOM IN DOGPATCH TO TAKE A SERIES OF SECRET CANDID MOVIE SHOTS OF MOUNTAIN LIFE FOR OUR "SUNDAY IN THE HILLS" ISSUE OF "THE LURCH OF TIME"!!

HERE HE IS NOW!!

I-I STILL DON'T GET IT!— I WENT TO BED IN DOGPATCH SATURDAY NIGHT—AND I WOKE UP MONDAY MORNING!—THE SECRET OF W-WHAT HAPPENED TO SUNDAY IS IN THIS CAMERA!!

P.-T. A. WEEK IS SET ASIDE HERE

Governor And Mayors Issue Proclamations; Sessions Planned

National P.-T. A. Week will be observed this week with radio talks over KMLB, a fifth district meet at Sterlington Monday and banquet at Grace Church parish house here at 7 p.m. Monday.

Governor Sam Jones has issued a proclamation in connection with the week, as have Mayors H. H. Benoit, of Monroe, and H. M. Williams, of West Monroe.

The two proclamations are as follows with that of Governor Jones first:

"Whereas, the Parent-Teacher Association of Louisiana has, for many years, made many constructive contributions to the welfare of our state, and are part of the only national body devoted solely to the interests of children and young people in the home, school and community and

"Whereas, the Parent-Teacher program in Louisiana is a far-reaching one—it is concerned with the welfare of youth in every phase, it is in its broadest sense a program for the conservation of our youth and their education for the duties and responsibilities of a good citizen and a free democracy, and

"Whereas, because of the splendid work that has been accomplished, and because of the custom of setting aside a time each year to emphasize the purposes of Parent-Teacher organizations, has become well established,

"Now, therefore, I, Sam H. Jones, governor of the state of Louisiana, do hereby proclaim the week beginning October 5 of the present year as Parent-Teacher week in Louisiana, and I call upon all citizens to join in its observance.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the great seal of the state of Louisiana to be affixed, at Baton Rouge, this 20th day of August."

Mrs. Fagan Cox, Monroe, state president, states that the program outlined by the state program committee has not had to be changed in order to carry on the national defense work, rendering as it does the normal service of organization as their contribution to the national defense program.

The proclamation of the Twin City mayors is as follows:

"Whereas, the Parent-Teacher Association council of Monroe and West Monroe has made constructive contributions to the welfare and interests of children and young people in our communities, and

"Whereas, the program of this association is concerned with the education of our youth to the duties and responsibilities they will have to assume in making good citizens, and

"Whereas, one week in each year is set aside to emphasize the aims and purposes of the organization and to receive new members,

"Now, therefore, we, H. H. Benoit, mayor of Monroe, La., and H. M. Williams, Jr., mayor of West Monroe, La., do hereby proclaim the October 15-20, 1941, as Parent-Teacher week and urge all citizens to join in its observance and to help make it a success.

"Done at the City Hall this the 12th day of October, 1941."

The fifth district P.-T. A. will meet at Sterlington on Monday. A large representation from all over the area is expected to attend. Mrs. Fagan Cox, of Monroe, state president, will preside at the sessions to be held in the A. L. Smith school auditorium. Mrs. C. C. Lindley, of Monroe, is fifth district director.

The program will be as follows:

Registration.

Call to order, Mrs. C. C. Lindley, director, presiding; invocation, Rev. J. W. Lee; greeting, O. K. Bailey; greeting, Mrs. L. B. Hearne; response, Mrs. George Varnno.

Assembly singing, "My Louisiana"; introduction of state board members; "Association Activities," Mrs. Fagan Cox; "Dollars and Sense," Mrs. Cecil Brown second vice-president; "Safety," Mrs. G. B. Wilson, safety chairman; roll call of units; adjourn for lunch.

Assembly singing

Membership, Mrs. Roger Sharp, first vice-president; "Information Please," Mrs. J. P. Davis, Mrs. M. L. Defreese, Mrs. T. D. Guthrie and Mrs. Paul Keller; report of registration; adjournment.

Following the all-day session, there will be a banquet held Monday at 7 p.m. at the Grace church parish house here.

CENTRAL GRAMMAR P.-T. A. HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The first fall meeting of the Central Grammar P.-T. A. was held in the school auditorium on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting was opened by President Mrs. E. G. Courtney with prayer, after which the state president's message was read by Mrs. Courtney.

Report of the summer roundup was made by the chairman, Mrs. M. McCormick. Mrs. Virginia Butler chairman of the finance and budget committee, reported several ways suggested by the council for making money.

Mrs. McCormick, also publication chairman, gave the report from the council. She stated that the membership drive will start Monday and stressed the importance of belonging to the P.-T. A. She also stated that each school is to have a bookshelf. The list of books suggested may be obtained by Mrs. Cox, she said.

Miss Kate Henry, goals and scrapbook chairman, stated that there are 12 goals to be reached. Mrs. A. N. Robinson, study group chairman, stated that each P.-T. A. must have a study group. The theme this year is "Consumer Education." There are to be seven outside meetings of the study group. Mrs. Robinson stated that the study theme should be of vital interest to all, as it will help show people the value of the dollar. The first meeting will be held in the school auditorium Thursday at 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. B. G. Cole was named membership chairman. She said that a good slogan would be: "Right desire plus conscientious effort." Mrs. Don Steen was named safety chairman.

Mrs. Eulalia McCoy stated that the school having the largest number of members would receive a loving cup.

The 4-A room of Mrs. Virginia Butler was awarded the attendance record.

FAMOUS HARPIST OF NAVY BAND

COLDER WEATHER'S APPROACH HERALDED

(By Associated Press)

Heralding the approach of colder weather, first ice appeared in the Chena river off Fairbanks, Alaska, yesterday (Saturday).

Temperatures skidded east of the Mississippi river also and brought southern states their first touch of football weather.

Frost covered the south as far as North Georgia and the cattle east was invigorated by a sharp change to colder. A warmer belt, centered in the northwest.

Southern points near the Mason Dixon line had minimum readings which at some places were 27 degrees under those of the day before, but farther south the change was less noticeable.

Most of the nation was clear, exceptions being Central Texas, the Pacific coast at Washington and the shores of Lakes Michigan, Erie and Ontario.

THINKS AMERICA SEIZING MARKETS

LONDON, Oct. 11. — (AP) — Everybody's, a weekly news magazine, declares in an issue to appear on the stands Monday that "there is more than a suspicion that American business men are using our need of America's help to seize our markets."

William J. Brittain, general manager of the weekly, in a special article criticizes the government's economic relations with the United States and adds:

"Of course America just cannot afford to let us lose. Then why are we cringing about help which is our due, about help which as in 1916 takes the place of real fighting."

The article says that everyone must realize that "what is being sent over under lease-lend to fight a war which is America's may never be paid back, and lease-lend may have to go on for years after the war."

W. Averell Harriman, who is in charge of negotiations for American aid to Russia, is viewed by "some influential men in London" the article says, "as a broker's man sitting in our house with his bowler hat on and watching our furniture."

The writer suggests as a solution a United States-British union. "We cannot let the forecasts of cynics come true that America will let us be bled white and then take over the world's trade," he writes.

HENS PERK UP

DAVIS, Calif.—(AP)—California's hens are doing all right for their owners. Average egg production, the University of California finds, has increased from 146 per hen in 1933 to 177 in 1940. Mortality among chickens also has dropped sharply.

PRESIDENT

FLYING FIELD SHRINKS

RANDOLPH FIELD, Tex.—The 2,300-acre airdrome here at Randolph field was too big for the 700 aviation cadets to get any practice in night landings. It was too simple for the pilots to cut the throttle and go into a glide, because they couldn't miss. So the training officers have, with amber lights, marked a landing strip of 3,200 by 400 feet, and now the cadets really have something to shoot at.

LOUISIANA TO JOIN IN OIL CONFERENCE

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Louisiana will participate as a member for the first time in a meeting of the interstate oil compact commission October 16 in Fort Worth, Tex.

The state's representatives will include Governor Sam Jones, minerals Division Chief Joseph L. McHugh; Percy S. Erwin, chief engineer for the division, and E. L. Gladney, conservation department attorney.

The state joined the compact several months ago.

The Virgin islands, bought by the United States from Denmark, in 1917, consist of 50 islands, of which five are inhabited.
